DARING BURGLARY AT LOCAL C.P.R. STATION CROOKS CARRY OFF AND RIFLE SAFE

One of the nerviest acts on the part of cracksmen ever perpetrated in this section of the country occurred at an early hour this morning at the C.P.R. station, when the ticket office was entered by crooks, who actually carried away the safe some distance down the track, smashing the door to pieces and taking the contents, supposed to be about $150. The parties concerned in this daring theft are undoubtedly the same who visited Campbellford station on July 15th and carried away a 1,500 pound safe.

Talk about nerve and holdness! Other burglars would have been satisfied, after having gained entrance to the office, to work at the safe in true cracksmen style, but not these gentry. After having let themselves into the station proper they forced the door (leading from the hall running north and south between the two waiting rooms) into the ticket office and deliberately set to work to move the safe. They were up against an obstacle, however, as the door was too narrow to permit of the safe being moved. They did not let a little thing like that trouble them, however, and coolly proceeded to cut away the door; and a portion of it, too. The safe was then moved along the floor through the ladies' waiting room and out on to the station platform where it was actually loaded on to a lorry and pushed along the track on the Bobcaygeon line to St. Peter-st, just in rear of Mr. McMullen's residence, where it was dumped to the side of the track. The crooks immediately set to work to bore the safe, above the door with the intention of blowing it open. They were evidently amateurs in the use of explosives, and decided to take no chances, for they stopped boring operations and proceeded to smash the door of the safe open with an axe and hammer.

They battered the door to pieces, cutting the heavy screws in the hinges with the axe. Once the door was demolished it was an easy matter to get at the contents. The burglars paid no attention to the papers, merely scattering them about. It was money they were after and they secured, it is believed, about $150.00.

When Trainmaster J. W. Anderson arrived at the station this morning they received a life sized surprise on entering the ticket office. Everything was topsy turvy, and it looked as if several carpenters had been at work during the night making alterations. Portions of the door and the side panelling were scattered about and the big 4,000 pound safe had disappeared as if by magic. Out through the hall and on through the ladies' waiting room marks in the floor plainly showed that the safe had been hauled to the station platform.

Mr. Anderson notified the sectionmen to patrol the track in search of the safe as it was feared it might be on the roadbed somewhere and easily cause a wreck or tie up traffic. Chief Short was then notified and he lost no time in reporting at the station and also visiting the spot where the safe was found. Here he secured a number of small drills, which had been used by the cracksmen.

The most remarkable feature in connection with this daring burglary is the fact that it must have been committed when daylight was breaking. There is no night man at the C.P.R. station and the burglars therefore had no fear of being molested in their operations. But, how they could move the door, etc., and haul the big safe to the station platform without making sufficient noise to arouse residents in the immediate vicinity is a mystery. One of the sectionmen stated that on being aroused from his slumbers about four o'clock this morning he looked out towards the C.P.R. tracks and saw two men in shirt sleeves shoving a lorry down the track. This incident did not arouse his suspicion, however, and he thought nothing more of it until apprised of the burglary.

Trainmaster Anderson believes that the burglars worked at the safe near St. Peter-st about six o'clock this morning, and why the blows which the crooks rained on the safe door were not heard by some one in the vicinity is remarkable. A son of Mr. John O'Reilly, St. Paul-st, stated this morning that he saw a strange automobile with the top up running along that thoroughfare several times last evening, and it is believed by some that the crooks are travelling through the province in this manner.

As stated above, the safe weighs about 4,000 lbs. It is a Goldie-McCullough (Galt) safe, and it would require more than two men to take it from the ticket office to the lorry.

The book and the papers they left lying about.

The till, which contained considerable money, was overlooked and the burglars got little for their trouble. The villagers say they saw the men drawing the buggy, but didn't pay much attention to that, nor to the hammering on the safe, which the watchman seemed to think was a window rattling in a mill nearby.

Mr. J. W. Anderson, who has been Trainmaster for the past two years, only assumed his former position as local station agent on Monday, and this sensational introduction in that capacity was not at all to his liking.

The C.P.R. lost no time in getting a couple of sleuths on the job, and they are at present busily engaged looking up all possible clues.

Chief Short was not satisfied this morning that the burglars had bored the safe and had used explosives. He went over and made another inspection this afternoon, but the results were not known at the hour of going to press.

PICKPOCKET HAS JUMPED HIS BAIL FAILED TO REPORT THIS MORNING

(From Tuesday's Post.)
The pickpocket, who gave his name as H. H. Schelby, and was to appear before Magistrate Sackson, having been out on bail amounting to one hundred and fifty dollars, did not put in an appearance in court this morning. Therefore the town is out a prisoner, but the county or province now become owners of the $150 which Magistrate Jackson estimated today.

It is now reported to the police that Harris and Smith, the two friends of the accused, in order to raise bail for Schelby, whose real name by the way, is Jos. A. Mears, tried to sell a number of valuable looking diamonds to different people in Lindsay. They came to Jake Houzer with the diamonds, but he concluded there must be something wrong about the transaction, and so would not buy them. In some way, it is not known how, they raised the necessary $150 and put it up as bail for the alleged pickpocket, then not long afterward all three quietly faded away and have not been seen since. Chief Short previously, however, took a description of Mears, alias Jas. Phelps, alias H. H. Schelby, and sent it to other places in an effort to find if the suspect was known to the police or had any previous record.

On July 17th Chief Constable Grasset, of Toronto, mailed him the following letter enclosing a card with Mears' full and side face photograph and detailed Bertillon measurements for identification purposes. Chief Constable Short, Lindsay.

Sir,—In reply to your communication representing H. H. Schelby, who is under arrest in your town, and his two companions, I beg to inform you that we have no record of Schelby under that name. One, Jos. A. Mears, alias Jas. Phelps, whose methods of operation are similar to those of Schelby, has the following record in this department:

December, 1908 (at Regina, Sask.) theft—Committed to jail for three months.

18th December, 1909 (at Water- town, N.Y.) arrested on charge of theft and deported.

16th December, 1910 (at Toronto) Three charges of false pretences. Committed to Central Prison for 15 months on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

I enclose herewith a photograph of Mears, which I would ask you to return when it has served its purpose.

Frederick Harris and Jas. Henry Smith are not known to this department.
(Signed) H. J. GRASSETT.
The card gives the following information:
Joseph Aitken Mears, alias James Phelps, crime, fraud. Age 20, height 5 feet 1 inches, weight 138 lbs. Build, medium. Hair, brown. Eyes, hazel grey. Complexion, medium. Occupation, agent and oaxer.
I. There is a slight scar in the front of the right middle finger at the point.
II. A mole on left jaw at bottom of ear.
III. Slight scar outer corner of

IV. A large scar from a burn on the left side of the neck.

V. A slight scar under the lower lip at the right side.

The photographs and measurements were shown by Chief Short to Governor Balfour at the jail, who got in touch with several in the jail, who saw the most of Selby while he was there, and these persons positively identified Selby and the photograph of Mears as being the same person. Steps will be taken for his re-arrest.

Mears or Selby was an expert in his line. In Lindsay he took subscriptions, or pretended to do so, for the Journal of Commerce, of Montreal, a new daily paper which has been launched within the last few months, with Hon. W. S. Fielding at its head.

To become a subscriber one signs a form "Please send me the Journal of Commerce until further notice, for which I agree to pay the sum of five dollars per annum upon receipt of account."

In at least one case in town Schelby stood on the street corner, and offered a farmer the paper for ninety-nine cents, including free a fountain pen. The farmer looked the pen over, put it in his pocket and walked off without signing for the paper, laughingly saying that at last he was ahead of an agent.

On the other side of the street he felt in his vest pocket for the pen. It was gone. Schelby had simply nipped it out of his pocket while he was talking to him.

Among the effects which were found on the prisoner by the police is a medium size gold watch with light chain attached. The owner can have same by proving property to Chief Short.

There was also a nail file and a master key, which will open almost any ordinary lock, and a bunch of other keys.

He had received circulars from the Chas. F. Lee Burglar Alarm Co., of Chicago, with pictures and information about their alarm. It was called a door knob burglar alarm. Evidently he meant to sell these from house to house or else had gotten the circulars in order to find out how the alarm worked.

By certain papers he was selling a certain kind of furnace also.

Evidently he would tackle selling almost anything anywhere.

Monday was a red letter day in police court circles at Kinmount, when some half dozen or more liquor cases engaged the attention of the authorities and also afforded some excitement for the villagers.

For some time past it has been known that liquor was being illegally sold not only at Kinmount but also in Galway township, Peterboro County. Provincial License Inspector Ayeards and an assistant have been in that neighborhood for some time looking up evidence, and the result was the court proceedings on Monday.

HOLD-UP MAN CAUGHT NEAR MYRTLE CLEVER WORK OF COUNTY CONSTABLE

Bowmanville, July 17 — Hubert Powell, with several aliases, and giving his address as Pontypool, appeared before Police Magistrate William Horsey this morning charged with entering the shop of Henry Jakeman at Burketon last night and holding him up at the point of a revolver.

A man answering Powell's description entered Jakeman's store about 10 o'clock last night, and while masked held up three men at the point of a revolver, while he relieved the till of about $15 in silver and bills. Withdrawing from the store, he went westward into the woods, and thence along the C.P.R. tracks. Word was at once telephoned to Chief Jarvis at Bowmanville, who got a posse of men to follow the culprit, while he got into communication with the police west of Burketon.

John O'Boyle, constable at Myrtle, found Powell at 2 o'clock this morning hiding in a shed near the station, and although unarmed without handcuffs, arrested Powell and brought him to Bowmanville this morning.

When searched by Chief Jarvis, a 32 calibre revolver loaded, was found on the prisoner, and fifteen cartridges in his pocket, also $15 in bills and silver, and two black masks, being concealed in his boots. A gold watch and chain, which had evidently been stolen, were also found on him, the inside of the watch having this engraving, "To P. J. J. Powell, 2nd Batt., R.C. Regt., from the citizens of Galt, for service to Queen and Empire in South Africa, Galt, November 2, 1900."

The prisoner is nineteen years old, about five feet six inches tall, dark complexion, and is wearing a blue suit and cap, with tan shoes. Magistrate Horsey remanded him to a hearing till Saturday morning. Great credit is due Chief Jarvis for his quick action in the case, and Constable O'Boyle for his clever and brave arrest.

PETERBORO POLICE FOUGHT CROOKS EXCITING STRUGGLE IN DARK LOFT

It was only after a desperate hand to hand encounter lasting over one hour, in a dark loft, in the vicinity of the American hotel, that Detectives Meagher and Newhall succeeded in arresting two strangers, George Heron and John White, on the alleged charge of robbery and assault. They had been surprised by the two detectives in the act of rifling the pockets of their victim, an aged man, whom, it is suspected, they enticed into the loft, after which he was beaten and robbed. On Monday the men were remanded until today by Magistrate Dumble. Both Detectives Newhall and Meagher bear the marks of numerous bites and various minor injuries, as a result of their battle in the dark, with the men who fought desperately to make their getaway.

ENTICED TO LOFT.
The man who was to be, came to the city on Saturday with a considerable sum of money, and after enjoying a few drinks, was hunted up by the two men, who kept in touch with him the greater part of the night, finally enticing him into the loft in some manner, where they caught him on the eye lid, indicating he had been apprised of the action of the two strangers. Both men were reported from police circles for some time. In making his way to the loft, Detective Newhall had a narrow escape from seriously injuring his right eye when a swinging lamp caught him on the eye, resulting in a rather painful injury. A fracture of an inch would have resulted in the pupil of the eye being struck with such force did the wire strike the lid of the eye.

The presence of several traps in the loft also afforded considerable means of danger.
The case will be heard before Magistrate Dumble tomorrow morning at the regular police court session. When the strangers were searched fifteen dollars were found. This money, the third man says, was stolen from him.

LIQUOR CASES TRIED AT KINMOUNT BIG CLEAN-UP BY THE OFFICIALS

Monday was a red letter day in police court circles at Kinmount, when some half dozen or more liquor cases engaged the attention of the authorities and also afforded some excitement for the villagers.

For some time past it has been known that liquor was being illegally sold not only at Kinmount but also in Galway township, Peterboro County. Provincial License Inspector Ayeards and an assistant have been in that neighborhood for some time looking up evidence, and the result was the court proceedings on Monday.

Court was held before James Wilson, Alex. Morrison and Dr. White, the accused being defended by Mr. G. A. Jordan, of Lindsay.

Mrs. Simpson, proprietor of the hotel at Kinmount, was charged with keeping liquor for sale in a local option territory. A quantity of cider which tested 8 per cent. alcohol was seized on the premises. The court found her guilty, but sentence was not pronounced. Her son, James Simpson, was fined $100 for selling liquor, and a similar fine was imposed on Roy Watson, formerly of Peterboro, for a similar offence. Several other cases were preferred against parties who were drunk in local option territory, and will be disposed of later on.
