GRADUATING RECITAL AT THE CONVENT OF MISS MARY LONERGAN, PIANISTE

Another brilliant young music pupil has gone forth from St. Joseph's Academy to make a name for herself as a pianist, and incidentally to add to the already splendid reputation achieved by the local educational institution.

Last evening at the Academy, Miss Mary Lonergan, held her graduating recital, in which she was assisted by Miss Kathleen Bruce, soprano, and a clever music pupil of the convent.

The programme rendered by Miss Lonergan will also be rendered by that young lady at Toronto College of Music on the occasion of her examination on May 7th.

The programme is as follows:—
Bach—Prelude and Fugue in B flat—piano.
Beethoven—Sonata Op. 27 No. 1—vocal.
Neumann—The Fairy's Lullaby—vocal.
Chopin—Nocturne Op. 37, No. 2.
Tchaikowsky—Romance Op. 5, No. 2—piano.
Spelthorpe—Gavotte Op. 4 No. 2.
Liszt—Rhapsodie No. 6.
Bailey—Life's Merry Morn—vocal.
Beethoven—Concerto Op. 37—piano.
Allegro, Con f.

Mrs. Jackson, President (Mrs. P. J. McDonald).
Mrs. T. Thomson (a close woman).
Mrs. H. Sanderson.
Mrs. Addison (an inquisitor woman).
Miss M. Mosgrove.
Mrs. Lewis (The Minister's Wife).
Miss N. Smith.
Mrs. Henry (a Giddy Young woman fond of reading) Miss F. Morrison.
Mrs. Atis (Mrs. A. D. MacLean).
Dinner of Committee.
Mrs. Brett (Mrs. M. McArthur).
Dinner Committee.
Mrs. Drew—a young married woman—(Miss M. Harper).
Mrs. Brown—a church worker (Mrs. H. D. Melnis).
Mrs. Ridgley—a woman who is having a hard time with washing. (Miss Aldi McDonald).
Mrs. Lawson—a careless dame. (Mrs. Harper).
These ladies have met together to arrange and make things for their fair.

Those who attended enjoyed the play including the numerous jokes on the town people.

The ladies deserve credit of the excellent way in which they took their parts. Proceeds amounted to $25.00.

Love And $10 Got His Bride

In March 1912, Harold Clarkson, en route to Peterboro, met a 16 year old girl aboard the S. S. Teutonic. The goddess of fate "Lachesis" spun a web twining their young and ardent hearts in one. The girl went with her father to Toronto where the latter started a boarding house. Later on, the promptings of a heart, whose aortic valve throbbled to the rhythm of a sundered love wanting its mate, prompted the girl to write such letters to Clarkson in Peterboro, that any stamps lost from her epistles were due to combustion. Clarkson went to Toronto and rejoined his love. All went merry as a wedding bell until the girl was in trouble. Then it was for Harold, either matrimony or the paternal trogans applied to the north-end of his anatomy. Harold chose the mystic link that binds two souls as one.

After a time, coolness crept in, and once again the No 11s were in evidence and Harold swept into the outer world. The young wife appealed for funds in her dilemma to him who had endowed her "with all his worldly goods."

It seems, in Toronto police court, that Harold looked at his endowment of worldly goods as LOVE and $10 paid by him since marriage ceremony. Harold also, magnanimously offered to pay back to the wife money he had got from her. The result seems to have been a drawn battle, as Harold went one way and his girl bride another.

CLEAN UP YOUR YARDS AND LAWNS A CLEAN TOWN IS A GOOD AD

Today the Board of Works has a number of men engaged cleaning up the market square, and space around the town buildings. The example set by the council could well be followed by some of our citizens.

Theoretically, cleaning life should extend from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31. Dirt should never be allowed to accumulate. Every day should be a cleaning day. But that is not practicable. So the careful housekeeper has her periodic cleaning times. And the greatest of these is in the spring months, after winter ice has gone, and a milder air and a sunnier sky leave no excuse for storm doors and double windows. During the winter nature covers all impurities with a snow white veil; but as springtime melts the veil away the foul spots are all revealed. Ash heaps and garbage heaps stand out in all their ugliness. Not only unsightly, but unhealthy, for as dirt accumulates germs develop, and diseases follow.

The health department of the city will send around its inspectors in a few days. Be ready for them. Clean up the house, and do not confine the cleaning to the living rooms. Turn the light into the cellars and closets, and follow with the broom and scrubbing brush. Empty the drawers and boxes; destroy all that is useless. If you find some things that are no longer useful to you, remember that there are people not far from you whose needs are greater than yours. What is useless to forget the back yard. The lawn you will look after without any prompting, because every passerby can see it. But only your nearest neighbors see the back yard. Gather up the rubbish; bury in the kindly earth everything that can fertilize it. Let the garbage collector carry off all that remains on the surface.

Every few weeks someone starts a call to "swat the fly," because hygienists tell us he is not only a nuisance but a carrier of disease. It should not be necessary to point this little familiar insect for its own faults. Banish the filth, and then there will be no trouble about the flies. They increase and multiply simply because we provide them with breeding ground and food. In fact the fly is a useful fellow in a way. He is nature's garbage collector. Where filth exists he sends the flies to get rid of it, and the more filth the more flies. It is not the fly's fault that in trying to dispose of your garbage for you, he occasionally carries disease along with him. Keep clean, and he will no longer be seen, for there will be no place for him to live.

Keep clean, and your house will look prettier and smell sweeter, and be a better place to live in. Keep clean, and your cellar and cupboards and back yards will not be the ease producers. Keep clean, and you will have healthier bodies and happier homes.

In conclusion, clean up.
