Bad Bank Bills in Circulation

Many have been Worked Off on Toronto Store Keepers

Counterfeit ten-dollar bills of the Standard Bank of Canada have been very freely circulated the past few days in Toronto, and already about a dozen of them have found their way to the detective's office there. The bills have been turned into the stores on Queen-st. west, where they were given in payment for small purchases by a young man who is busy passing them on unsuspecting citizens. While the police say they are very poor imitations of the genuine bill, no storekeeper has yet been found who has detected the bills and refused to take them. The counterfeit bills are all prints, are dated May 1, 1901, and are numbered either 160023, 21345 or 31024. An effort is being made by Detective Moffatt to trace some of the bad money into the hands of the counterfeiters, who are believed to be making the notes somewhere in the vicinity of the city. The Standard Bank officials are also co-operating with the police in the attempts made to stop the circulation of the bad money and to arrest the counterfeiters.

Purser Deyell Narrowly Escapes

Result of a Collision on Shore with an Innocent Rubberneck

Wednesday evening as the Esturion landed at Sturgeon Point Purser Deyell narrowly escaped falling between the steamer and the wharf, and getting a wetting as well as being injured by the huge hull. Just as Jack went to leap ashore with the gang plank, a sturdy young man of Point fame, who was not looking about him, got in the way, preventing him from getting a firm footing. The purser's foot slipped, but as he fell he managed to grasp the fence, and save himself from going beneath the waves.

Kindly Commendations by Our Old Readers

An Old Reader for Forty-seven Years has Always Found it Interesting

Below will be found a letter which is but one of many of a similar character which are being received every week by The Post. On our list are many subscribers not only in the vicinity of Lindsay, but in all parts of the United States and various distant points in Canada who have been reading this paper for from forty to fifty years and all of them have but the kindest words to say of it. This is the clearest proof of what fifty years of clean journalism will do for a paper. At no time has The Post pandered to the lower elements in the community, but it has ever striven for the higher and better things in life. It is a source of great satisfaction, therefore, when we receive such words of commendation from our readers. Mr. Andrew Walker of Seattle, Wash., in remitting the amount of his subscription says: Dear Old Post, - I subscribed for your paper about the 15th of June, 1861, and have been reading your weekly ever since, always seeing something that I feel an interest in. However, after forty-seven years have passed away and many of my old friends have gone as well, wishing you as much success in continuing to serve the public as you have all along done, I bid you an affectionate Good-by. Wife Ready Little Dorothy could not have paid her father a higher compliment, or better expressed her love for him than when she said: "Papa, I would like to tell you something if you won't tell mama." "Why don't you want mama to know it, daughter?" "Well, you tell her things I say, and she laughs at them, and I don't want her to know this." "Let papa hear what you have to say, anyhow." "Well, I have often thought that if mama died I would like to marry you." - The August Delineator.

Scarlet Fever Among Horses

It is Now Prevalent Throughout the Country

Reports come from various parts of the province to the effect that scarlet fever is prevalent among horses. Speaking to Dr. Broad regarding the matter a Post reporter was informed that the local doctors had had a few cases of something similar, but only an odd case once in a while. He said he would call the disease influenza or distemper. "This is our easy season," said the doctor, "When the farmers are busy we are slack of work." When asked if the heat brought on this distemper, Dr. Broad said it had a good deal to do with it. A farmer should take good care of his horses in the summer and not work them too hard. Some farmers work their horses to death and then do not feed them half enough. It was no wonder they had distemper.

Black Bear Shot Near Gull River

Nelson Windover Makes a Killing on the 3rd of July

A large black bear was shot by Nelson Windover near Gull Lake last Friday. Bruin was an unusually big fellow and if he had been fat would have weighed at least 400 pounds. Mr. Windover was somewhat surprised to see two black bears on the rocks near his home and securing his rifle he gave pursuit. The bears made off when they saw a man approaching, and one of them escaped into the woods. Mr. Windover however, overtook the other one and brought it down with his rifle. It is not often even in the north country that bears approach so near to the habitation of man.
