Big Convention Here on Empire Day Knights of Columbus Meet Here

Many from Toronto and Peterborough
—High Mass at St. Mary's Church
—Brief History of Society

Lindsay was the mecca of the members of that powerful organization, the Knights of Columbus, on Monday and the town was besieged by delegates from every Council in the province.

The different trains during the day both on the G.T.R. and C.P.R. brought in their quota of representatives Catholics from every part of Ontario and a fine looking body of men they were too.

A large number of the clergy of the Diocese were also present as well as a number from other Dioceses in the province. Probably the largest contingent of "Knights" came from Peterboro the different trains from that centre during the day being pretty well crowded with delegates.

The different hotels in the town were pretty well taxed in order to provide accommodation and not a few of the visitors partook of the hospitality of the citizens during their short stay in the town.

The delegates convened in the town hall which had been beautifully decorated and fitted up for the reception of the visitors. Lindsay council No. 1124, certainly did itself credit in its reception and entertainment of the visiting Knights, who were loud in their praises of the hospitality extended.

A BRIEF HISTORY.

The Knights of Columbus as an organization had its birth in the United States a few years ago, and its growth has been wonderful. This has been due to a great extent to the fact that the church recognizes it as one of the greatest auxiliaries in connection with its mission. It is a tower of strength to the clergy in the United States as evidenced by the fact of its helping in every great movement—educational and religious—and in inculcating the great virtue of charity. In Canada the organization is making marked progress and has in its membership the representative Catholics of the country.

ATTENDED MASS.

To be a member of the Knights of Columbus one must be an exemplary Catholic, and it was only fitting that the proceedings of the day should open with the celebration of High Mass at St. Mary's church. The members assembled at 9 o'clock and marched to the church which was pretty well crowded with worshippers. Von Archdeacon Casey was the celebrant and inside the sanctuary rail were a number of the visiting clergy.

SPLendid SERMON.

The sermon, which was a masterly effort, was preached by the Rev. Father Hanley, rector of the Cathedral at Kingston. The reverend gentleman paid a glowing tribute to the good work accomplished by the Knights of Columbus, strongly emphasizing the fact of its being a valuable co-worker of the church and urging upon the members to be consistent Knights, true to the great principles that underlie the organization and always proving themselves worthy and exemplary Catholics. The sermon made a very deep impression upon those who were fortunate enough to hear the talented clergyman.

MANY CANDIDATES.

At the conclusion of the Mass the delegates marched back to the Town Hall, where the Convention got down to business. It is understood that between fifty and seventy-five candidates were initiated during the day. It is understood that the next convention will be held in Belleville on Labor Day.

The officers of the Lindsay Council No. 1124 are: J. Rogers G. K., L. A. Rogers, Rec., J. J. MacDonnell, Fin. Sec.

The list of visiting clergy includes the names of Father Towmey Belleville, Father Meehan, Wolfe Island, Father Fischer, Berlin, Father McKinnon, Father Carberry, and Father O'Leary, of the Toronto diocese, and Father Hanley of Kingston Cathedral.

At the North Ward school the grounds were tastefully decorated with flags and bunting, the children indulging in various races, such as the "hot" and "cold" kind, but the variety which gave themselves the most enjoyment, and incidentally the best prize and which supplied the spectators with an unlimited amount of fun.

A few remarks were heard from "the big grown-ups" to the effect that "I wish I were a kid myself again," and without doubt one could not help recollecting his boyhood days amid such innocent gaiety.

Quite a number of visitors were present to see the sights, among whom were Rev. C. H. Marsh, Mr. G. Broderick, Mrs. Rev. Bishop, Miss Ross, Miss F. Resor, Mr. McDougall and a number of others.

McLaughlin, Kennedy, and Resor, of Lindsay.

The greatest enthusiasm was aroused by the announcement by Messrs. Hogg and Bott, that although they supported Mr. Fox last election, they would not do so now, but that they would do their utmost to secure the election of Mr. Stewart. They declared that Mr. Whitney had betrayed the people by failing to keep his promises and by false pretences at the last election.

The defection of these gentlemen from Mr. Fox means a great accession of strength to Mr. Stewart and a splendid vote is looked for in their polling divisions for the Liberal candidate.

The Cow Stable

The following article on the dairy cow stable is taken from a circular published in the interests of North Dakota Agriculture.

"Make cow stables so that self-respecting men will be pleased to work in them, and that will accomplish a great deal for farm dairying and for keeping up farm fertility. First the entire runway stable floor, and yard must all be paved with good cement, so that cattle will not trail in dirt to the stable with them. Floor of stable should be at least 18 inches higher than outside level and graded to it with quite a sharp grade. The stable should have two rows of cows each facing out and there should be good light to each side with no second story, no loft above, and no cellar."

No manure should be handled as liquid, but all absorbed with fine cut straw or land plaster and hauled to the field as soon as made. There should be no reserve pile of manure anywhere. There should be a separate place where cows about to calve can be placed. No cows should be allowed to calve in the dairy barn. No calves, pigs, sheep, horses, fowl or other animals should be allowed around the dairy barn. The centre floor should be wide enough to allow a team to pass through, but no horse should be allowed to do so. The odor of a horse should never be allowed to be present, but all manure should be removed from the stable with hand wagons or by little carries near horses. Visitors and strangers should not be encouraged to enter inside of dairy barn and never in the dairy room while butter or other dairy products are in course of manufacture. Cows should be groomed in a regular grooming room which has proper sweep of fresh air. Pullman car porters brush germs from one man's coat into another man's fangs and stir up deadly diseases with broom and duster while people are in the car but a proper dairy farmer will never treat his cows that way.

Blackmailers at Ottawa.
Ottawa, May 22.—Many prominent people of the capital are again receiving blackmailing letters. They are of the same class as those for which a young man is now undergoing imprisonment.
