TO PREVENT BREAK.

Hydro Commission Will Conduct Very Rigid Inspection.

TORONTO, June 27.—The Hydro-Electric Commission has adopted new means to eliminate the possibility of any power breaks in the future. The whole inspection staff has been reorganized, and in the future a large gang of men will devote their whole time to periodically inspecting the line sections in more thorough fashion than before. The inspectors and settings will be subjected to very severe tests, and any which fail will be discarded at once. This means that a staff of men will be on the road at all times, travelling from end to end of the transmission lines.

Further, whereas inspection in the past has practically been confined to superficial observation and the absence of faulty construction discernible to the eye, each part of the mechanism will be placed under high voltage on varying occasions to prove their worth.

Contrary to general opinion, all the German insulators to which the trouble was traced in recent instances, are not being removed. W. K. McNaught of the commission stated last evening that a large number had been removed and replaced by others, but that the blame did not lie wholly with those of that make. Others of a different manufacture had proved quite as faulty.

A letter had been received from the German manufacturers, expressing surprise at such a situation. The same material had been used in all parts of the world with no such mishap. The commissioner stated further that the most expert evidence obtainable could not find reasons for the trouble. In the meantime, however, the re-equipment of the system was under way as rapidly as possible.

FARMERS INDIGNANT

Hearst Pioneers Found Their Homesteads Taken.

STOOD ALL NIGHT IN RAIN

Acting, as They Declare, Upon the Assurance of the Land Agent That the First Applicant Would Be Permitted to File, Settlers Waited In Storm for Office to Open.—Were Filled by Letter.

HEARST, Ont., June 27.—The treatment which the pioneer farmers of Hearst received from the crown lands agent after waiting all night in a thunder and hail storm on the steps of the recording office to procure the homesteads is arousing indignation. It seems that the reason that they were unable to get the farms they were after was because they had already been applied for by letter, in some cases two or three farms having been applied for in this way at one time by people who are not known here.

They say they had been told repeatedly by the agent that the first man to file for a particular piece of land would get it and naturally they were dumb-founded when they found their patient waiting had been of no avail.

One case is particularly hard. A man named Smith Ballantyne, who has lived near Hearst for the past three years and had "squatted" there, clearing three acres, was turned down in this fashion, and there were seventeen others in line behind him. The department in Toronto has been approached on the subject and Crown Lands Agent Anderson has been asked for an explanation.

STORIES EXAGGERATED.

Police Chiefs Say White Slavery Stories Are False.

HALIFAX, N.S., June 27.—The white slave traffic held the attention of the chief constables of Canada yesterday morning.

The secretary submitted a lengthy report on the subject, in which he deplored the exaggerated statements concerning the prevalence of the evil in Canada, which was constantly being set forth.

The statement that the Dominion was furnishing the United States with 200,000 girls each year for immoral purposes was branded as an absolute fallacy.

Regina Rate Decision Reserved. OTTAWA, June 27.—The Regina case was argued before the Railway Commission yesterday morning and judgment reserved.

Mr. M. K. Cowan, K.C., who appeared for Regina, urged that though an order had been made by the commission that the discrimination against Regina be removed, the new rates put in effect had only partly done this, and he asked for a further order.

REAL DEMOCRACY.

Norwegian Storthing Is Busy Lopping Off Fixings.

CHRISTIANA, Norway, June 30.—The democratization of Norway is proceeding at a pace that causes great alarm in royal circles. While King Haakon was on a state visit to his native Denmark, recently, the Storthing Parliament passed a bill suspending the royal veto on Government measures.

This veto is a mere formality, and is never used but suspending, it is significant because the Storthing expects passing before long bills which the King would have been sorely tempted to veto.

Another bill passed does away with decorations and prohibits Norwegians from accepting foreign orders. As the conferring of decorations is the King's prerogative, it is felt that these measures are a direct attempt to shear the sovereign of powers.

Robert Atkin Nominated.

KNIGHTSMILL, June 28.—Liberals of South Essex yesterday nominated Robert Atkin of Malden, warden of Essex County, to contest the federal seat made vacant by the resignation of A. H. Clarke, the Liberal member, who is going west.

SAVED BY QUICK WIT.

A Reply That Won Napoleon and the Duke of Modena.

In the French campaign in Italy, in which Napoleon I. first began to win the laurels which subsequently so abundantly crowned his career, a young Italian cavalry officer was taken prisoner.

Having serious doubts about his safety, it occurred to the prisoner to pretend he was a great personage. So he promised rewards to his captors if they would insure his good treatment, adding confidentially that he was the Duke of Modena.

He was exceedingly well cared for, and early next morning he was called before Napoleon, who was somewhat puzzled at finding two Dukes of Modena among his prisoners, for the real duke angrily asked his counterfeit by what authority he had assumed the title of Duke of Modena. The young officer answered:

"Your grace, the peril of my situation yesterday was such that had I known a more illustrious title I would not have assumed yours."

The reply so pleased both the duke and Napoleon that he was forgiven his deceit.

Britany's Hair Harvest.

It is at Easter time that the curious "hair harvest" of Brittany is "reaped" by the travelling merchants, who go from village to village buying the beautiful hair for which the Breton belles are famous. This is later destined to be made up into "transformations," "fringes" and other mysterious arrangements with which ladies less abundantly endowed by nature make up their shortcomings in the matter of "woman's crowning glory."

The clients of the hair buyers are chiefly country lasses in the remotest districts, who are only too pleased to sell their tresses in order to obtain a little money to spend at the Easter fairs. The "harvest," however, is said not to be so good as formerly, as with the spread of education and the love of display many girls prefer to keep their hair—Wide World Magazine.

RAVENOUS ESKIMOS.

They Eat and Digest Food That Would Kill an Ordinary Man.

We hear much of American dyspepsia, but there is one native race of America that is certainly not troubled in this respect. The Eskimo defies all the laws of hygiene and thrives. He eats until he is satisfied, but is said never to be satisfied while a shred of his feast remains unconsumed. His capacity is limited by the supply and by that only.

The Eskimo cannot make any mistake about the manner of cooking his food, since, as a rule, he does not cook it. Nor, so far as the blubber or fat of the arctic animal is concerned, is the Eskimo concerned about his manner of eating it. Indeed, he may be said not to eat it at all. He cuts it into long strips an inch wide and an inch thick and then lowers the strip down his throat as one might lower a rope into a well.

Despite all this the Eskimo does not suffer from indigestion. He can make a good meal of the flesh and skin of the walrus, provision so hard and gritty that in cutting up the animal the knife must be continually sharpened.

The teeth of a little Eskimo child will, it is said by those in a position to know, meet in a bit of walrus skin as the teeth of an American child would meet in the flesh of an apple, although the hide of the walrus is from half an inch to an inch in thickness and bears considerable resemblance to the hide of an elephant. The Eskimo child will bite it and digest it and never know what dyspepsia means.—Harper's Weekly.

WEALTHY DUKE DIES.

Sutherland Was Biggest European Landlord Except Czar.

LONDON, June 27.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Cromartie Sutherland-Leveson-Gowor, fourth Duke of Sutherland, died at one o'clock this morning at Dunrobin Castle, Sutherlandshire.

The Duke of Sutherland, who was born July 20, 1851, was with the exception of the Emperor of Russia, the largest land owner in Europe. His Scottish estates embraced nearly a million and a half acres. He owned 30,000 acres in Staffordshire and Shropshire and much landed property in other countries.

He was noted as a sportsman and a fine yachtsman. His yachts included Catania and Lizette.

In 1884 he married Lady Millicent Fanny St. Clair-Erskine, daughter of the fourth Earl of Rosslyn, two sons and one daughter being the result of the union. In recent years the duke has been deeply interested in a colonization scheme for western Canada, and to that end has purchased vast tracts of territory.

WELCOME SHOWERS.

Western Wheat Raises Its Head After Prolific Rain.

REGINA, Sask., June 28.—The Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture reports that crops during the past week have greatly improved, under the influence of welcome showers all over the province. During the past few days many fears have been expressed that thunderstorms, combined with the cold which has prevailed in the nights and early mornings throughout the province, would have a bad effect upon the crop. Speaking generally, however, these fears have no foundation.

Rain in Manitoba. WINNIPEG, June 28.—There was a copious rainfall throughout Manitoba Thursday night, with great benefit to crops, which in most parts are badly in need of moisture. The outlook is greatly improved as a consequence.

Killed Self In His Club. NEW YORK, June 28.—Albert Schlicht, a vaudeville actor, 53 years of age, who was known on the stage as Al Bellman, formerly of the team of Bellman and Moore, committed suicide early yesterday at the Vaudeville Comedy Club. He suddenly drank poison while in the billiard room of the club with his brother and several friends, who were unable to save him.
