

COUNCIL HEARD CHIEF'S REPORT

The following report of the deliberations at the convention of Police Chiefs held in Halifax, N. S., was submitted by Chief of Police Chilton to the council last evening:— To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Lindsay.

Gentlemen,—I wish to submit my report to you in reference to that which took place at the meetings held at the Chief Constables' Convention in Halifax, during the 25th, 26th and 27th of June last.

At the meetings many matters of vital importance for the betterment of society were discussed. The first days proceedings constituted an address given by the Mayor of the city, also Controller Harris, and the forming of committees to receive new members into the Association. On the second day the Chief Constables resumed their convention, when the matter of amending the Criminal Code was brought up. To carry out this delegates were appointed to interview Parliament relative to such a change in the law.

The extradition of prisoners was dealt with, one of the speakers advocating a simpler method for the extradition of offenders, and a greater number of crimes upon which criminals could be deported out of the country. A very interesting paper was read on juvenile offenders. This brought forth much discussion. It was the consensus of opinion of those present that juvenile offenders should not be incarcerated with older and more hardened criminals. To this the Association deemed it advisable that the Government should build suitable institutions for wayward youths and thus keep from them the many acts of violence committed by those who have been saturated in crime for years.

Superintendent Rogers, of the Provincial Police of Ontario on co-operation suggested cheaper telegraphic rates to police departments.

The fingerprint system was fully discussed, and it will only be a short time until this system and photographing prisoners will be established all over Canada.

The Bertillon measurements were also highly spoken of.

The "First Aid" was probably dealt with in greater length than any other subject which came up before the Association. A member of St. John's Ambulance lectured on this and gave instructions how to give first aid to any person whom a constable might find suffering from wounds, bruises, drunkenness or fainting spells.

This is something that will be real valuable to many who may meet with any accident, and I intend to take a full course of instructions in such works. Afterwards I will teach constables under my jurisdiction also firemen, teachers or anyone who wishes to become conversant with the means of applying "first aid." I had the pleasure of being able to render assistance to a fireman in the town of Tilsonburg since the convention who received a cut on the head from a falling timber. The man was bleeding profusely, and I immediately used the methods taught me, and in a few minutes had the flow of blood stopped.

Other matters which would engage too much of your valuable time to hear at present were discussed, and I wish to thank the Mayor and Council of this town for their co-operation at all times with the police of town, and in permitting me to be one of the many who attended the convention.

J. T. B. CHILTON, Chief Constable.

The assessment this year has been increased about a quarter of a million dollars, while the probable increase in taxes will amount to $9,000. The council did not strike the rate last night.

The School And the Home

A teacher away out in Oregon has hit upon a novel plan of bringing the school in closer touch with the home. His scheme is to give credit for industrial work done at home. He works it out by crediting the pupils with work done according to a pre-arranged schedule. The boy who builds the fire in the morning is credited with 5 minutes; milking a cow, 5 minutes; splitting and carrying in wood (12 hours supply), 10 minutes; cleaning horse, 10 minutes; gathering eggs, 10 minutes, and so on. Some of the things the girls are credited with are: Blackening stove, 5 minutes; making and baking bread, 1 hour; making biscuits, 10 minutes; preparing breakfast for family, 30 minutes; washing and wiping dishes (1 meal), 15 minutes; sweeping floor, 5 minutes; making beds (must be made after school), each bed 5 minutes; arriving at school with clean hands, face, teeth and nails, and with hair combed, 10 minutes; retiring on or before 9 o'clock, 5 minutes, with a number of other credits, covering the whole list of work that may be done by boys and girls on the farm. As a further incentive to the boys and girls to do home work, contests are held, and those having the most credits receive prizes. When a child has 600 credits it would be granted a holiday, but not often than one in every twenty days. The parents send in slips each day showing what work the children have done. The effect of the whole plan has been an eagerness on the part of the pupils to do the different kinds of work. Children that before needed urging to help now become eager to do the work. It has developed a new interest in the school and has brought the home and the school closer together. Another effect it should have, too, is to remove the impression that many have of the modern school, that it weans the boys and girls away from work.

TO BENEFIT OTHER SUFFERERS

You May Publish My Letter About "Fruit-a-tives"

Mr. Jones is proud to acknowledge the great debt of gratitude he owes "Fruit-a-tives". He is glad to have his letter published in order that other sufferers may be induced to try these wonderful tablets made of fruit juices.

"I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors, but derived no benefit whatever. Finally, I read an advertisement for "Fruit-a-tives". I decided to give "Fruit-a-tives" a trial and they did exactly what was claimed for them. I have now taken them for some time and find they are the only remedy that does me good. I have recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to a great many of my friends, and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly!"

FOR SAFETY OF RAILWAYMEN

Ottawa, July 9—Regulations with respect to railway safety appliance standards, designed to ensure trainmen against accident in the discharge of their hazardous duties, were issued by the Railway Commission this morning. They standardize safety appliance equipment to conform to the requirements of the United States Interstate Commerce Commission, this action following a conference between the board's operating officers and representatives of the Grand Trunk, Canadian Northern, U.P.R., N. Y. C., Pere Marquette, and Michigan Central Railways, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Railway Conductors, Railway Trainmen and Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. In future all railway equipment will have to be as set forth in these regulations and all railway companies in Canada must comply, by December 31, 1915, the work of reconstructing and standardizing their equipment.

The different classes of rolling stock for which regulations are made comprise box and other house cars, hopper and gondola cars of different kinds, flat cars, flat cars with side or end platforms, with or without end sills, caboose cars with or without platforms, passenger train cars with wide vestibules, open end platforms or without, steam locomotives in road and switching service. Among the classes of equipment for which specifications are given, are hand brakes, brake steps, running boards, sill steps, ladders, and ladder clearance, roof handholds, service handholds, horizontal end handholds, vertical end handholds, uncoupling levers, and the like, the whole constituting a bulky pamphlet.

And many a night before he comes, poor Nohah lies awake Devising hiding places for the things that he might break, The jam and jelly's sure to be upon the highest shelf, But grandma gets them down, sometimes, and bids him help himself.

When Johnnie comes to grandma's house there's mud upon the floor, And thumb-prints on the banisters, and grease on every door, The house is always upside down the whole time he is there; Poor Nohah sighs and wonders why dear grandma doesn't care.

But when at last that boy's in bed, and everything is still, Old Towser leaves the barn and Tabby ventures forth at will— 'Tis then the much abused armchair holds conclave in the dark With the old clock in the corner, sitting there so stiff and stark.

"I'm quite worn out," she simply sighs, "since that young scapegrace, John, Came out from town I've been at times most rudely sat upon, 'It beats my time," the clock replies, "how modern young folks do; It wasn't so in my day. What's the world a coming to?"

And the cause of all the trouble— do you think the rascal cares?— Is miles away in Slumber Land in his small bed upstairs. But grandma says when she goes in to tuck the blankets down, "Dear, dear, we will be lonesome, when that boy goes back to town."

Beautifulizing the Home Grounds

Attractive grounds add more than any other feature toward beautifying the home, be it in the country or in the city. No farm or city home can afford to be without a few trees and shrubs around the house. It seems strange, indeed, with all our natural advantages that ornamental planting is not more observed by those who wish to make life in the country worth while. Money expended in this direction is well invested not only from the fact of its creating pleasant surroundings, but because the beautifying of a place enhances its value, and renders it saleable often at a handsome profit. Then again, on the other hand, money cannot buy the satisfaction that one derives from watching the growth and development of ornamental vegetation.

Among the beautiful hardy shrubs that require little attention I wish to enumerate a few that should be planted more extensively. These plants are easily obtainable and are not expensive. The Athea or Rose of Sharon flowers freely with us during the late summer when few other shrubs are in blossom. It has beautiful, white, pink, and purple double flowers. The Azaleas are very gorgeous and range in color from intense crimson to lemon yellow. They are covered with bloom in early spring before their leaves appear. Deutzias have masses of snow white flowers and are early bloomers. Spiraea flower profusely during early spring. They produce a profusion of white flowers. Forsythia or Golden Ball has graceful drooping flowers. Of the many beautiful climbing vines that should grace our porches and arbors there is nothing better than the Wistarias which can be had in purple, lavender and white. The immense drooping racemes of bloom are truly a grand sight. The climbing roses, Virginia Creeper, all grow to the greatest perfection. Remember that before you get ready to plant sketch your grounds, locate all buildings, drives, walks, and plantings.—Ex.

When Jennie comes to grandma's house old Towser runs away, The kitten climbs the apple tree and stays up there all day; The chickens in the barnyard are as flustered as can be— They don't approve of little boys, as any one can see.

When Johnnie comes to grandma's house there's mud upon the floor, And thumb-prints on the banisters, and grease on every door, The house is always upside down the whole time he is there; Poor Nohah sighs and wonders why dear grandma doesn't care.

LINDSAY'S FAMOUS POULTRY EXPERT

The last issue of the Canadian Poultry Review contains the following sketch of Mr. D. C. Trew our local poultry expert:—

Mr. D. C. Trew, whose photo appears on this page, is one of the editor's oldest fancier friends, our friendship dating back for thirty years. Mr. Trew is a Canadian and was born in the township of Hope, county of Durham, near the town of Port Hope, a little over sixty-five years ago. He is a farmer's son and was brought up on the farm until eighteen years of age. Ever when quite a young lad he was extremely fond of poultry and for several years bred Pit Game. Of course at that time there was not the great variety of breeds to choose from that these now is. At eighteen years of age he left the farm and went into mercantile business, so for some years he was without any feathered stock. In 1871 he went to reside in Lindsay, where he still lives, was married in 1873 and in 1874 again took up the breeding of pure-bred fowl. His first purchase was a trio of black Cochins, then very popular, and they were secured from his, and our, old friend, Sharp Butterfield. Since then he has bred nearly all standard varieties, but for the past thirty years he has been identified as one of the foremost breeders of that splendid French variety, the Houdan. For many years he was a successful exhibitor and at some of the biggest shows, including the "Ontario" and the Toronto "Industrial."

"For fifteen years Mr. Trew was on the Board of Directors of the Poultry Association of Ontario, now the Western Ontario Poultry Association. Mr. Trew tells us that he has taken the Canadian Poultry Review continuously, without a break, since 1874. This will show how close his fancy connection and ours has been. He began judging twenty-five years ago, officiating at a great many fall shows throughout the country, including Lindsay, Peterboro, Markham, Brockville, Perth, Almonte, Winchester, Marmora, Norwood, Warkworth and others. He has judged in the winter at such shows as Peterboro, Owen Sound, Colton, Midland (several times), Napanee, Cannington and Lindsay, the latter for several years in succession. Last season he had to give up all other appointments as he was engaged to go to several shows in British Columbia. He first judged at Victoria, then Nanaimo, and next the British Columbia Provincial Show in Vancouver."

"Six years ago trouble came to Mr. Trew, in that he lost the partner of his joys and sorrows, and being afflicted with a personal infirmity, owing to an accident, he was obliged to give up breeding and to dispose of his entire stock, and he says himself he is "very lonesome without his pets", so we feel sure he must be after his long fancier career. We hope that Mr. Trew may be spared to us for many years yet."

Case of Mistaken Identity

A well-known local citizen who took in the Orange celebration at Port Hope, had a rather amusing experience. He was strolling along the waterfront at the harbor when he was approached by two winsome maidens, who affectionately greeted him exclaiming—"Where are the twins!" Being a married man, he was not set with that embarrassment usually experienced by the average young man. "Who are you taking me for?" asked he. "Are you not Mr.—of Bethany?" asked the girls, who, on finding out their mistake, were profuse in their apologies.

HAVE RETURNED FROM WHITBY

Fifteen members of the Whitby Association of Lindsay returned this morning from one of the most successful conferences ever held in Trafalgar Castle. For the last week the Ontario Ladies' College has been inhabited by 287 delegates—184 women and 103 men—from all parts of Ontario, as well as sixteen missionaries—nine from China, 4 from India, 3 from Japan. As a result of the mission study classes and missionary instruction received at Whitby this year, there will be seventy-nine mission study classes conducted this year throughout the central part of Ontario.

The delegates from Lindsay were Misses Dawson, E. Peel, Grace Mitchell, Zetta Pratt, Isabel Ryley, Edythe Matthe, Flossie Hart, Carrie Marsh, Victoria Marsh, Messrs Harry J. Reid, Arthur W. Allin, Chas. McCrea, J. M. Clarke, Will Piercey, and Stanley Glendenning. These candidates intend, during the coming year, to further the interests of missions throughout the town and surrounding country. It is expected that a missionary institute will be held in Lindsay this year, also a number of missionary lectures accompanied with lantern slides will be given as well as demonstrations by the Whitby Association itself. This year's conference has been felt by all to have been the most successful conference ever held in the high degree of religious spirit shown, as well as in the superior methods of missionary instruction. This is the eighth annual missionary conference held in the Ontario Ladies' College and by far the best and it is expected that it will grow still better each year.

The books for mission study this year were, "Livingstone, the Pathfinder," led by Miss Mendenhall, of New York; "The Moslem World," by Miss Platt, mission study secretary for the Presbyterian church; "The Emergency in China," by Rev. C. R. Carscallen, of West China; "South America," by R. P. Mackay, Associate Secretary of the Baptist Board; "Sunrise in the Sunrise Kingdom," by A. T. Wilkinson; "India Awakening," by Rev. H. E. Stillwell, of India; "Strangers within our Gates," by Rev. C. J. Cameron, of Toronto, and "My Neighbor," by F. L. Farewell. The books used this year are away the best missionary publications, and would be a creditable addition to every library. Copies of these may be had by applying to Mr. Harry J. Reid or Mr. Arthur W. Allin.

As a result of the educational and spiritual uplift of the conference, a large number of the delegates indicated at the closing meeting that they had reached a decision to spend their lives in active Christian service. Great though the inspiration and the work of the Conference has been, it is insignificant in comparison to the leavening influence which the delegates will exert throughout the Province, when they have returned to their homes, and seek there to perpetuate the spirit of the summer school and set in practice its methods. A more detailed account will likely appear in a later edition.

New Pastor is Splendid Speaker

Rev. Mr. McMullen, the new pastor of the Queen St. Methodist Church, preached his inaugural sermon as pastor of his new charge, yesterday morning and evening. His text was taken from the second chapter of Ephesians, latter part of the fifth verse. "By Grace Ye Are Saved," and both sermons were an enlargement of this excellent text. At both services there were large congregations which listened attentively to the two splendid sermons. Rev. McMullen is an unusually fine preacher and is particularly apt with his illustrations, which are always timely and to the point. The climaxes are not overdone, but the feeling of the congregation is gauged to the proper degree. Many people remarked on the fine discourse given and Rev. McMullen will evidently be a favorite in Lindsay.
