(To the Editor of The Post.) report you gave of the address given by Mr. Oborne to the Board of Trade last week, and also in the comment you made on his suzzestions. Mr. Oborne spoke truly when he said there was not a railway man in Caneda would dare flout the public in the manner of by-zone days. There are more than railway men occupying quasi-public position, who are singing a different tune, too-notably our

There is one paragraph in Mr. Oborne's address, that I think could be studied very profitably by all our shippers, and that is where he suzpested the advisability of building terminal warehouses all over the land to store goods and release the cars. There has been a great deal of grumbling on the part of shippers, up to within a short time, over their inability to get cars. A very slight probing of the question will at once reveal the fact that the railways are not altogether to blame. For instance, how many shippers in this town attend to the unloading of a car -Captain Elliott, in charge of the moment it is put on their switch? tended to at once, instead of leaving it until forced to attend to it, we would save interest on millions of money, for it must not be overlooked that, after all is said and done, the shippen pays all charges, both necessary and unnecessary, and Ibelieve that terminal warehouses are, or should be, unnecessary. The investor wants dividends on his investment, whatever it is, and he is going to make someone pay for it, and that someone is the consumer.

Referring to your comment on Mr Oporne's address, I think it is up to Mr. Sparling and his executive not to let the matter drop here. It was Mr. Oborne who gave the city of Toronto the best idea they have yet had - about laying out Ashbridge's Bay, and when he suggests something low. But, strengthen these same similar for us on a smaller scale, it weak inside nerves with Dr. Shoop's is worth considering seriously. Agriculture in England.

(London Advertiser.) The problem of keeping the rurai population of England on the soil a perplexing one to statesmen. The tendency to drift from the country to the cities and towns is such that in 1906 the percentage of England's population occupied in strictly rural at the beginning of the last century It is estimated that not more than or suburbanized during the centucy, while fully 32,000,000 acres ile unis tilled from want of laborers.

The Montreal Star has never been able to bring itself to approve of the action of the British Columbia Tories in regard to the Japanese treaty and the immigration ques tion. And its rebuke of making grav international questions the subject of comic opera legislation is pointed and timely. "At the moment," says the Star, "all is well. For over half a century members of this firm have been engaged in manufacturing Woollens. Experimenting, studying, learning more about making blankets all the time. So our blankets are constructed to stand the test and are absolutely unshrinkable. Our blankets are the warmest for the least weight, because we use only the soft silky lambs' fleece. Our blankets have the wearing qualities because the wool is skilfully carded, finely spur and closely woven. They are finished with a short soft napp which does not come off. Do not buy blankets with a lofty napp if Ask your merchant for our goods. If not in stock send direct to our mills and
