attend the annual convention at Toronto in May. The dorcas secretary read a letter from Mrs. Clarke, acknowledging receipt of a bale sent last week. Refreshments were served after the close of the meeting.

The special evangelistic services held in the Baptist church recently, which were conducted by Gipsy Hawkins, evangelist, were brought to a close on Thursday evening, March 3. On this date the evangelist gave the story of his life entitled, "From Gipsy boy to preacher," to a large audience, the church being crowded to the doors, not even standing room being available for the late comers, who were turned away. The story was a most interesting one, told in a style calculated to hold the attention of the most indifferent hearer. The recital of his flight from the Gipsy camp through fear of his father, whose threats terrified him, and his subsequent adventures, were diverting. With the small amount of money in his possession, the proceeds of the sale of some small wares, he purchased papers at Waterloo and started in business as a newsboy. After being a length of time without home of any description, he was directed to a refuge, where he was taken in and cared for. His conversion took place when he was about 12 years of age. At this time he could not read or write, and was for the most part self educated. At the age of 14 he taught a class of fifty boys. Between the ages of 14 and 15 he first addressed adults. From that time he was given the name of "The boy preacher."

Hearty congregational singing was a feature of this assemblage, the special offering at the close of the lecture amounting to $75.

The Progressive School

The one school in Canada which spares no expense in providing modern equipment and competent instructors, is the Central Business College, of Toronto. As a result this school enjoys a larger patronage this year than ever before, and yet it is unable to supply the constant demand made upon it for well trained young people to fill positions as stenographers and bookkeepers in the offices of the best firms in the Dominion. The spring term in this college opens on March 29th, as announced in our advertising columns.

SLEEPING DRAUGHTS AND SOOTHING MIXTURES

A mother should never give her child a sleeping draught, soothing mixture or opiate of any kind except of the advice of a doctor who has seen the child. All these things contain poisons and an overdose may kill the little one. When you give your child Baby's Own Tablets, you have the guarantee of a government analyst that this medicine does not contain one particle of opiate or narcotic, and cannot possibly do harm—but always do good. The Tablets promptly cure all stomach bowel and teething troubles, and give healthy, natural sleep.
