EXEMPTION OF IMPROVEMENTS

(Montreal Witness.)

Sir James Whitney has changed to singular degree his attitude towards the land tax question from the very contemptuous tone of former remarks of his that have been re ported. We do not mean his private remarks to Mr. Fels, of soap famewe had only Mr. Fel's picturesque report for those-but to statements of his views made in public to those representing the cause. He told such -we do not remember his very words -that, however such remedies abuses might be needed in the new regions of the West, they would prove altogether upsetting in the more settled conditions of Ontario. It has generally been supposed that the farmers, being land owners, would be the last to fall in with the idea of putting the whole burden on the land and setting all improvements free from taxation. Those who have Mr. Thos. Stewart is in Toronto thought this of the farmers have little realized the subterranean working of the somewhat fanatical organized propaganda of Henry George's single tax ideas, or the extent to which the common sense truth that lies behind the propaganda had laid hold of sober minded people. Though extravagant claims as to the abolition of poverty and transcendental theories as to what constitutes wealth have probably rather hindered than helped, it has not required much argument to convince the average man, not interested in a contrary sense, that to tax improvements is a premium on keeping property unimproved, to profit by other people's enterprise; that to tax industry and business and enterprise is the worst way to encourage them; that the thing the community has right to is that to which the community gives value. There are other things which come under this category besides land, such as the ab-

That was another way of saying that the government, having been a little precipi tate in its former judgment, and realizing that this deputation represented a formidable body of would do its best to find out what the people really do want in the
