The Rain's Bad Work

Mr. John Hutchinson, a Lindsay farmer, was in Rosedale on Tuesday with a camp outfit of Mr. Geo. Rea. Mr. Hutchinson reports everything as in the best of condition at that village, but the farmers along the road were greatly alarmed over the continued rainfalls. Some of the fields were like miniature lakes and will not be fit to work on for a week or more. The high lands, however, are better dry, and a few farmers were out yesterday getting started with the spring seeding. The season has been very late, and the only hope of the farmer is that we will now have a spell of dry weather.

BEAUTIFY THE TOWN

The following excellent article from the Peterboro Examiner can be applied with equal force to Lindsay, as the conditions existing here are far from being ideal: "Beautify the city, in an injunction that is receiving its widest practical application at present. On every street, in every home, the 'cleaning up' and beautifying process is finished or in progress. The dregs of winter are being cleared away and plants and shrubs are being planted with care or less taste and skill. The humblest effort at tidiness and adornment is as dear to the maker as his elaborate efforts are to the pretentious owner of elaborate 'grounds'; and their destruction by the numerous means of demolition is as serious and annoying to one as to the other. The discouraging and disgraceful feature of this general attempt at beautification and tidiness is that it is only temporary and the expense incurred and labour bestowed are rendered useless in a score of ways. One lady had the experience of having a fine row of sweet peas destroyed by some skulking brute of a dog that scalded the fence and buried a big bone in the fresh soil of the trench. The result is that the continuity of the line of pea vines will be broken and the effect destroyed; other ladies have had their flower beds nicely levelled or rounded and vagrant dogs have tramped them down. "And this is discouraging enough, but there are other causes of dis-

Confirmation at St. Paul's Church

Sunday was a memorable day for forty-three adherents of St. Paul's church. On that occasion the sacred rite of Confirmation was administered by His Lordship Right Rev. W. D. Reeve, D. D., assistant bishop of Toronto.

The ceremony, which is of a deeply impressive character, was witnessed by a large congregation, which taxed the sacred edifice to its utmost capacity. The services during the morning were conducted by the rector, Rev. C. H. Marsh, assisted by Rev. Mr. Bilkey, the curate. The sermon, which was a masterly effort, was delivered by his lordship the Bishop. The speaker during his remarks explained the nature of the rite of confirmation, which was one supplemental to baptism, by which a person is admitted through the laying on of the hands of a bishop to the full privileges of the church. This ordinance was so called because they who duly received it were confirmed or strengthened for the fulfilment of their christian duties by the grace therein bestowed upon them.

EVENING SERVICE.
 In the evening the Right Rev. W. D. Reeve, D. D., assistant bishop of Toronto, occupied the pulpit and preached a very thoughtful and instructive sermon to a large congregation. The Bishop took as his text, James 1, 21, 22, "Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save you; but be ye doers of the word and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves." The Bishop stated that a special service was being observed in most of the Anglican churches in Canada on Sunday, a service of prayer for the farmer as he planted his grain in the ground. We owe a great deal to the Almighty God at the present time for his goodness towards us, and for his blessing upon us. The farmer should especially be thankful for what he has received and his prayers should ascend to God for all that he has done. God has to bless the seed and send his sunshine and rain before there will be any good results. There are a great many people today who are not content with food and raiment, but are always fretting and fussing about something. There are too many people putting on extravagance when they should be giving something to the work of God. A great many people go the house of God and sit down and pretend to be listening, when in reality they are dreaming of something else. We should take heed how we listen when we are in the presence of God. God is willing and able to help us but we must do our part. It is the duty and privilege of every christian man and woman today to give a helping hand to his fellow neighbor. Many of our citizens in the west are fallen in sin and it will only be by the grace of God that they will be saved. We should see that we have men and women in the field to help our fallen brothers and sisters. Every person who goes out to that fair land should be filled with the word of God. We must be doers and not hearers only and if we follow this motto we will be blessed of God.

The speaker closed with an earnest plea for the congregation to pray for the farmer in this seeding season.

Another way in which the city is to blame—another way in which tidiness and beauty of private residences are discouraged—is the beastly untidiness of the streets. No attempt worth the name is made by the city to keep the streets neat and clean; but a great deal is done by the city to add to their untidiness. At street intersections men are seen to clean out the traps or catch basins. The resulting heap of filth, dead leaves, etc., is piled up in a hideous mass close to the pavement and is left there until it is kicked about, and creates a wide area of untidiness. In scores of places last year's leaves, which were last autumn raked into heaps in the gutters, are lying there still. Drainage of streets, is neglected and in the rainy season there are perpetual mud holes in the gutters through which the butcher baker tramp carrying the mud into the premises which the annual house cleaning has renovated.

Cheerful Word for June Grooms
 Now a Chicago doctor announces that nobody can get a healthy without eating plenty of hard food and tough meat that requires much chewing. We trust that this statement will reach the eye of every prospective June groom. It will tend to make life easier and happier for all parties concerned. Instead of throwing the biscuits at the neighbor's cats, or asking her if she bought the beefsteak at a tannery, use them as you would your dumbbells or your exerciser. Certainly if man can get his physical culture at the dinner table there is no other place. Then six months after the wedding day when friends comment on the healthy appearance of the groom, the bride may smilingly and truthfully say: "Yes, doesn't he look well? My cooking did it."

An Interesting Meeting
 One of the largest and most interesting meetings of Loyal Orange Lodge No. 557, heretofore held took place last Tuesday in the Adams block. There was a very large attendance, and keen interest was manifested in the proceedings. Mr. Hall, of Toronto, representing the Sentinel, was present and delivered a stirring address on the principles of Orangeism, in the course of which he pointed out the very satisfactory growth made by the Order during the past year, a net increase of over 6,000 having been achieved. Orangeism was growing, he said, in numbers, in standing and in influence throughout the country, and he urged every member to do his utmost to secure for every one equal privileges, fair play, and justice, no matter of what religion or creed, for of such was the basic principle of the Order.

Registry Office Improvements
 A meeting of the special committee appointed by the County Council to deal with the proposed alterations and improvements in the registry office and the installation of a central heating plant, met today at the county buildings with the chairman, Mr. B. L. McLean, presiding. The object of the meeting was to award the contract for the work. A number of tenders were received and at the hour of going to press the contract had not been awarded.

Congratulations
 The Post desires to heartily congratulate Mr. J. E. Anderson, son of Mr. J. W. Anderson, of Lindsay, on his brilliant success at McMaster University. The clever young student succeeded in taking five specialties, three firsts and two seconds. Mr. Anderson arrived in town last evening from Toronto.

His Parishioners Said Farewell

Rev. Father O'Leary Bade Farewell to Congregation at Bobcaygeon

Rev. P. J. O'Leary, who for the last ten years has been in charge of the Galway, Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon R. C. parish, announced on Sunday morning at the conclusion of the service, that the Bishop had called upon him to take the Bracebridge parish, made vacant by the death of Rev. Fr. Collins. He briefly reviewed the position of the parish. When he came he had a considerable debt to assume, but he was glad to say that there that there was no debt whatever today, in fact there was at Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon a small balance in the bank for repairs, etc. He had been happy in his work, and the parish had suited his tastes, but he was now going to a parish that had more of a town element in it, and he rather hesitates in taking responsibilities, and a class of work that he was afraid would not be congenial to his tastes. He thanked all for the kindly feeling that had been shown to him, and he would never forget the friends of Bobcaygeon.

The Rev. gentleman had thought that he was springing a surprise on the congregation, but a little bird had given a hint on Saturday afternoon, and a bit of quiet, swift work was put through. It was felt that anything in the form of a presentation worth making, could not very well be done, and would not meet with the wishes of the pastor, but it was known that the hand bag he usually carried was not the sort of thing that would be correct for a county town pastor, so a suitable one was procured, and a short address prepared. Accordingly when the pastor finished his surprise announcement, Messrs. Maurice Welsh and John Conway stepped to the front as representing the congregation, and rather more than matched the pastoral surprise. Mr. Welsh read the address expressing the regrets of the congregation, upon the announcement of a severance of the ties of esteem and love which had so happily existed, and asked him to accept the trifling gift, not as a presentation, but as a souvenir from Bobcaygeon, and hoped it might some day, when a holiday was being thought of, remind him that in Bobcaygeon there would ever be hearts ready to give him a warm welcome. They wished him the blessing and happiness of good health and success in his sacred duties, and as they would remember him in their prayers hoped they would not be forgotten by him. The Rev. gentleman was surprised all right enough, and admitted his pleasure at the friendly feeling displayed. He could not imagine how they so perfectly guessed his wishes in the little remembrance gift, as it was exactly what he had often wished to have. He thanked them for the assurance that he would be remembered in their prayers, as he would need their help, and he certainly would not forget the friends of Bobcaygeon.—Independent.

Flat Rates for Electric Light
 A Toronto exchange in dealing with flat rates for electric light, says:—"The announcement of the rates to be charged householders for electric power for domestic purposes does not appear to be cause for any particular, jubilation on the part of the rate payers who carried the by-laws to establish a plant to compete with the Toronto Electric Light Co. The rates of the latter company were duly anatomized during the campaign until the consumers were firmly convinced that they were being bled white while the extortionate charges were producing a new crop of millionaires from among the favored shareholders of the light monopoly. "If the rates of the Toronto Electric Light Co. were as oppressive as they were represented to be what must we think of municipal enterprises which establishes rates that are little if any better. When the scheme is well under way it probably will make a better showing. One of the most offensive features of the Toronto Electric Light Co.'s contract with consumers is the charge known as "meter rent." It is only 25c per month but that means $3.00 per year, and it is a clear case of grab. There is no more reason why the Electric Light Co. should charge rent for meters than that the Consumers' Gas Co. should levy a charge for the rent of the gas meters. "The civic administrators have scored a big point in cutting out meter rent, but for fear that should be too much of a concession a charge will be made for lamp renewals. "The most objectionable feature, however, is the flat rate of ten cents per room. For a seven-roomed house that means 70 cents per month whether any light is used or not. "Many householders now being served by the Toronto Electric Light Co. do not burn 70 cents worth of light, especially during the summer months. It is difficult to see how they are going to receive any benefit from the municipal plant. "In fact, it is beginning to look as if the civic power scheme would be a great boon to large consumers of power and the wealthier class of householders who burn ten or fifteen dollars worth of light every month, but of no benefit whatever to the small consumer, contemptuously referred to as a "light miser." It was the votes of the "light misers" however, that made the carrying of the by-law possible."

Were Heading for Lindsay
 Three Hobos Boarded a Grand Trunk Train at Peterboro Saturday
 Review: This morning just as the 8.25 train for Lindsay had left the Grand Trunk station, three hobos jumped on to the front of the baggage car with the evident intention of getting a free ride. Their presence on the car was soon noticed by the trainmen, who stopped the train, but the young men jumped off and made for the junk yards on the west side. They were too slippery for their pursuers and after hiding in the back yard until the train pulled out again, hopped off on Charlotte street and made off in a westerly direction.

A Mixed Rate
 News Letter: Orillia will be interested in the proposed electric lighting rates which the city of Toronto proposes to charge when it gets its municipal plant running. At the present time, with a meter rate of 8 cents per kilowatt hour, counting meter rent, it costs $1.85 a month for six lights. Under the new arrangement a flat rate of 10 cents per light will be charged, to which will be added 3 cents per kilowatt and it is estimated that the cost per light will be twenty cents per month. This comes within two cents a month of being as cheap as Orillia lights. Orillia will watch this mixture of flat rate and meter and see how it works out.

Glass in Its Foot
 Mr. Wesley Johnson's fine roadster is laid up with a big piece of glass in its right foot. Mr. Johnson was driving in the country on Thursday afternoon, and the horse stepped on a piece of broken bottle which cut a deep gash in the horse's foot. Its driver knew nothing of the accident until the horse began to limp on the way home. At once Mr. Johnson got out and on examination found the piece of glass. Part of it he probed out at once, but some of it remained in until the horse arrived home. Then the cut was dressed and Mr. Johnson expects that his horse will be all right again in a few days.
