His mother, Mrs. J. P. Schatz, of Berlin, Pa., was summoned to his bedside several weeks ago, and although doctors of Lindsay and Toronto were in attendance, the hand of death could not be stayed. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved friends.

CAMERON CARNIVAL PROVED SUCCESS

(Special to The Post.)
Cameron, March 5—After postponing our carnival two or three times, we succeeded in getting one of the most beautiful of nights last Saturday, and as it was pretty good going on the roads, only when it came to turning out, there was a large crowd. Mr. M. Maybee and Mr. Wess Hewie were judges. There were three for the nail race, but it did not come off, as an accident happened one of the ladies at the start, and her sister went to her aid, thus leaving no one for the other one to race against.
The bun race caused a great deal of merriment, as also did the ladder race. Some of the costumes worthy of mention were Mr. Sam Anderson, dressed as Uncle Sam, with stars and stripes, Clifford Perrin as a Scotch lad, Thelma Townsend as a Scotch lassie, the bride dressed all in white looked very pretty. The old ladies, and grandmother, dressed as in years ago, looked very picturesque. As this is a new rink and there are so many beginners, the skating was not to be taken into consideration in judging costumes, but the judges did which was very unfair.

JANETVILLE SPINSTERS' CLUB ENTERTAIN EVENING'S PROGRAMME MUCH ENJOYED

(Special to The Post.)
The banquet held on 29th Feb. under the auspices of the league was a great success. The tables were heavily laden with dainties which were enjoyed by all. The programme was also excellent. The play "The Spinster Club" which was given by local talent, was suitable, and well rendered. Miss Story, elocutionist, delighted the audience with several selections. Since "the Spinster Club has gone to smash" we expect Mr. Jones, our pastor, will be kept busy.

(From another correspondent.)
The leap year banquet in the Foresters' hall under the auspices of the league was pronounced by all a huge success. The tables were beautifully decorated to match the decorations of the hall, and lavishly provided, and though the crowd was not large, yet most of the chairs were occupied. The programme was pronounced the best that has been given here for many a day. Mrs. (Rev.) Jones officiated at the piano. Miss Laidley sang in her usual pleasing manner. Miss Story, A.T.C.M., convinced all present of her superior talents as an entertainer. The Spinsters' Club was very much enjoyed. The plot opens with two disappointed spinsters who decide to organize a Spinsters' Club for the protection of their younger sisters from the heartaches of love making. The club is organized, but signally fails, for the old lovers return, and the Spinsters' Club resolves itself into a marriage club, and all join in. The stage was an old fashioned parlor and the characters were as follows: Two spinsters, Miss Abby (Mrs. W. H. McGill), soprano, and Miss Martha (Mrs. Andrew McGill) alto; Margaret, (Miss Margaret Hobbs,) mezzo soprano; Gretchen, (Miss Lela Burn) alto; Nathaniel, (Mr. Lewis Fallis); Asa Holmes, (Mr. Wm. Arthurs); Fred, (Rev. Mr. Jones) tenor; Patrick, (Mr. Harry Anderson) tenor; Jacob, (Mr. W. H. McGill,) baritone. All the characters were well represented, but Bridget and Patrick did excell. We enjoyed it all, gentle folk, and we hope you will give us many more like it.
March is coming in like a lamb, and we hope the lamb may not have to change its coat when March is going out.
