Mass Meeting of Citizens

BELIEVES IN LOCAL OPTION Mr. J. D. Flavelle was called to the platform and in opening he said he felt that it was hardly necessary for him to apologize and explain his position regarding temperance. He had been a resident of Lindsay for fifty years and had never hid his light under a bushel, and had never attempted to belittle any cause or any class of the community. He was a firm believer in local option. When the Scott act campaign was on he had worked hard for the passage of the act, but he had no desire to see the conditions that followed exist in Lindsay now. Those who worked for the Scott act snapped their fingers after it became law and would not assist in its enforcement.

Mr. Flavelle endorsed what Mr. Spence had said but did not approve of voting on this measure if the temperance people are going to permit what occurred in Scott act days. If the workers were not prepared to put their hands in their pockets and contribute $5,000 to enforre the law and meet conditions it was useless to submit it. The law must be effective, and the town also required accommodation of an effective nature. They did not want the hotelkeepers to close up their places, and he thought the temperance people ought to have ways and means in order to meet such a possibility. However, he felt that the hotelkeepers would still keep hotel the next day after the measure was carried. "I will not raise a finger," said Mr. Flavelle, "unless the temperance are willing to enforce the measure. We don't want Scott act conditions."

DOING ITS DUTY.

The present government, Mr. Flavelle said, was doing its duty in enforcing the liquor legislation, and the local inspector and license com. missioners were doing their share, The License act was a good law, he said, but he desired to say he was in favor of all temperance legislation, and desired to see it carried McGaffey, J. "The barley business is dead." was the cry now of the brewers, malsters and distillers.

If there were no hotels there would be no temptations and argument that there would be more liquor consumed under local option was childish. Our best asset, Mr. Flavelle said, was our children, and if we had local option our boys, in twenty years hence, would not know what a saloon was. I am heart and soul with the movement and will work tooth and nail provided a fund is subscribed to prevent the town from being in the lurch until hotelkeepers keep hotel.

CAN RAISE AMOUNT.

The chairman stated that a prominent citizen had informed him that the amount could be subscribed two days.

RESOLUTION UDOPTED

Mr. Alex. Horn in a few introductory remarks moved a resolution favoring the submission of local option bylaw.

THE SECONDER.

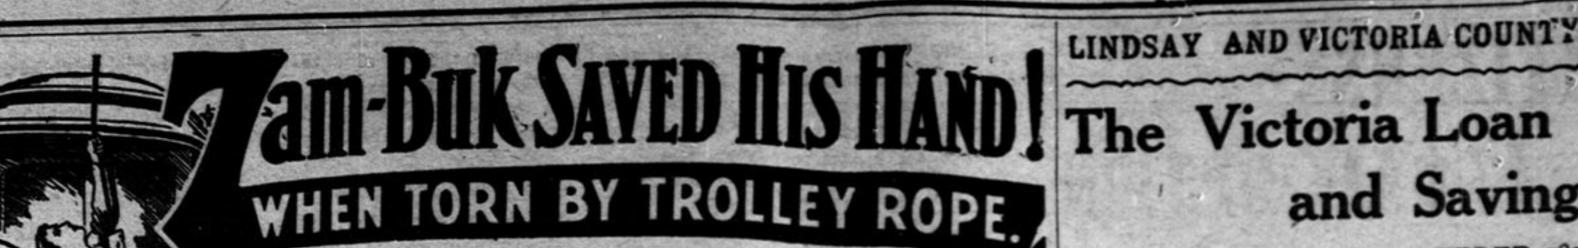

Rev. J. P. Wilson said he had no hesitancy in seconding the resolution and expressed his delight at being able to assist in the work. He had seen the evils of intemperance, and had fought it for thirty years. was anxious to see local option troduced.

FEAR OF BOYCOTT.

Rev. Mr. Welch said that there was a fear existing among business men that because of their support of temperance they would become marked men, and that a boycott would be waged against them. Both sides, felt, should play the game fair, and he thought it was contemptible bring business considerations into the fight. He would not advise fighting fire with fire but felt it was their duty to see that no business would suffer financial loss. If the opposition withdrew their trade, was up to the rank and file to support those being boycotted.

WORKING men and women throughout the Dominion find that Zam-Buk is the greatest boon they can have as a healer of accidental cuts, burns, and bruises, as well as skin diseases. Mr. H. G. Purchase, conductor on the Toronto Street Railway, tells how this great herbal balm benefited him when he met with his accident.

the live wire, and the rope was caught in the standard. Purchase held on to the rope until his hand was pulled up to the top of the car. There it was held, and the rope, pulled through his fingers by the force of the moving car, tore and lacerated to a shocking extent three fingers, tearing several pleces of flesh completely away. Zam-Buk was applied, and eased the pain very quickly. Writing to this effect, Mr. Purchase says:—

NEVER neglect a cut or sore, however trivial it may appear.

Mrs. B. E. Bedwell, of 337, Provencher Avenue, St. Boniface, Winnipeg, had a small sore on the second finger of her left hand. She thought it would get right unaided, but it didn't. Instead, blood-poisoning set in. She says:—I then tried poultices and an ordinary salve. These, however, did not have the desired effect, and, as the finger began to fester, I had to call in a doctor, who lanced it. "I had previously had experience of the healing power of Zam-Buk, and the way it soothes cuts and injuries. I, therefore, bound the fingers in Zam-Buk, and it was most gratifying the way in which this balm soothed the pain. Two

The trolley pole of his car slipped off , days after the accident the wounds were closed, and new skin was begin-ning to form over the top. Each day I dressed the wounds with Zam-Buk, the hand as sound as ever. To look at it you would never know it had been so terribly torn and lacerated. "I do not think there is anything to equal Zam-Buk as a healer of skin injuries and diseases."

Despite his care, however, it again festered, and the ointments, liniments, and other preparations which the doctor gave me seemed absolutely unable to bring about any relief. We were told of a case similar to my own in which Zam-Buk had effected a cure when everything else had failed, and we, therefore, decided to give Zam-Buk a trial. It only needed a few days to show the wisdom of this step. The blood-poisoning and inflammation were reduced, and the pain became less acute. In under three weeks from first commencing with Zam-Buk the finger was quite sound again.

Mr. N. Smale moved that the following committee be appointed to prepare and circulate a petition for local option Messrs. J. E. Adams, J E. Billingsley, Dr. Blanchard, Jas. Boxall, A. C. Bingham, W.
