Twelfth of July at Peterboro 10,000 Orangemen in Procession

(Peterboro Times)
The largest number of visitors that ever assembled in Peterboro for any purpose, invaded this city yesterday when nearly twelve thousand Orangemen and their friends gathered here to celebrate the anniversary of King William III's victory in the Battle of the Boyne.

THE MORNING
The whole city was greatly interested and even early in the morning there were a large number of citizens on the streets. Shortly before ten o'clock, when the visiting lodges were marching from the stations and the wharf to the armories, George street was crowded with visitors and local people watching the intermittent procession to the rendezvous. All forenoon, with short intervals of time between them, the procession formed of several newly arrived lodges, with their members attired in full Orange uniform, and their prominent, bright banners high in the air would take possession of George street in their march to Central Park. As noon approached the scene at the park became a gorgeous one, as not only thousands of brethren, but thousands of spectators had congregated there. Twelve booths, one of them under the auspices of the Y. M.C.A., were kept busy selling ice cream and cold drinks during the entire day.

THE AFTERNOON
By the afternoon the expected thousands of visiting Orangemen had become a realization and as they formed up in the Central park in preparation for the monster procession the sight was an inspiring one. The interest was manifested by the people in watching the muster of defenders of the Protestant faith in Canada, as would be shown had the occasion been a military one. Finally about 1.45 o'clock, the lodges became arranged in their places, and following the lead of South Hastings, across in front of the Collegiate Institute and armories, and down Murray street to George, they left the park to form the longest procession that has ever marched on the streets of Peterboro. The following was the order of the counties that marched:

- SOUTH HASTINGS.
 - NORTH HASTINGS.
 - NORTHUMBERLAND.
 - VICTORIA.
 - HALIBURTON.
 - WEST DURHAM.
 - EAST DURHAM.
 - EAST PETERBOROUGH.
 - WEST PETERBOROUGH.
- These comprising 150 or 175 Orange Lodges with the members in full regalia marched through the city by the following route: Down Murray to George street to Hunter street, west on Hunter street to Aylmer to Dalhousie, east on Dalhousie to George north on George to Hunter, east on Hunter to Water, north on Water to Dublin, west on Dublin to George, and south on George to Central Park.

At every corner and at practically every point in this long route, the streets were lined with those anxious to see the procession, which was several miles in length.

The procession was in charge of Bro. J. B. McWilliams, Chief Marshal, and Brothers Wm. Kindred, Geo. Bartley, Hurrell Dodds and P. Noyes Marshals.

A little over half an hour after the procession started a large crowd surrounded the band stand in Central Park, and the Rev. W. C. Riddiford, who acted as chairman for the occasion in a very satisfactory manner opened the program by a few remarks:

He first welcomed all the visitors to the "best city on the face of the earth," and expressed his pleasure to see such an enthusiastic gathering in the interests of the cause that our forefathers had fought for in the past, and that they were ready to fight for in the future. Mr. Riddiford announced that Mr. Burnham was in Toronto addressing an Orange meeting there, and therefore was unable to be present, and that the other member for West Peterboro (Mr. E. A. Peck, M.P.P.) who had been invited to speak, was suffering from a slight headache—or something—and could not accept the invitation. He then called upon Hon. Col. Sam Hughes.

HON. COL. SAM HUGHES
The Hon. Col. Sam. Hughes explained that the twelfth of July should be celebrated because the one keynote of the Orange Order was liberty and toleration. The speaker said that after having travelled for some time he had returned to this section of the country and thought that the best citizens were to be found in the Orange districts. In touching upon the temperance question Col. Hughes said that he failed to see the place where a drunken man would fit in. He was glad that no Orangeman had become intoxicated, and was pleased to see the ever decreasing use of liquors at social and other functions.

In connection with the bilingual question, the speaker expressed the opinion that many of the loyal French-Canadian families had realized that without a thorough knowledge of the English language their children could not keep pace with the advancement of civilization, and consequently were educating them in this language.

The other speakers were Revs. Mr. Pogue, P. Morgan, W. C. Riddiford, B. Ohel, Mayor Bradburn and Dr. Soroule, M. P.

Lindsay Lodge with the juvenile Orangemen received a great ovation along the route of parade and without doubt made the best showing of any visiting lodge.

The lodges in parade were:

A MARTYR TO HAY FEVER

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured After 15 Years' Suffering

CORNWALL CENTRE, ONT., NOVEMBER 27th 1911.
"I was a martyr to Hay Fever for probably fifteen years and I suffered terribly at times. I consulted many physicians and took their treatment and I tried every remedy I heard of as being good for Hay Fever but nothing helped me.
Then I heard of "Fruit-a-tives" and decided to try them, and I am thankful to say that this remedy cured me completely.
To every sufferer from Hay Fever, I wish to say—"Try Fruit-a-tives". This medicine cured me when every other treatment failed, and I believe it is a perfect cure for this dreadful disease—Hay Fever."
Mrs. HENRY KEMP.
The real cause of Hay Fever is poisoned blood, due to the faulty action of the bowels, kidneys and skin. "Fruit-a-tives" cleans the blood by regulating bowels, kidneys and skin—and thus relieves the excessive strain on the nervous system. Try "Fruit-a-tives".

A Card Catalogue For School Pupils

The United States Bureau of Education has formulated a plan by which every child in the elementary schools is to be listed in a card catalogue which will contain a complete history of the pupil's progress through the different grades from his entrance till he graduates or leaves school. Three hundred cities have already entered upon the work and the record of 6,000,000 pupils will be tabulated. But why stop at the city schools? Why not include rural schools as well? If such a record is of advantage in the cities, the country districts should have the benefit of it.

This card index system will be a mine of almost inexhaustible wealth to the future historian or biographer if it is faithfully, honestly, and accurately kept. Of the school days of those who afterwards achieved greatness there has often been no record whatever, so that the biographer has been unable to trace in the man those characteristics which must have existed in embryo in the child. Apart from this benefit to be derived from the system, it will be a help in getting at the results of educational methods and for purposes of comparison. It should include not only the history of the pupil's progress from class to class but also a statement of his peculiarities of disposition and conduct, his moral attributes, and all those other details that will give us his life history during childhood. We know of no work now being undertaken in the schools that is of more importance than this.—Kingston Standard.

Hints for the Vegetable Garden

When Parliament was in session a number of very useful papers on Agricultural topics were read by prominent authorities before the Standing Committee of the Senate on Agriculture and Forestry. One of these by W. Saxby Blair, Professor of Horticulture, Macdonald College Quebec, deals with the growing of garden vegetables. After pointing out certain important details more or less common in their application to all vegetable crops, the author follows with more specific information relative to the growing of many of the principal vegetable crops grown in this country. Among other important points taken up are the construction and management of hot beds and cold frames, kinds and application of manures, tillage, successional sowings, etc. Among the crops dealt with are tomatoes, onions, cauliflower, celery, melons, parsnips, salsify, egg plants, spinach, sweet herbs, asparagus, etc. Of all these and others desirable varieties are named. This paper is issued as a pamphlet of seventeen pages, and is being distributed free by the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

Liquor in Camps Officers Resign

Ottawa, July 8—Three officers of Canadian regiments have felt it necessary to resign their commands because they failed to see that the order of Col. the Hon. Sam. Hughes relative to liquor in military camps was observed.

Col. Hughes had laid it down that no liquor will be sold in military camps. Today he said that three officers had neglected his order and their resignations had been received. He added that other resignations were expected.

"It is the business of an officer to see that there is no liquor in the camp," said Col. Hughes.

"I know the militia business," he snapped, when asked about the contention, "and I know the evils in connection with it. Liquor is one. The liquor business in the camps has got to be stopped, or I'll know the reason why. Most officers realize this now."

Shot at Birds Hit His Wife

(Special to The Post.)
Belleville, July 8—Mrs. Mark Ottrey, who lives at Bayside, six miles west of this city, was the victim of a very painful accident yesterday, which nearly caused her death at the hands of her husband. Some blackbirds had settled in a strawberry patch, and Mr. Ottrey shot some with a borrowed gun. He concealed himself in the bushes near a berry patch and fired at the birds as they returned. Mrs. Ottrey had just stepped from behind the barn, a distance of about twenty yards, and was struck in the head by a number of shots. The horrified husband drove her to Belleville, where relief was given by a physician. The wounds are not likely to result seriously, but all the shots could not be removed, as they had penetrated deeply.
