CAMBRIDGE-ST. CHURCH FINANCES QUARTERLY BOARD AND CHURCH UNION

At the Quarterly Official Board meeting of the Cambridge-st. Methodist church last evening the financial statement for the year 1911 was presented by the treasurer, Mr. F. C. Taylor. The statement showed the contributions of the congregation to all church purposes amounting to $10,000. In addition to providing for the ordinary expenses of the church, the Board were enabled to pay the full cost of the extensive improvements to the parsonage, and still show a surplus of $127. Cambridge street church leads the Bay of Quinte conference in its missionary givings, having raised last year for missions through the various societies of the church the splendid amount of $4,332. The aim of the Methodist church through Canada has been to raise the average per member for missions to $5 per year. This standing has already been surpassed by this church, as the givings this year average $6.75 per member. This result has been accomplished by the liberality of the general congregation supplemented by the generous contributions of about twenty men to the special mission plan and extension fund. The official vote on church union was taken at this meeting, resulting as follows: For 12, against 6. A number of votes are yet to be cast by members who were not able to be present last evening. The vote of the general congregation will be taken on Sunday, March 10th. Ballot papers will be distributed to the entire church on that date, and the ballot will close one week later.

RE-UNION OF THE WILLIAMS FAMILY INTERESTING EVENT AT PORT PERRY

The Port Perry Observer has the following item of interest: "Sunday last being the 80th birthday of one of the most estimable aged ladies in this community—Mrs. Edward Williams—who of late has not been enjoying the best of health but on the day of her fourth-score birthday she was particularly bright and happy, and the presence of her ten sons to do honor to a mother so worthy of their love and esteem, and they did it in a highly interesting and commendable manner, doubtless had a beneficial effect; and a finer array of manhood it would be impossible to conceive. Both mentally and physically they are a wonderful organization—physically they tip the beam at nearly a ton and a third and finer looking men it would be impossible to find, and mentally they are a power in the land, more particularly those identified with the pulpit and the press, and severally they occupy important positions, and fill them with credit, while all, in their various professions and occupations, are doing their utmost to propel the wheel of progress and enlightenment to its legitimate goal, and thus leave the world better than they found it. An army composed of men of the stamina and calibre of the Williams' brothers could defy the world, but they have no leaning in that direction, their main object in life is to carry to a successful issue all occupations and enterprises in which they embark, and they have the ability and tact to do that to perfection. Long may they live to prosecute their important and beneficial callings and still longer to enjoy the emoluments accruing to them therefrom as a reward for determined and active energy and well directed perseverance. On the day in question these stalwart brothers lined up as follows: A. W. Williams, Port Perry. Elias Williams, Independence, Sask. Frank Williams, Port Perry. Madison Williams, Lindsay. Rev. Geo. Williams, Sherbrooke, Q. Aaron Williams, Port Perry. Allan Williams, Niagara Falls, N.Y. Walter Williams, B.A., World Office, Toronto. Wesley Williams, Toronto. Alonzo Williams, Port Perry.

STRENUOUS ATTEMPTS BY NATIONALISTS TO WHIP PREMIER BORDEN INTO LINE

(From Toronto Star.) "Ottawa, Feb. 26.—The explanation this morning of last night's dinner is that it was given by Mr. Monk to Professor Du Roure, of France, who delivered an address before L'Institut Canadian here on Saturday. The guests at the dinner were Mr. Laverge, Mr. Du Roure, Mr. Roy, president Royal Society; Decelles, French Librarian of Parliament; Fathers Lejeune and Jeannot, parish priests of Ottawa; Paquet, of L'Islet, and a few others." SITUATION GROWS TENSE. Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 26.—The situation created by the Nationalist demands for the establishment of Separate Schools in the territory to be added to Manitoba, far from growing less tense is rather increasing in interest. On Saturday morning the Nationalist forces were all smiles, assuring their friends that all was well. This was taken in some quarters to mean that they had got their way with regard to the school question. Some people even went so far as to declare that Mr. Borden had backed down on both the school and navy questions. Later events did not bear out this conjecture, however. LAVERGNE'S FAILURE. Armand Laverge had intended to make a hasty trip to Toronto, there to confer with certain people, who, it was thought, could bring influence to bear here. The failure of the chief aide to conclude the business meant only one thing: That the generalissimo himself had to get into the firing line and take command in person and that was what happened. Henri Bourassa came to Ottawa yesterday, and strict Sabbatharians might well be shocked at the way he spent his Sunday. Part of it may have been spent in true, in clerical company, but the real object of Mr. Bourassa's business was far from being the discussion of theology. PLEADING WITH PELLETIER. Nearly all afternoon was spent by "The Master" in the closest of conferences with Hon. L. P. Pelletier in the latter's offices in the Langevin Block. The Postmaster-General has become, for the time being, at least, the object of the Nationalists' most careful solicitude and concern. For some reason the Quebec party seems to have given up hope of getting much out of Mr. Monk. He is not a man who is easily frightened, whereas Mr. Pelletier is too new to Federal honors and too appreciative of any honors at all to give them up lightly. DINED NINE CLERICALS. The fall of night saw a quiet little dinner in one of the smaller smoking rooms of the Parliamentary restaurant. It was an exceedingly discreet little dinner without any of the usual flowers and trotting waiters. It was given on a night and at an hour when the restaurant was deserted. It was, in fact, the first Sunday night private dinner that the caterer was ever called upon to provide. The waiters in French Canadian were present, but it was stated that it was a purely private affair, and that there was no significance to it, despite the circumstances that Mr. Monk left the dining room and came downstairs to talk to Col. Sam. Hughes.

SAY BOURASSA WASN'T THERE.

The report current yesterday that Henri Bourassa had come to town and had seen the Premier and Hon. L. P. Pelletier is denied to-day. Instead, it is said that he spent the day in Montreal and left for Quebec last night. But if the "Master" was not here the chief of staff was, having made a flying visit to Toronto and returned. He was closeted nearly all afternoon in the private office of the Postmaster General in the Langevin block, and last night participated in the alleged private dinner given in the Parliamentary restaurant last night by Mr. Pelletier and Mr. Monk in honor of Prof. Du Roure, of France. The Speaker of the Senate and a number of other prominent dinner was over. Mr. Monk was host, and Mr. Armand Laverge faced him across the table. Speaker Landry, of the Senate, was a guest, as was Dr. Paquet, of L'Islet, and some nine clericals of high rank. After the dinner Speaker Landry went into executive session with Hon. Sam Hughes in the corridor. "No news," was Mr. Monk's smiling but emphatic remark, after the dinner was over. MUST REIGN OR SUBMIT. The information published on Saturday to the effect that Armand Laverge had been sent to Ottawa as Bourassa's emissary is confirmed by Le Nationaliste, which says that Laverge came to Ottawa to demand that Pelletier should recall his past or hand in his resignation. But a little further light upon the situation is also given by Le Nationaliste. It declares that tremendous pressure is being brought to bear upon the Ministerial members. And he remembered all the Quebec Nationalists have themselves classed as Conservatives. "There has been nothing like it since 1905," asserts the weekly organ of Bourassa. "All resources are being used; all possible influence is being exercised. The members are asked: 'Why risk the loss of power and why give Laurier a chance to come back again?' They are told that if they remain loyal they will be richly rewarded, and the proposed creation of under-secretariats are held out as baits, the promise of an extra $6,000 a year being an inducement. EIGHT WHO MAY BOLT. But those who profess to be on the inside say that nothing will satisfy Bourassa and the Roman Catholic clergy, but a clause in the Manitoba boundary bill safe guarding the rights of the Roman Catholics as guaranteed by the bill of 1871. And that there is some justification for this is proven by the personal declaration of Gullbault, the member for Joliette, that he will at all cost stand by his promises and defend the rights of the minority. And it is added that he is backed by Bellemare, of Maskinonge, and by Barrette, of Berthier, who have given similar pledges. It is also said that Messrs. Lamarche of Nicolet, Sevigny of Dorchester, Achim of La Belle, Mondou of Yamaska, and possibly Paquet, of L'Islet, have agreed to vote against the Government unless the Church's demands are met. Furthermore, Le Nationaliste serves notice on the Federal members through its Quebec correspondent that if they "betray" the Church they can consider themselves politically dead, and it is added that if the Government fails to protect the rights of the Roman Catholics there will not be the slightest chance of a single Conservative being elected in Quebec.

BIG PROBLEM FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA ORIENTALS ARE NOW ONE IN TEN

"One in every ten persons in British Columbia is an Oriental." "That ominous fact," said Mr. H. H. Stevens, M. P. for Vancouver, in addressing the Canadian Club, Toronto, "that fact makes the question of Oriental immigration a real live problem. For the possibility of assimilation of Oriental races lies at the root of the problem, and experience proves that assimilation of these races is impossible." IMPLIES INTERMARRIAGE Mr. Stevens pointed out the fact that assimilation implies intermarriage of the Anglo-Saxon and the Orientals. If there should be no intermarriage, then there must result segregation of the Oriental races who possess political, social, moral and intellectual ideals which are totally different from those of Anglo-Saxon origin. "That," he said, "is a political and social danger in itself. But worse than this is the fact, proved by experience, that the offspring of Occidental and Oriental parents, who have intermarried, are of a lower type than are their parents. The offspring have all the vices of both races without their virtues. Not only then are the Orientals not assimilable, but also assimilation and intermarriage would mean a very grave moral and social danger." SLAVERY IN CANADA A startling piece of news was Mr. Stevens' statement, with proof, that there exists in Canada a species of slave-holding. Describing the method of conducting Chinese immigration, he pointed out that the Chinese are brought into this country by syndicates of merchants or bosses, who pay the fare, head tax and all other expenses entailed. The Chinese thus brought in become indebted to these bosses for the amounts paid the government, and repayment is so regulated that it takes many years to fulfill the obligation. "So that" said Mr. Stevens, "these Chinese are practically slaves." 10,000 JAPS IN FISHING "Ten years ago," he continued, "there were 10,000 white men and their families engaged in the fisheries. To-day there is scarcely any whites so engaged, but over 10,000 Japs with a monopoly of the labor." "The Hindus are engaged largely in mill work, gardening, excavation and lot clearing, all of which was done once by the white population of British Columbia. One reason for employing them, is that they are easily housed and thrive in filthy sanitary conditions, which they help to create." NATION BUILDING "Immigration should not be used" Mr. Stevens concluded, "to develop individual industries, but as a factor in nation building; but unless the traditional methods and ideals of Anglo-Saxon civilization are kept intact by restricted and discriminate laws of immigration, the foundations of British institutions in Canada will crumble and pass." Mr. W. C. Smith of the Toronto Construction Co., left this morning for a month's sojourn in the Sunny South.
