may cost a few cents more on the hundred pounds than other lump sugar. Good things always cost more than inferior quality.

However, ST. LAWRENCE "CRYSTAL DIAMONDS" are really the most economical Sugar, because they go further on account of their matchless sweetness due to perfect purity.

To appreciate the superiority of St. Lawrence Sugar, compare it with any other sugar.

SERIOUS WRECK AT SANTIAGO SIDING PETERBORO EXPRESS FIGURED IN IT

Saturday evening a serious collision occurred on the G.T.R., which happily was not attended with fatal results.

The 9.23 express for Peterboro had left the local station and was nearing the eastern end of the Santiago siding, near Cunningham's Corner, when it collided with two box cars which were partly on the main line and the switch.

It appears that some switching had been done at this point early in the evening, and the train hands had switched the two cars, as they had thought, safely on to the switch. The express was travelling at a fair rate of speed, and when the collision occurred, excitement reigned supreme among the passengers. The two box cars were badly wrecked and thrown from the track some distance while the locomotive was put out of commission. The steps were torn off as well as the air cylinders and plates and the boiler badly dinged.

The coaches on the express were also badly damaged. They were badly scratched as a result of their contact with the damaged cars and the brass handles were torn out.

Word was at once sent back to the station and the auxiliary was hurried to the scene. The 10.10 train was flagged and later the freight from Belleville. The auxiliary crew worked until three o'clock Sunday morning, when the track was ready for traffic. The damaged cars were removed to the shops this morning.

The engine on the freight train from Belleville was attached to the parlor coach of the 9.23 express and left for Peterboro at two o'clock Sunday morning. The scene of the accident was visited on Sunday by a large number of citizens.

It seems that a freight train came into the local yards Saturday evening at 9 o'clock and the conductor in charge backed the cars to the Santiago siding, two of them being shunted out on to the main line.

TWO EMILY MEN HAD NARROW ESCAPE HORSE KILLED AND BUGGY WRECKED

Messrs. P. Duffy and J. Dorgan, of Emily township have every reason to shake heads with themselves this morning on their miraculous escape from a terrible death Saturday evening.

The two men were driving home, in a buggy, and when at King-st crossing of the C.P.R., Duffy, who was driving, was preceded by several rigs and did not see the approach of the 7.40 p.m. train which was steaming into the station. He drove his horse up against the engine, and the horse throwing up its head was struck with some force and terribly lacerated. Dorgan, who realized the terrible predicament he and his companion was in, jumped and escaped without being hurt.

A number of spectators ran to Duffy's assistance. It was feared he was seriously hurt, but after he got on his feet it was found that he was none the worse for his close call.

The horse only lived a few minutes as it bled to death from the severe cuts it received. The buggy was badly wrecked.

No blame can be attached to the train crew for the accident. The locomotive whistled as it approached the crossing, and the train was only going at a moderate speed. When the engineer noticed the accident he immediately brought the train to a standstill.

The news of the accident spread like wild fire, and quite a number gathered at the scene. It was rumored that one of the occupants of the buggy had been killed and the other seriously injured.

An Advertising Trip

Mr. Henry Glendinning, of Manilla has returned from a two weeks trip on the Michigan Central, with a train of demonstration cars sent out by the Ontario Government. Some of the cars contained products of this province, and others were used as lecture rooms. The train had interested callers at every stopping point in large numbers.

BURIED ALIVE

The Terrible Sight that Met a Widow of Naples

There is a terrible story in the Lattilla family of Naples, which Mrs. Hugh Fraser tells in "A Diplomatist's Wife in Many Lands." In one of the first visitations of the cholera to the city, the head of the family was carried off suddenly, and was hastily interred in the family mausoleum where his ancestors reposed, far away at the most distant end of the large park. The mausoleum was carefully shrouded by the family and servants for quite a year after the unfortunate Marchese had been carried thither. At the end of that time his widow, who had either just been married again or was preparing to do so, summoned the courage to go and have a look at it. Imagine her horror in beholding, behind the bars of the heavily grated window, a ghastly almost-skeleton, with fingers twisted, as in a last agony of despair, around the iron bars!

NOT EASY TO INTOXICATE

A Manchester man, charged with drunkenness, pleaded that he had only three pints of beer, and, in reply to the Magistrate, explained that it took 16 or 17 pints to make him drunk.

ATTEMPT TO DELAY THE PASSAGE OF THE RECIPROcity AGREEMENT

Ottawa, March 19.—With the ending of the fiscal year less than two weeks away, and a very small percentage of supply for the coming year voted, despite the persistent effort of the Government, and with the obvious obstruction of the Opposition, particularly during the past two weeks, it has been decided by the Government to devote most of the balance of the month to endeavouring to get supply leaving the less urgent matter of passing the reciprocity proposals over until next month.

OPPOSITION DIVIDED

There is understood to be a disposition on the part of a section of the Opposition to embarrass the Government by holding up supply and compelling it to enter the fiscal year with no funds voted to carry on the various services. Some of the Opposition members seem to think that this might be used as a lever to compel the Government to postpone the consideration of the reciprocity resolutions until next session, or to modify them considerably, or to compel a dissolution and election, by which they hope to take advantage of a snap verdict before the material benefits of the agreement could be made apparent to all by a few months actual operation. There is, however, divided counsels among them as to the wisdom of long-continued obstructive tactics, which would result in considerable inconvenience to the general public, and which the common sense of the electors could hardly endorse.

WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN

The Government will, by attempting to force supply during the next two weeks, compel the obstructionists to clearly show their hand, and in the event of a continuation of the present tactics and a refusal to pass an interim supply bill, if found necessary to solve the deadlock. The issue in that event would be clearly defined, and although it would be obviously unjust for the Opposition to force an appeal to the country before another session, when the redistribution bill could be put through and the west given its proper representation in new members, the onus would lie with the Opposition, and the Government would not fear the result.

SUPPLY THE FIRST ORDER

It is expected that supply will be the first order of Government business for the next two weeks, with probably one day in each week given to the continuation of the debate on reciprocity. The developments of the two weeks, with the Government's determination to keep the House sitting late unless some progress is made should serve to put the situation very clearly before the people of Canada.

It may be noted that during the past two weeks the business of legislation and the voting of supplies has practically not been advanced a single step. It may also be asserted with assurance that the Government has no intention of either dropping or modifying its reciprocity proposals, and will use every endeavour to have them passed by the House as speedily as possible.

IN YOUR BOY'S INTEREST

Keep Him Out of a Job that Leads to Nowhere

Don't let your boy get into a blind situation, such as that of messenger-boy, van-boy, door-boy, dock-boy, etc. These jobs usually lead to nowhere. There are hundreds of boys to-day who, because they are in situations with no prospects, will swell the army of casual laborers later on. Give them a chance of becoming skilled in some occupation; and there are hundreds of such occupations fully described in "Careers."

HYMENEAL

PENGELLY—ROBERTSON

Haliburton, March, 17.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Pengelly on Wednesday afternoon when their eldest daughter, Minnie Maud was united in marriage to Mr. Jos. H. Robertson, one of Haliburton's most energetic merchants. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Ferguson, Methodist minister. Master Wilfrid Pengelly presided at the piano, playing soft music through the service and the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches. The bride who was given away by her father, wore a dress of net over white silk. The bridesmaid was Miss Iva Jean Robertson, niece of the groom. She was dressed in blue silk mull. The groom was supported by Mr. Herbert Pengelly, brother of the bride, through the trying ordeal. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome gold locket, and chain, to the bridesmaid, a gold bracelet and to the groomsmen a gold watch chain. The happy couple will visit Peterboro, Toronto and Niagara Falls. The bride's travelling suit was brown Panama, with hat and veil to match. The numerous friends wish them a long, and happy journey through life.

ROGERS—ROGERS.

On the evening of March 14, 1911, a very pleasant party assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Rogers, Hillsdale, Minden, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Cora Estella, to Mr. Albert Franklin Rogers, also of Minden. Rev. J. M. Whyte performed the ceremony. At five o'clock Miss Lill Stinson, niece of the bride took her place at the piano and struck the chords of a wedding march, which announced the entrance of the bridal party. The bride, who was attired in cream silk tulle, and trimmed with net and applique, entered the drawing-room with her father. The bride's sister, Mrs. W. G. Holinshead, of Huntsville, acted as matron of honor, which was similar to the bride's.

The bride's bouquet was of bridal roses and asparagus fern, and her veil was fastened with lilies of the valley, the groom's favorite flower. The matron of honor carried daffodils and ferns. Groom was assisted by Mr. W. G. Holinshead. After the ceremony the company were invited to the dining room, where they partook of a three-course supper. The tables were very prettily decorated with green and white and the plate cards were hand painted by Mrs. Layton of La Harpe, Ill., an intimate friend of the bride. The guests were waited on by Misses Libble and Nellie Rogers, sisters of the groom and Misses Greta and Lillian Stinson, nieces of the bride.

NICHOLSON—FISKE.

Fenelon Falls, March, 15.—A quiet but very interesting event took place on March 14, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fiske, of Verulam, when their daughter, Lulu one of Fenelon Falls popular young ladies, was united to Mr. D. Nicholson, of Cassington, N.D. Promptly, at 2 p.m. the bride, attired in a gown of pale blue silk mull, and carrying a sheath of bridal roses, entered the drawing-room to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Violet MacKendry, of Fenelon Falls. The happy couple, took their places beneath a pretty canopy, daintily arranged with smilax and flowers, and banded with palms, where the nuptial knot was tied by Rev. C. S. Lord, of St. Andrew's church. Miss Marion Lee the bride's little niece, attired in white silk, made a very pretty attendant.

SOLD HIS HEAD

Why the Body of a Tyrolese Peasant Was Buried Headless

The headless body of Johann Reeser, a Tyrolese peasant, was buried in the cemetery of Zillertal recently. The reason for the mutilation was that the man had sold his head, which was of abnormally large size, to a pathological institute during his lifetime, for the sum of $210, and a surgeon was sent to remove the head before burial.

Berlin Telephones

Not Safe to Express One's Feelings at Times to the Operator—Better Talk to the Apparatus

The telephone service in Berlin is not half bad, but it has the drawback that one cannot safely tell the young lady who arranges one's communication what one thinks of her when she fails or delays to give the communication. A remark that she appears to have gone to sleep, or that she is slow or stupid, would immediately be followed by a summons to court for defamation, so that all one can safely do is to hang up the receiver while informing the apparatus of what one's feelings are. Two cases reported recently show, however, that the telephone people do not always get the best of it in their encounters with the public.

A lady was tried for saying to the telephone girl, after some vain attempts to get communication, "your department is evidently out of business." The girl complained to a high authority, which then, quite gratuitously as it transpired, charged the lady with calling the girl "a cheery person." The court acquitted the lady, as she had luckily two witnesses who had heard her as she telephoned. In the second case, a bank clerk was charged with using "indecent expressions" to the lady operator, and the Crown prosecutor called for ten days' imprisonment as punishment. The clerk was able to prove that he had never gone near the telephone, and, of course, was found not guilty.

COUNTERFEIT FACTORY

The Basement of a Fashionable Villa at Nice Used as a Coining Den

The fact that the basement of a villa at Nice was used in the course of last year as a factory of counterfeit Russian notes, has been revealed by information received from the Russian authorities. The leaders of the gang, who have been arrested at Warsaw, rented a villa at the beginning of last year at Nice, paying a good price for it. They left in September, and must have taken a good supply of their worthless goods with them, for when caught they still had counterfeit notes in their possession to the nominal amount of about $100,000. When they took their departure from the fashionable coining den they packed their tools and machinery into seven cases, and had them stored by a transportation company, which was entirely ignorant of their contents. The French authorities have now seized the cases, and have handed them over to the Russian Consul at Nice.

MAKES HAIR GROW

Higinbotham has an invigorator that will grow hair or money back. The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of.

If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears.

The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is SALVIA, the Great American Hair Grower, first discovered in England. SALVIA furnishes nourishment to take the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed. A large bottle for 50c.

COMMUNICATION

RAILWAY GATES NEEDED.

To the Editor: Dear Sir.—Some years ago the Council of Lindsay made a move towards getting protection at King, Queen and Caroline-st. Railway crossings. They went to the expense of taking a correct count of the traffic over those crossings and spent legal fees amounting well on to $200; but a change of Council in their wisdom, dropped the idea and the rail-
