OBITUARY

MRS. MARGARET BROWN

Review: One of Peterboro's residents passed away this morning in the person of Mrs. Margaret Brown, 525 George-st., (and sister of Bradshaw, of Lindsay). Her illness, though of short duration, was really one of long standing. She had been failing for a number of months and passed away surrounded by family and relatives, after a long and comfortable state of coma for several thirty hours.

DR. VROOMAN CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE SOME SURPRISES AT THE CONVENTION

The Convention of the Liberal Conservative Association in the Academy of Music, on Saturday, was somewhat of a surprise party.

The Convention was called for the purpose of nominating a candidate to contest the riding at the forthcoming Provincial election. There was a good attendance, the fact of the Convention being held on Saturday, attracting a goodly portion of the audience.

The Convention unanimously nominated Dr. Vrooman as the standard bearer of the party. This came in the nature of a bolt from the blue, for there were delegates present who were pledged to support other aspirants for the nomination. True Dr. Wood had previously refused to accept the nomination, still there were a goodly number of his friends present who were going to press his candidature.

Mr. G. A. Jordan, whose name had been freely mentioned in connection with the candidature, also announced he was not a candidate. Other gentlemen who were nominated and who withdrew were: Reeve Hawkins, of Ops, Jas. Boxall, John Carew and Reeve Steele, of Eton.

The enthusiasm displayed at the convention was not of a nature to prostrate any one-in fact it was about as tame as a convention of deafmutes. There was no ginger in the applause. Of course the humidity of the weather may have had a great deal to do with the condition in evidence during the meeting.

A feature of the meeting was the many tributes paid by the different speakers to Mr. O. E. Weeks, the Liberal candidate.

Mr. John Carew occupied the chair and seated on the platform were Mr. Hanna, Provincial Secretary; W. A. Hoyle, M. P. P., Cannington, G. H. Hopkins, K. C., Dr. Mason, M. P. P., Dr. Wood, I. E. Weldon, G. A. Jordan, Dr. Vrooman, Dr. Galloway, of Woodville, and Wm. Warren.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The following officers were elected during the afternoon: President--Wm. Channon. First Vice Pres.--John Carew. Second Vice Pres.--Dr. Wood. Sec. Treas.--Wm. Warren.

The following were elected chairmen of the different districts: Lindsay--R. Naylor. Woodville--Dr. Galloway. Eldon--Mr. McGiff. Carden--J. J. Wood.

Dafton--R. Montgomery. Mariposa--C. King, North Division and W. Gibson South division.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

Messrs G.H. Hopkins and J. Carw submitted a resolution expressive of the regret of the Conservatives of the riding, in the death of the late S. J. Fox.

Dr. Wood and James Boxall fathered a resolution exalting Sir James Whitney and the Government, giving them credit for everything except the recent dry spell.

Mr. Galloway, of Woodville and Dr. Vrooman introduced a resolution commending Mr. R. L. Borden, the leader of the forlorn hope at Ottawa. The resolution praised him "for his fearless and outspoken policy," but it failed to explain what his policy really was. The resolution, if it reaches R. L., will be a little comfort for him as a result of the "frost" he received on the occasion of his trip to the West.

CANDIDATES NOMINATED

The candidates were next nominated as follows:--

Dr. Vrooman, proposed by Capt. Patterson and W. Wilson.

Geo. A. Jordan, proposed by Mr. Patterson and Mr. Bell.

Dr. Wood, proposed by Mr. Murtha and R. A. Miller.

P. Hawkins, proposed by I. E. Weldon and John Jackson.

Dr. Wood, proposed by G. A. Jordan and G. Graham.

James Boxall, proposed by Messrs. Casey and Fowler.

All withdrew excepting Dr. Vrooman, who received the unanimous nomination.

Addresses were afterwards delivered by Hon. Mr. Hanna, Mr. Hoyle and others.

MISS JACKSON'S SUCCESSFUL PUPILS

The Post takes pleasure in publishing the following list of successful music students of Miss E. Jackson. They have passed the annual examinations of the Toronto College of Music. Dr. Torrington was the examiner. Dr. Torrington was the examiner.

1st year piano--Honors, Edna Moore, Alice McDougall, Susie Sutton. Pass, Ruth Armstrong, Lillian Ringland.

Primary piano--Honors, Helen Cran dell, Lottie Bell Jackson.

Senior Rudiments--Honors, Nettie Rutherford.

JOHN WILSON WAS HEAVILY FINED

John Wilson last night appeared before Magistrate Jackson charged with supplying an Indian lister (one, Angus Johnston) with liquor. He pleaded guilty and was fined $28.75, including costs.

Johnston, it will be remembered appeared before the Magistrate Monday morning charged with being drunk on Saturday.

The punishment meted out to Wilson should serve as a warning to those unscrupulous individuals who make a practice of furnishing unfortunates with liquor. A man who would serve a whiskey soaked wreck with liquor instead of helping him to avoid the besetting sin, is almost too contemptible to be termed a man.

DECORATION CEREMONIES AT RIVERSIDE WITNESSED BY LARGE CROWD SUNDAY

In spite of the unfavorable weather the thirty-third annual decoration ceremonies of the Lindsay Lodge No. 100, Independent Order of Oddfellows, was a decided success. Early in the afternoon the prospects of a fine day were very poor, but about two-thirty the rain abated, and people could be seen going to the cemetery from all parts of the town.

The members of the Order assembled in the lodge room in the Adams' block about three o'clock and marched to the cemetery. Each man wore a water-lily and carried a bouquet of flowers. Arriving at the cemetery, the brethren formed a circle, enclosing the Noble Grand and the Chaplain. The hymn, "One by One" was sung by the members of the Order. The Noble Grand, Mr. F. Adams, then said a few words to the Brethren, and the Chaplain, Mr. W. W. Staples, invoked the Divine blessing. The brethren then sang "Nearer My God to Thee" after which the decoration of the graves took place.

For each grave which was to be decorated, a member of the Order carried a bouquet of flowers and a beautiful wreath. Each grave of the departed brethren was marked with a white ribbon, with the letters "I.O. O.F." printed thereon.

After the decoration of the graves, the brethren reformed into a circle, when Bro. T. Murtagh rendered a solo in his usual pleasing style, after which the Noble Grand, Bro. Frank Adams, addressed the members of the order.

NOBLE GRAND'S ADDRESS

"My brethren, we have now performed the duties of the day, and by these simple services, have paid a tribute of respect to those of our brethren who have finished their work on earth. Our order, instituted for purposes of self-help, and calculated to aid its members in the struggles incident to life, does not allow death to terminate the fraternal relationships formed within our ranks. After we have carried our deceased Brother to his last resting place in the silent city of the dead, he still retains a claim on our affections. Though his bereaved and orphaned family he still asks our sympathies, and our material aid; and while he has himself passed beyond the need of those kindly benefactions we owe each other in life he still holds a place in our memory and love.

"Here to-day, surrounded by these tokens of mortality--by the grassy mounds that cover the remains of those that once lived--the monumental tablets that record their history, and the epitaphs that tell their virtues--we are forcibly reminded of the perishable nature of the things of time. 'To every man upon this earth, Death cometh, soon or late.' Wealth cannot bribe him to remain away; rank and power cannot shield us from him. No strength of mortal arm can turn his onward march; no prayer can bar aside his stroke. He alone is no respecter of persons. The roughest cheek pales before his breath; the stoutest heart ceases to beat at his touch; the strongest frame bows and falls before him. As he moves swiftly and silently among the ranks of men, he lays on one and on another his chilling hand, and they fall at either side, lifeless and cold. Friends and loved ones may mourn for a brief period of time, but society soon forgets the one whose voice is no longer heard--whose face is no longer seen, and only a few cherish the memory of the departed.

"We stand to-day by the graves of the brethren who have gone to their rest. Some have reposed beneath the sod for years, and their names are almost forgotten by the world. Some have but lately been laid in their silent bed, and warm hearts are still grieving over their death. But for all alike, in sorrow and in love--we have come to awake the tender thoughts of old associations--to recall to mind the virtues of departed friends--and to lay on their graves the floral offering that shall speak for us, better than words can speak.

"And, as there comes to us the thought of lives cut short in the midst of usefulness, let us heed for ourselves the lesson that is taught. If life be so short, and death so sure, how can we be careless of the lives we live, or of the deaths we die? Life is the time to labor; the night comes all too soon, when labor must cease. Waste not the hours, so precious and so fleeting! Work while the day of life may last, so that after life we shall still live in the hearts of our brethren, in the love of those we have blessed by kindly words and deeds. So shall our histories be written in colors glowing as the flowers we spread upon our brethren's graves; and our memories be as fresh and fragrant as the perfumes they shed to-day.

"Silent are our departed brethren now; but could their voices come from beneath our feet, for each one of us would they utter this solemn exhortation:--

"So live, that when thy summons comes to join, The innumerable caravan that moves, To those mysterious realms, where each must take, His chamber in the silent halls of death, Thou go, not like the quarry slave at night, Scourged to the dungeon; but sustained and soothed, By an unflinching trust approach the grave, Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch, About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

At the conclusion of the Noble Grand's address, the brethren sang, "Blest be the Tie that Binds." The Chaplain brought the beautiful and impressive ceremony to a close with a prayer.

A short time was spent by the members looking around the cemetery and admiring the nicely kept graves, after which they reformed to

VISITOR FROM NORTH DAKOTA

The Post was favored with a call this morning from Mr. Neil D. Smith, of Dayton, N. Dakota, who is on a visit to his brother, Mr. J. D. Smith. Mr. Neil Smith, who is an old Victoria County boy, left here about twenty years ago, and has been most successful in the American west. He has seen a great many changes in Lindsay since his departure.

Mr. Smith says that the outlook is excellent for a bumper crop in Dakota this year. Everything was rosy looking when he left, and the people were quite optimistic.

North Dakota contains many former residents of Victoria county, and Mr. Smith states that they are all prospering.

North Dakota is a prohibition state and Mr. Smith states that it has been most successful in every respect.

Fifty tons of Sugar

A Post reporter while on his rounds this morning dropped into Sparling & Co.'s, wholesale ware house and in looking around was amazed to find an immense consignment of sugar which the firm had just received. It was learned that the firm had fifty tons of sugar in their ware house. This is an immense amount of "sweet news" for a local firm to carry.
