Ross Protested His Innocence

North Bay, June 22.—Walter Ross, who was found guilty of the murder of Percy Parkinson, his prospector chum and partner, at Ramore, Temiskaming district, last December, died on the scaffold yesterday morning at seven o'clock.
Protesting his innocence of wilful murder to the last, and walking unassisted, he met his fate with a smile on his face.
His neck was broken by the fall, but on account of his strong constitution, his heart continued to beat for 13 1/2 minutes.
The usual throng of morbid curiosity-seekers were present about the outside of the jail, and several men were noticed perched at the top of telegraph poles commanding a view of the jail yard.
The hangman, who gives his name as Arthur Ellis, arrived Saturday morning, and goes about his gruesome work quietly, avoiding publicity. He professes to have had considerable experience with the rope both in the United States and Canada, and states that he leaves nothing to chance and performs his duty with all regard to humane procedure and the feelings of his victim. Ellis goes from here to Peterboro, where he will hang Henderson.

Street Paving In Peterboro

Peterboro Times.—The city board Works last night discussed the ways and means of paying for street paving and are taking this question up with a view to an early incipency of such work. Three methods of meeting this expenditure were discussed as follows: On the same basis as sidewalks—ratepayers benefitted 60 and city 48 percent; by general tax; or on a frontage tax of 75 percent as against 25 percent by the public at large. It was generally conceded that pavements were a crying need and the solicitor offered that they would save the city in interest over and over again.

WITH THE SOLDIER BOYS AT BARRIEFIELD COMMONS

Notes From Post's War Correspondent

—ingston, June 21st.
Yesterday afternoon Barriefield camp through some of its warlike appearances and assumed a peaceful characteristic, when it was invaded by many of Kingston's best known people who paid their respects to Col. Hughes and his gallant staff. Instead of the visitors being received by a sentry with bayonets fixed and with shot and shell, soldiers were delighted to see the enemy and made them welcome. The occasion for the peaceful invasion, was that Colonel Hughes and his staff were 'at home' to their many friends in the city. Kingston's best known people were out in full force.

The weather was delightful for an event of this kind and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly. The soldiers proved to be past masters in the art of entertaining, and were soon busy in passing dainties and other refreshments. Col. Hughes and staff received, and although some of the officers wives assisted in pouring coffee and dispensing lemonade, it was purely a soldier's party.
The bands of the 95th Regiment, and the pipers of the 59th Glengarry and Stormont Regiment supplied the music during the afternoon. Both bands were highly complimented for the splendid music supplied. After paying their respects to the officers and enjoying some of the good things provided, a number of the ladies went down the line under the guidance of some of the officers and were shown how the men sleep, how their meals are prepared, and how they are looked after when they are sick. The way the members of the Army Service Corps bake the bread was something new for the ladies. The garden party was very much enjoyed. PRAISE FOR THE CMP.

The weather has been quite good to the soldiers. On the two opening days of the camp there was heavy rain, but since that time the weather has been warm and dry. A little of the warmth might be dispensed with, as it has been a source of inconvenience to the most of the soldiers. The men, however, seem to be getting acclimatized, and there were no reports of heat prostrations yesterday. Those who visited the camp on Sunday and yesterday were greatly impressed with the neatness and general order which prevails. A walk through the lines, even at the rear, where the cook houses are and where works never seem to be finished, shows everything in ship-shape order, and tidiness seems to be the watch-word throughout the camp. The army service corps are perhaps the most attractive, because the members of that unit take great pains in labelling the different parts of their lines with letters and words arranged with whitened stones. They also keep all things in the way of paper and straw picked up. The whole camp however, is so well ordered that invidious mention or comparison would be out of order.
The camp commander, Colonel Hughes, does not make the ceremonies the chief feature of the camp, and while there is a certain amount of dignity exchanged between the men and officers, the main feature of the camp seems to be practical work. Already there has been a lot of work done along the lines of outpost duty, attack and defense, and penetrating the enemy's lines. Instead of the fight between the red and the blue forces being left till the last day of camp, these forces have "scrapped" several times and have made it up again without any hard feeling.

Archbishop McEvey Seriously Ill

Friends Alarmed Over Illness of Head of Toronto Archdiocese

Detroit, June 21.—It is learned today in a message from Mount Clemes that Archbishop McEvey of Toronto, who is an ex-resident of Lindsay, who arrived at the baths three weeks ago, is seriously ill. Since becoming the head of the archdiocese of Toronto a year ago his Grace has been straining his strength in the effort to realize certain improvements and extensions in the work of the church. He has overtaxed himself, and is said to be suffering from an organic trouble believed to be diabetes. Since coming to the baths three weeks ago his condition has shown no improvement rather the contrary, and his health today is causing much uneasiness.

REPORT EXAGGERATED

The Post received a message late this afternoon denying the rumors of the archbishop's serious illness. He is much improved in health and highly cheerful and expects to soon resume his duties in Toronto.

GOODERHAM

(Special to The Post)
The Post's representative had occasion to visit Gooderham last week and was surprised at the appearance and general condition of thrift of that northern village. It is situated on the Burnt River waters and Pine Lake, which is one of the many reservoirs of the Trent Valley Canal, and is the headquarters of Mr. John Pearson, the superintendent of that branch of the waters. Mr. Pearson has a comfortable office fronting the lake. The dam at Gooderham provides a twenty-three foot head, and the power is utilized by a Mrs. Hunter. The mill converts a vast quantity of forest products into all kinds of mercantable lumber and is a great boon to the district. Mr. E. Peacock is the proprietor of the only hotel in the village, which is one of the best equipped hotels in the north. The hotel is supplied by a system of waterworks fed from the dam and has its own gas plant, and furnishes meals that a hungry man appreciates. There are three general stores, a blacksmith shop, and all that goes to make a prosperous village.
