

The Style Subject

The value of good style in the clothes you select cannot be overestimated. To give clothes that certain touch of correctness which you are desirous of seeing in your garments, is distinctly a question of ability on the part of the maker of the clothes. The quality is largely a matter of honesty. We believe you will get what you pay for, in the matter of fabrics and linings, if you buy clothes of a reliable make; but if you want style combined with quality, it is a question of ability, not honesty. The makers of "20th Century" and "Progress Brand" garments have the ability, hence the style you always find in our clothing. Let us show you the splendid values we are offering at prices

HONOR THE HEROES

Colonel Merritt Would Have Monuments Commemorating 1812

Colonel W. Hamilton Merritt, for years commanding officer of the Governor-General's Body Guards in Toronto, is impressed with the example the United States capital holds out to Canadian cities in its manner of honoring national heroes. The city is decorated with beautiful works of sculpture at almost every turn, and many of these commemorate men distinguished in the military and naval history of the country. Colonel Merritt has summarized these as follows: 1812-15, 3; Mexican War, 1; Civil War, 10. "Why," he asks, "cannot Canada honor our heroes of 1812 by the erection of monuments to celebrate the centennial? And why are we afraid to call them 'victories'? The United States is not so considerate of others' feelings. Besides, it is due to our own self-respect."

FIVE CENTENARIANS

A Wonderful Old Lady Who Had 170 Living Descendants—Remarkable Longevity

At Leicesters Workhouse Infirmary the death has occurred of Mrs. Elizabeth Jarrom, in her 101st year. When the old lady celebrated her 100th birthday, on March 13th last, there were great rejoicings in the workhouse—a birthday party—and a birthday cake, which Mrs. Jarrom took great interest in cutting. She had a family of eleven children, of whom six survive, the eldest being a son of 72 years and the youngest 62. Her descendants include 48 grandchildren, 108 great-grandchildren, and eight great-great-grandchildren, making a total of 170. Mrs. Jarrom smoked a clay pipe regularly, and was the proud possessor of a handsome silver tobacco-box, presented to her by Dr. Ellis on the occasion of her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Kate Sykes Waters, who lived at Milton, Sittingbourne, with a son aged 82 and his wife aged 80, is dead at the age of 101. She could see, read and thread a needle without the aid of glasses.

Mrs. Clementine Edwards, Queensborough, passed away in her 101st year. She was the mother of eleven children, of whom only a daughter, who is in receipt of an old-age pension, survives. Except for being rather deaf, Mrs. Edwards retained the full possession of her faculties.

Few would dread the approach of old age if it came to all as gently and lightly as it has done to Mrs. Bacon, of Burghclere, Hampshire, whose hundredth birthday was marked by a letter of congratulation from the King. This wonderful old lady leads a life that many a man or woman thirty years her junior might envy. Each year she comes down to breakfast at 8.30, and fills her day reading the newspapers and writing to and receiving her many friends and relations. When it is fine she goes driving in a donkey-chaise. "I am not a very good walker now," she said, as she stepped out of the low carriage and went briskly to the house. At luncheon and dinner she sits at the head of her table and carves or helps the various dishes, and in the evening, when tired of reading—she wears no spectacles—she plays bezique or some other game till ten o'clock, when she goes to bed.

Mrs. Ann Speed, who celebrated her 101st birthday at the village of Helghington, near Lincoln, received letters of congratulation from all quarters of the globe. Almost every Friday morning Mrs. Speed carries her basket of eggs to market at Lincoln. She attends to her poultry her lot, and still backs her own bread.

WINNIPEG C.N.R. STATION

The Fine Structure Will Be Opened In July

The new station at Winnipeg which has been constructed by the Canadian Northern Railway at a cost of $1,500,000 for joint terminal occupation with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and other railways desiring these facilities is almost completed. This building is on the site of old Fort Garry which was the nucleus of Winnipeg. The new structure has been a year and a half under construction, and the cost has greatly exceeded the estimates. The main building is 350 by 140 feet in area, and is surmounted by a dome 190 feet in its greatest diameter, and 100 feet above the street level. In connection with it are eight elevated tracks with platforms of concrete, each 1,550 feet long, and capable of accommodating two trains of eleven coaches each. The approaches are covered subways to all platforms, and no person can cross the tracks.

CANADIAN TREE VALUES

Innumerable Wood Lots that Could be Made a Source of Mixed Trunk Supply

Within ten years the price of Canadian forest productions have in some cases doubled, and in some cases quadrupled, and, for those uses to which cement cannot be adapted and timber is necessary, the values are likely to go even higher. In ten years pine has trebled in price, elm quadrupled, and cedar more than doubled. Such timbers as walnut and hickory are becoming almost unknown.

The Ontario Legislature has given some considerable attention to the forestry problem, and a very interesting bill was passed at the recent session. It states that: The municipal council of a county may pass by-laws:

(a) For acquiring by purchase, lease or otherwise such lands designated in the by-law as the council may deem suitable for reforestation purposes;

(b) For planting land so acquired and for preserving and protecting the timber thereon;

(c) For the management of such lands and the sale or other disposal of the timber grown thereon;

(d) For the issuing of debentures from time to time for the purpose of providing for the purchase of such lands to an amount not exceeding $25,000 in any one year.

No by-law shall be finally passed under this Act until the same shall have been approved in writing of the Minister of Agriculture.

There are thousands of stony or sandy hillsides and thousands of creek banks now valueless that could be turned to profitable account in the growing of timber. There are innumerable wood lots that could be made a source of mixed timber supply. There are marshy locations in which cedar, elm and spruce could be well and profitably grown, and not only would these reserves form a source of future timber supply, but they would be a great aid in the regulation of our water supply systems.—Canadian Engineer.

AN ALPINE DRAMA

Little Girl Lost her Life in Trying to Save a Chamois

A pathetic little Alpine drama is reported from the village of Fernez, in the Canton of Grisons, where a nine-year-old girl, named Grouter, lost her life to save that of her little chamois. At Christmas the Greater family received a present of a baby chamois, and the animal was brought up and cared for by their only daughter. Two days ago the chamois escaped, and was followed by the young girl across the valley.

As the girl did not return, her parents and some friends organized a search. They first found the dead body of the chamois at the bottom of a precipice, and half-way down, the mangled body of the girl. She had apparently seen her pet fall over the precipice and tried to climb down after it.

PRECIOUS KEEPSAKE

Florinda:—"You can't keep a dog in your new flat?"

Florida:—"No; we had to give Fido away. But Frederick had his dear little bark put in our phonograph."

A FIGURE FREAK

Here is a little freak in figures which will interest you, and help you to entertain your friends:

Put down the number of your living brothers.
Double the number.
Add three.
Multiply result by five.
Add number of living sisters.
Multiply result by ten.
Add number of dead brothers and sisters.
Subtract 150 from result.

The right-hand figure in this total will be the number of deaths.

The middle figure will be the number of living sisters.

The left-hand figure will be the number of living brothers.

BIG RADIUM DEAL

Practically the Whole Output of the Trenwith Mines in Cornwall, England

One of the biggest deals on record in radium has just been carried out between the British Radium Corporation and a number of leading German scientists. The arrangement provides for practically the whole output of the Trenwith Mines in Cornwall, the total cost being put at $500,000 annually. Germans will thus establish practically a corner in British radium, and the success of several huge schemes of putting radium within popular reach the world over depended upon an assured unlimited supply. Among the plans proposed by the German scientists is one providing for the introduction of radium into various medicines and compounds, which are guaranteed to cure maladies like rheumatism, gout, sciatica, diabetes, heart weakness, etc. Then a "radium exhaler" is also promised. This is a machine which if placed in the centre of any room gives forth emanations which have the same effect on the clothed occupants of the room as if they had taken a journey to the radium baths at Johannsthal or Badgastein. The mud which is the refuse of pitchblende after radium has been extracted, is also to be treated and sold for "radio-baths." Radium saits, another invention, have universal use. For example, a piece the size of a pin's head, placed on electric light switches, keyholes, etc., will in darkness, indicate their location; while the same principle is also to be applied to ship's compasses, thus dispensing with artificial light. When the scientists' plans have matured, an extensive campaign is to be prosecuted in the United States for the wider use of radium compounds. The result of new processes will be the more rapid consumption of radium, which will eventually be as easily obtainable as pills.

FARM HELP SCARCE

This Will Be a Great Year for Unskilled Labor

There are farmers in Toronto from as far distant as two hundred miles trying to get help from among the immigrants who are daily reaching the city. One of these, who has been in the city over a week, said: "It is almost impossible to get a farm hand." The Dominion officials are simply besieged with applications from farmers, as many as seventy-five calling upon them daily. An Ontario farmer of thirty years' standing, when asked about the labor supply said: "There doesn't seem to be a farm hand in Ontario. Thirty years ago, when we had to 'dig out' and find our own men, we had less difficulty than to-day, when the Government sends us help when it can, right to our door, and without cost to us." Mr. H. Burgoyne, who supplies large numbers of laborers to the railroad construction companies, said: "I have already instructions to get seven hundred men for construction work in Ontario alone on the C.N.R. new line to Peterboro' and the C.N.R. through Trenton to Ottawa. It will be a record year for unskilled labor, and Ontario will need a lot more help before the year is out." The labor bureaus are busy as beehives, fresh settlers pouring in all day, waiting for a few hours, then being engaged, and departing for their various jobs.

STRINGENT AUTO LAW

Manitoba's New Code Regulating the Running of Motor Cars

The amendments proposed in the automobile law of Manitoba are fairly drastic. In place of the present license fee of $5 the future license will be based upon horse-power, the $5 remaining for all vehicles of twenty-five horse-power or less; between 25 and 35 h.p. the fee is fixed at $10; from 35 to 50 h.p. $15; and 50 h.p. and above $25. To secure a chauffeur's license the applicant must be twenty-one years of age and supply proof that he has passed a satisfactory examination. In case of accident full responsibility is cast upon the owner although he may not be the driver. Stringent provisions deal with joy riders and tampering with autos without the consent of owners. No engine is to be left in motion while standing on the highway. Chains and metals are only to be used on tires when there is ice or snow or the pavements are slippery. Drivers must slow down when passing street cars letting off passengers, and must also slow down to six miles per hour at cross roads in the country.

THE WRONG SORT

R-r-ring! r-r-ring! went one of the bells in the hotel kitchen. Jumping up, the waiter noted that the alarm came from the room occupied by Farmer Giles, who had come to town to see the sights.

"Is it a fire or murder?" he cried, bursting into the farmer's room.

"Eh, what?" replied the agriculturist.

"What are you ringing for?"

"I ain't ringing," he replied, "but I've lost my collar stud, an' I'm tryin' to find this little 'un out o' the wall!"

WOLVES IN FRANCE

There are still wolves in France. A bonus of $10 per head is paid by the State for an adult wolf, and $2.50 for cubs weighing less than 19 lbs. When it can be proved that the wolf has attacked human beings the slayer receives a special bonus of $20. Last year the number of wolves killed was sixty-eight.

An Invaluable Medicine

Mrs. W. Arnold Edmonton, Alta., writes:—"Kindly send me a box of Babies Own Tablets. They have been invaluable to me and I really do not know how I ever would have got along without them. Baby was poorly; his digestion was bad and he was constipated. I gave him the tablets and they made a fine healthy boy of him. Now, whenever he is cross or troubled with constipation I always give him the tablets and they relieve him right away. I tried a lot of other medicine but nothing seemed to agree with him till I got the tablets. I would not be without them." The testimony of Mrs. Arnold is that of thousands of other mothers. Everyone who ever uses Babies Own Tablets hark words of praise for them. The tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.
