Stony Lake, July 20.—In assisting the lockmaster at Young Point on Saturday evening to lock through Mr. A. L. Davis' launch, the "Nancy" Mr. "Dick" Holman was badly injured. Mr. "Dick" Holman was on the launch when the sudden fling back of the lever that opens and closes the valves of the gate, Mr. Holman is engineer on the "Nancy" which was on a voyage up the lake. His face was severely cut by the force of the iron lever, his nose being broken as well as the rest of his face being disfigured. Funny Accident No Broken Bones

How Two Bikers Tried to Pass on the Same Track and Failed

A peculiar accident took place Monday afternoon on the Lindsay-Atterbury bridge. Mr. Jesse Perrin was coming over the bridge on his wheel from the east ward and Mr. Jos. McConnell was coming down the big hill on his machine, and both tried to pass a rig on the same side. The space was too narrow, however, to allow this and the result was that a collision occurred. Both gentlemen were thrown off and sent sprawling in the dust. They took the tumble good naturedly and brushed the dirt off with a laugh.

Interesting Features of Tercentenary Stamp

There are some interesting features in connection with the Tercentenary issue of Canadian stamps which may not be generally known. For instance one of them—the fifteen cent stamp—depicts Champlain's departure for the West. It is entitled "Partement pour l'Ouest," and the use of the now obsolete French word "partement" is significant. The scene has been designed from Champlain's own words. In his account of the third voyage he says: "With our canoes laden with provisions, our arms, and some merchandise to be given as presents for the Indians, I started on Monday, May 28th, from the Ile of Sainte Helaine, accompanied by four Frenchmen and one Indian. A salute was given in my honor from some small pieces of artillery."

The same note of old French is also to be found in the inscription on the five cent stamp, entitled "Habitation de Quebec." This is Champlain's old house, the first house built by Frenchmen in Canada, and the cut has been made from his own drawing in his own book. All the portraits and scenes depicted on these stamps were personally chosen by the Postmaster-General, the Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux, who has received congratulations from all quarters on the artistic taste displayed.

A popular idea used to prevail that all teas were pretty much alike, but "Salada" Tea is proving a pleasant surprise to thousands of particular tea-drinkers. Sold by grocers everywhere.—59.

Steamboat Traffic Is Not Good

On the Otonabee River this Year—Business Not Up to the Mark
The Peterboro Review says:—It is stated that steamboat traffic on the Otonabee has not up to the present time been equal to that for the same period last year. This statement is made by one who is in position to know whereof he speaks. Just what is the cause of the slight slump is not clear and there is a probability that the traffic will pick up sufficiently during the remainder of the season to make the year as good as last year, but this of course, remains to be seen. While the steamboat traffic is less the number of small craft on the river is larger this year than ever before. This is especially true of gasoline launches, which are very numerous this season.

Hired a Horse to Elope with

A Northumberland Man Who Forgot to Return the Animal
The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says:—Before Judge Ketchum on Wednesday Frank Hickerson of Wooler, was acquitted on a charge of the theft of a horse and rig. It appears that Hickerson had engaged the horse and rig to go and vote. This happened some time ago. But he had other business in view besides voting and after performing that duty he eloped with a married woman, taking along her two children, and also neglected to return the horse and rig, hence the action for theft. The woman in this interesting case has returned to her husband.

Had Hard Luck in Peterboro

Two Girls Lost Horse through Death and had Unpleasant Experience
On Sunday morning five young ladies of this town stole quietly out of town about half past five bound for Peterboro. They jogged along at a good pace for a while and then noticed that their steed was becoming tired. About half past twelve they arrived at the electric city but their horse was very ill. A doctor was called but the horse was passed away and he soon died. The girls were now up against it, but they had their horse buried and then looked around for another to bring them home. They managed to secure another horse and yesterday afternoon after bidding good-bye to their friends they started for home. They arrived at a local livery stable about seven o'clock p. m.

Ready for the Dollar

Marjorie, aged nine had not been having very satisfactory results from school. Her father finally said, "Marjorie, for the first hundred you get I'll give you a dollar." Time went on and the reward could not be claimed. One day the child was taken violently ill. Her mother sent for the doctor. When he had gone, Marjorie said, "Mama am I very ill?" "No, dear; your temperature is a little over a hundred, but the doctor thinks you will be all right in a day or so." Smiles broke through Marjorie's tears. "Now, mama I can have my dollar. Papa said he would give it to me I could get a hundred in anything." — The August Delinquent.
