TORONTO GETS STATION.

Union Depot Plans Settled After Nine Years.

TORONTO, June 27.-At last the nine-year-old viaduct controversy between the railways and the city of Toronto has been settled. Three years from to-day Toronto is to have a new Union Station, with the tracks along the waterfront removed from the street level.

Something of a sensation was thrown into the civic camp yesterday when the agreement covering the construction of the much-delayed viaduct and new Union Station was handed to the mayor by the representatives of the C.P.R. and G.T.R. and the Harbor Board for approval by the City Council.

When the scheme is consummated the city of Toronto will occupy the unique position of owning the entire waterfront.

Agreement Is Concluded. NEW YORK, June 28.-Only the formal signing of papers remains before the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. will take over the business of the Union Life Co. of Toronto. It was said yesterday that this formality will be completed shortly. The Union Life Co. has about 130,000 policy holders.

Application for the transfer of the policies to the Metropolitan Life was made on May 1.

AFRICAN CORONATIONS.

Choice of a King in Dark Continent Is a Violent Ceremony.

The customs of savage people make up in curious piqueness what they lack in dignity. Contrast, for instance, the coronation that Mr. Robert M. Milligan describes in "The Fetish Folk of West Africa," with the coronation of a British king.

The king was chosen from among the people by the elders, and he was selected for his wisdom. The ceremonies of his enthronement were such that he required not only wisdom, but also courage, physical strength, and a superb digestion. The man's first intimation that he had been chosen by the elders was an onrush of the entire tribe-not to do him honor, but to abuse and insult him in every possible way.

They would hurl opprobrious epithets at him, curse him, spit upon him, pelt him with mud, and beat him. For, they said, from this time on he could do all these things to them, and they would be powerless to retaliate. It was their last chance!

They also reminded him of all his failings in graphic and minute particulars. If the king survived this treatment, he was then taken to the former king's house, where he was solemnly invested with the insignia of the kingly office in the shape of a silk hat. No one except the king was permitted to wear a silk hat.

Following the inauguration ceremony, the people came and bowed before the new king in humble submission, while they praised him as enthusiastically as they had before reviled him. Then he was fed and feted for a week, during which time he was not permitted to leave his house, but had to receive guests from all parts of his dominion, and eat with them all. These ceremonies ended, he turned to the comparatively easy and common-place duties of his kingly office. This custom, like many others, has passed away under the influence of civilization.

Wireless Alarm Calls.

One of the great difficulties in wireless telegraphy-the necessity of constant attention in a wireless station day and night in case of a possible call-will probably be eliminated soon. Today if an operator goes to sleep at his post or takes a rest with his telephone receiver laid aside he may miss an important call. So wireless engineers all over the world have been working to devise a call system that will ring an alarm when another station is sending a message. Several are now being perfected, including one by Marconi, which he expects will be satisfactory. His plan is to have the sending station send one prolonged signal or dash much longer than the dots and dashes used in telegraphing. At the receiving station a delicate galvanometer detects the current, and in the case of a prolonged dash this galvanometer starts an electric bell ringing. The real difficulty is to overcome false alarms from atmospheric discharges of electricity. An operator quickly learns to tell by the sound what is a real call and what is a false one, but it has proved difficult to make a machine show equal discrimination.

Drenching Rain.

WINNIPEG, June 30.-After two days' unusually cool weather for this season, heavy electrical disturbances swept over much of the Canadian prairie west Friday, accompanied in some districts by deluges of rain. Eastern Saskatchewan generally received the greatest precipitation, two inches being reported at Broadview, Sask., and anywhere from one inch to two inches in many parts of this province. Southwestern Manitoba, which has been suffering from want of moisture, was the chief beneficiary.

Early Saturday morning heavy thunderstorms swept over this city, doing some minor damage and interfering for some time with power and electric light systems. It is hot here to-day, with the mercury in the eighties.

Nine Deaths From Heat.

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.-A severe electrical storm during Friday night wrought considerable damage, but brought only a brief relief from the excessive heat and humidity which was charged with causing nine deaths here Friday. Several trolley cars were struck during the night by lightning and passengers stampeded. A number of factories were set on fire by the bolts. The list of deaths from the oppressive heat during the past three days now totals 23.

High-Priced Sermon.

Perhaps the highest price paid for a sermon goes every year to a German preacher, who discourses on the good deeds of a French baron named Favart, who died in Elberfeld in 1690. Favart left money for this purpose, and the interest now amounts to $4,600 per annum, which goes to the preacher as his reward.

Her Standard.

"Say, mamma, isn't papa cross to-night?" "Yes, my dear; very." "He couldn't be crosser if he was teething, could he, mamma?"

Quick Decision.

Farmer (to one of his laborers, who had come home after his first training in the militia)-Which would you rather be, a soldier or a farm hand, Paddy? Pat-A soldier, of course. Farmer-And why so, Paddy? Pat-Well, you see, you'd be a long time working for a farmer before he'd tell you to stand at ease.-Tit-Bits.
