REDMOND McGRATH MAY NOT RECOVER
ASSAULT IS SHROUDED IN MYSTERY

The mysterious accident which befell Mr. and Mrs. Redmond McGrath, of Port Arthur, and formerly of Lindsay, still awaits a solution. The Provincial police who are working on the case, are completely baffled, and can throw little or no light on the brutal outrage. It has been concluded, however, that the victims were struck down with a knife, and not with an axe, as was at first supposed. Mr. and Mrs. Redmond McGrath, who were residents of Lindsay until three or four years ago, were found on Monday, April 21st, lying unconscious in bed, with the dead body of their eighteen months old infant beside them. The infant bore evidences of having been slashed with a knife, while the parents were seriously injured about the head. The injured couple, who were discovered by Mr. J. McGrath, senior, were removed to the hospital. The hospital authorities have little hope of the man's recovery. He received frightful injuries about the face and head, necessitating the use of a plaster of Paris cast to hold his face together. Both the cheek bone and nose were broken, in addition to other severe injuries about the head.

Mrs. Redmond McGrath is progressing slowly. Her injuries consist of severe cuts on the head, eyes blackened and one finger almost severed. She has regained consciousness, but does not know that the infant son, Kenneth, is dead.

Mrs. John Birdgenaw, of Peterborough, mother of the injured woman, and Daniel Birdgenaw, a brother, left for Port Arthur. Mr. J. N. Birdgenaw, another brother of the injured woman, has received a letter from Port Arthur, containing particulars of the tragedy.

ENGLEHART SWEEP BY BAD FIRE
MIDLAND ALSO HAD SERIOUS BLAZE

NORTH BAY, May 5.—Englehart, divisional point on the T. & N. O. Railway, was visited by a disastrous fire which started early yesterday morning in Holditch's bakery, wiped out a large business block, several residences and other smaller buildings. A man named Comstock was severely injured by falling from the roof of the T. & N. O. Railway station while fighting the fire.

Not a building stands to mark the busiest section of the town. It was with difficulty that the large King Edward Hotel was saved, and although it was on fire many times volunteer firemen assisted greatly. Had it caught fire during the conflagration what little of the section of the town that was left would to-day also be in ashes.

The loss is conservatively estimated at $125,000, with less than $50,000 insurance to cover this. In all twenty-two buildings fell a prey to the flames, including some thirty stores, and today the town is without a single grocery store, a butcher shop, bakery or drug store, and it is necessary to send out to other towns in the district for the daily necessities of life.

The Government railway buildings escaped damaged, but the following places were burned: Jameson Meat Co. store at Wonderland Moving Picture House, J. Clark's general store, Loftus Restaurant, Union Bank, Durack's barber shop and pool room, Hughes stationery store, postoffice, Dr. Lowery's drug store and residence, McGladey Bros. hardware store, Herman's tailor shop, O'Grady's store, Rubenstein's fruit and ice cream parlor, Chinese laundry, Dr. Reid's office, Kerran's grocery, City Meat Market, Holditch's bakery, Metcalfe's jewelry store, Verliek's grocery, Englehart News printing office, Leblanc's residence, and other small buildings.

The fire is a hard blow to the town, as most of the business section is in ashes. There were no facilities to cope with such an extensive conflagration once it had a good start, and the flames speedily licked up the frame buildings in its path, and nothing could be done except to try to prevent the spread of the fire, as the entire town was threatened with destruction. Insurance will not begin to cover the losses.

The water for fire purposes supplied by the railway gave out about an hour after the fire started, owing to a break, and the town's fire engine was placed on the station platform, and several T. & N. O. engines made runs to and from the water tank, and on returning the town hose would be supplied from the tender tanks of the steam engines. In this manner enough water supply was secured to save what little of the town is left to-day.

North Sydney Devastated.
NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., May 5.—The entire business block of North Sydney, bounded at one end by the marine railway and at the other by Archibald avenue, was destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. Every principal business house in the town is gone except the large department store of Voochit Bros. and buildings of the Royal and Nova Scotia Banks. The loss is estimated at a quarter of a million dollars. One life was lost, that of Percy Sayer, who man-ged the nickel theatre.

Horses and Rigs Burned.
MIDLAND, May 5.—Fire broke out in a frame livery barn here early Saturday morning and burned it to the ground. The building contained five horses, harness and rigs. The fire had gained such headway when discovered that nothing could be saved, and the horses perished with the other contents. A strong wind was blowing, and large live cinders were carried for several blocks, one alighting on the roof of the jail, two blocks away, which was damaged to some extent. A barber shop on one side of the burning building and a livery barn on the other side took fire, but the fires were extinguished before any damage was done. The loss is partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Gasoline Explodes, Boy Burned.
NORTH BAY, May 5.—Sherwin's boat works and carriage shop was destroyed by fire last night. The fire was caused by an explosion of gasoline, supposedly from boys smoking in a motor boat lying outside the building. A boy named Robinson, son of a local contractor, was so badly burned that he may die. The loss is about $3,000, partly covered by insurance.

WEDDING BELLS
McRAE—GRAHAM

A very pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, April 22nd, at "The Portage," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Graham, Longford Mills, when their daughter, Eva M., was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Walter Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McRae, of Longford Mills. At one-thirty o'clock the bride, beautifully gowned in cream taffeta cloth, with corsage bouquet of cream roses, entered the parlor leaning on her father's arm, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Nina, sister of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Mackersie, B. D., in the presence of only immediate friends and neighbors. After congratulations were received, all partook of a dainty repast, after which Mr. and Mrs. McRae left on the four o'clock train for Toronto, Buffalo and Pittsburg, Pa. The bride travelled in a navy blue tailor made suit, with hat to match. On their return they will reside in Longford Mills, Ontario.

MISS HAZEL COAD IS RECOVERING

Although she is still in an unconscious condition reports from Parkdale Hospital Wednesday afternoon, indicate that there is every hope that Miss Hazel Coad, one of the victims Wednesday there has been a slow, College street, Toronto, will recover. The hospital authorities state since that evening there has been a slow, but steady improvement.

Mrs. Britnell whose husband was killed is improving and so is Mr. E. Britnell, another of the injured.

The inquest on Albert E. Britnell was opened Wednesday afternoon at the morgue at five o'clock by Coroner Dr. Graham. After the jury had viewed the remains the inquest was adjourned to May 7th at 8 p. m., when the motorman and conductor of the car that caused the accident will be summoned, together with any of the passengers in the fatal automobile, who may be fit to appear by that date.

Today's Toronto Globe contains the following which does not agree with the above information:—Miss Hazel Coad, who was injured in the automobile accident of Monday evening, lies in the Parkdale Hospital in a serious condition. She has been unconscious since she entered the hospital.

WORKING OUT THE METER RATES

Orillia News Letter: A large number of electric light users have asked for an explanation of what a kilowatt hour means, and in this memorandum we have tried to do away with technical language as much as possible.

While the comparisons and definitions may not be absolutely correct in detail from an expert standpoint, the main idea will be found correct. We have attempted to explain the meaning of some electrical terms by a comparison with water which may be measured by such well known instruments as the gallon measure and the pound weight, etc., while electricity must of necessity be measured with special appliances.

An "ampere" is the commercial unit of quantity of electricity passing along the wires. This may be compared to the number of gallons of water passing through a pipe.

A "volt" is the unit of pressure at which the current is carried. In the same way we express the pressure used in water pipes as at so many pounds per square inch.

In finding out the horse power required to pump water the quantity is first multiplied by the pressure, and the calculation is then based on that result. It would take twice as much power to pump 100 gallons per second under 20 lbs. pressure as for the same quantity under 10 lbs. pressure.

In measuring electricity the amperes (quantity) are multiplied by the volts (pressure) and the result is called "watts." 1000 watts is a kilowatt, or K. W., and this amount of power used for one hour is called a "kilowatt hour."

A horse power is reckoned as 738 Watts or roughly speaking three-quarters of a K. W. Example — a good 16 c. p. carbon lamp at 112 volts uses about 45-100 of an ampere of current. To express this in Watts, multiply 45-100 amperes by 112 volts, equal 50 Watts. Twenty of these lamps would, therefore, be 50 Watts x 20 lamps, equals 1000 Watts or 1 K. W. These 20 lamps used for one hour would be one K. W. hour, for which the meter rate is 5c. One lamp used 20 hours would be the same thing.

MEN STRUCK FOR HIGHER WAGES

Saturday afternoon, Supt. Hammond had a strike on his hands, which, however, did not develop into anything serious.

The staff of men employed in digging the main in front of Britton's jewellery store informed the Supt. that they felt $2.00 a day was not sufficient for the work they were doing. They thought they should receive $2.25 or $2.50, and sharpen their own picks. After a brief conference the men quit, but the Supt. informed them that they would not block the work in the least, as he could double the staff by Monday morning.

This morning all the strikers with the exception of three were back on the job, besides six new men who had been engaged by Mr. Hammond.

DUTIES OF CORONERS AND MAGISTRATES

The police magistrates of the province in the future will be subject to a more strict scrutiny on the part of the government and shall, by a provision to the Statute Law Amendment Act, which is now under preparation, be required to give a careful account of their duties. An annual return of the fees collected, the number and nature of all offences tried, the amount of the fines and the names of the parties who paid in these instances, will be asked in order to facilitate a more extensive plan of bookkeeping in the department. Another important change in the same connection comes through a section which increases the authority of coroners in time of accident by giving them control over all wreckage from which death has resulted. The destruction of buildings by collapse, the wrecks of trains, bridges or accidents of any such nature are all included under this clause.

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT'S PANIC

What is it that has thrown the Ontario Government into such a panic and has led them to adopt such a suicidal course in the Proudfoot investigation? What are the facts which they feel must be concealed at all costs?

First, there was the bare-faced refusal to admit essential evidences, a process of blocking admitted and deplored by such Conservative papers as the Toronto Telegram, Ottawa Citizen and Montreal Gazette. Now follows the ridiculously apparent expedient of dragging a herring across the trail.

The Government's one cry is "Masonville." On this man is being heaped the whole blame, and Wallace Nesbitt, counsel for Sir James and Hon. Mr. Hanna, openly declared in his summing up that Mr. Masonville was Mr. Proudfoot's informant. Mr. Proudfoot quickly disposed of this mis-statement by announcing that he had only met Masonville a few times several years ago when the latter was Secretary to Hon. Dr. Reaume. He had had no communication with him of any kind.

As is apparent to anyone who examines the question, Masonville has nothing to do with the charges under investigation. It was not he who wrote the letter telling of the accusations against Hon. W. J. Hanna. He simply received a letter from L. E. C. Thorne, who was a protégé of Mr. Hanna, and who was the Minister's adviser and arbitrator. It was this Thorne who told of the charges and of certain incidents which the majority of the Committee refused to investigate.

Summer Schools

For courses in all Business subjects leading to positions as Bookkeepers or Stenographers and for Civil Service and Commercial Specialists' examinations will be conducted in Shaw's Schools, Toronto. (The Central Business College with four city Branch Schools) from July 3rd to August 16th this year. Students may enter any time for general courses. No vacations. Write W. H. Shaw, President, for catalog. 391 Yonge-st., Toronto.

The Government machine has blundered again. Not content with letting the public see the obvious and smooth-working of an organized and equipped steam-roller, they must go further in exposing themselves and by turning the discussion to an entirely irrelevant point, try to hush up the real subjects under investigation.

There are definite rumors about that more sensations in the case may be expected and the Government's worry and anxiety seems to have good grounds for existence.

Mr. Hartley Dewar's statement in his open letter to Wallace Nesbitt reminding him that he had suggested a settlement of the case on Tuesday afternoon, (and that Mr. Dewar, or his client Mr. Proudfoot, had rejected the suggestion of settlement will require a lot of explaining on the part of the Government.
