Ontario farmers have been fortunate up to the present time with respect to the quality of the grain now standing ready for the binder. The straw is, generally speaking, long and stiff, and holds heads that give promise of some record yields.—Globe.

PORT PERRY MAN LEFT WEALTHY ESTATE

One of the old men of the town in the person of Walter Hill passed away at the age of 93 years. Before coming to Port Perry his home was in Columbus, where for years he kept a hotel. After going out of the hotel business he came here, finding more profitable investments for his money in a country newly opened up. Mr. Hill was a hard working man, shrewd in his dealings, and having ability beyond the ordinary to accumulate wealth. He loved to tell the story of his start in life. He lived down at Columbus and heard that a mill dam was to be built out here where McConnell's are now located, so he put his pickaxe and shovel into a wheelbarrow and wheeled them all the way out here, and took the contract to build the dam. That was about the year 1841. It was estimated at his death that his estate was worth $100,000.

CANNOT SELL YOUNG CALF'S MEAT

The revised Ontario Statutes for 1912 have been sent out and one of the new sections is worth notice by those who have been in the habit of selling very young veal. Section 122 provides that no meat of calves under four weeks old shall be sold or kept for sale, and penalty for a breach of this law, is a fine from $10 to $50.
Moreover, in the case of such meat being found in anyone's possession, the onus of providing that it is not for sale is to rest on the person having the meat.
It has been a matter of common knowledge for some years that calves of two days old and upwards, have been sold each year to be used in one form or another for human consumption, and it is against this

BINDERS BUSY IN ONTARIO

The harvest is on. Binders are already at work in many sections of Ontario, where through exceptionally favorable growing conditions, the grain has become ripe before its usual time. Fall wheat that escaped the fatal effects of last winter's severe frost has turned out a splendid crop, and is now brown and ready for cutting. Then there are "long fields of barley and rye," that have taken on a bleached yellow color in the past few days, and some farmers have started reaping these crops, resolved to take no chances on hail or any other misfortune stepping in. The hay crop, which was exceedingly heavy in most parts, is not yet over but the majority of it, still out, is

LICENSES MAY BE SUSPENDED

Every hotel in Lindsay and in fact the Province of Ontario, is subject to a rigid law in regard to their licenses. When the liquor license authorities have reason to believe that a license holder is not making an honest return of his bar receipts the provincial secretary is authorized to order an enquiry as to the correctness of the return. This power is given under a code of special regulations just passed by the Ontario Government, as provided for in the statute providing for taxation of bar receipts. An enquiry may be conducted by the inspector of the license district, or by a provincial inspector, and all accounts and invoices and other records must be produced, and witnesses are compelled to give attendance and give evidence under oath.

The inspector has all the powers of a commissioner under the act respecting inquiries concerning public matters. Where inquiry establishes a return as correct, the cost of the proceedings must be defrayed by the province. But where the incorrectness of a return is established, the cost must be paid by the license holder. Until such costs are paid, the license is suspended. The provincial secretary, when returns are found to be incorrect, suspends the license or makes such other fines equitable "under the command of the commissioners."

Where receipts exceed $35 per month, cash register receipts $35 per month, cash register receipts must be produced showing the sales and the sales must be entered daily in a special book for the purpose. The monthly return to the Department must be made on a special form, and the license-holder must subscribe to an affidavit that the return is correct.

OBITUARY

MRS. R. MANSFIELD

Kinmount, July 29—On Thursday night, 25th inst., the Angel of Death entered another of our village homes and called away to the Great Beyond a most estimable woman in the person of Mrs. Richard Mansfield. She had been sick but a short time, and seemed to be improving, when she was called away suddenly in her sixty-third year. All the community sympathize with Mr. Mansfield and family in their bereavement. She was one who truly followed the great command, "To love God and her neighbors as herself," as all bear witness to the fact that she was a true friend to all who knew her. Now she is gone she will be missed by all. The funeral was held on Sabbath. The remains were taken to the church at 4 p. m., when Rev. Father Galvin preached a short but impressive sermon, first referring to the deceased, and then speaking to those present on the necessity of being prepared for the change that awaits all, after which the funeral to Swamp Lake took place. The large numbers who followed the remains to their last resting place testify to the place she held in the community.

Old Potatoes Down in Price

There is a certain degree of satisfaction among the householders who have to buy potatoes, owing to the fact that the large quantities of old potatoes held in reserve by those who expected to reap a rich reward by keeping the price up to over $2 per bag, are now on their hands and they are begging buyers for the same tubers they were two weeks ago holding at top notch price, while it was locally reported that the old crop was about exhausted, and a potato famine was threatened during the interval between the old and the new crop. The new crop came in earlier than was anticipated, and prices, even for the superior new article, being only slightly in advance of what they were asking for the old ones, consumers wisely refused to buy the latter. It now transpires that the threatened potato famine, and exhausted supply story, was caused by the holding back of big quantities by those who manage to keep the price to top notch all winter because it is "too cold to team them in," and in the spring because "the crop was small, and the old supply is just about exhausted." The old story, however, proved a boomerang this season, and many are now almost beseeching the public to buy old potatoes at almost any price they may choose to offer.—Exchange.

NEW MAIL POUCH COLLECTING DEVICE

A new mail pouch collecting and delivering device, which it is hoped will prove vastly superior to the present system, has been tested by a number of prominent officials of the Railway Commission and of the Grand Trunk Railway at Ottawa within the past couple of days. The device is the invention of Dr. W. M. Corthill of Washington, D. C., and has been approved by the United States Government. It consists of a swinging gate attached to the door of a railway mail car and a crane erected at the side of the track. The gate is so constructed as to strike a pouch of mail suspended from the crane at an angle of 30 degrees thereby reducing the shock of contact and throwing the sack of mail safely into the car. A great advantage is that it does away with the necessity of a clerk standing at the open door of a car to throw the pouch out. The officials were highly pleased with the eight trials which took place, some of them at the speed of 50 miles an hour, and expressed the opinion that this system was the right one, provided that several minor matters could be adjusted to local requirements. Up to the present mail bags have only been caught up, weighing 10 pounds and under but the new device has no such limitations.
