On Sunday a large congregation assembled to hear Rev. J. H. Arnup, B. A., of Toronto, secretary of the Laymen's Missionary movement, give a comprehensive address on the extent and needs of the home and foreign mission fields. In the first part of his discourse the speaker outlined the vastness of the mission field territory in the Canadian west. This comprises a district from New Ontario to Vancouver, 2500 miles, and from the southern boundary of the western provinces northward for 900 miles. Mr. Arnup also described how the missionary districts are organized in the far eastern countries, each denomination being allotted a certain district to prevent overlapping and thus greatly saving available forces. The address was given in a business-like manner and was very interesting and instructive.
