ELDON TOWNSHIP FALL EXHIBITION THE MOST SUCCESSFUL YET HELD

The Eldon township fair, the first country fair this season, held at Woodville yesterday, was the most successful in the history of the society. The beautiful weather induced a large attendance, and the number of handsome ladies with their escorts on the grounds was most remarkable and one could conclude that Eldon township could not only excel in fine horses and stock, but would more than hold its own with the larger shows in this particular.

The showing of horses was very good and particularly horses of the heavier breeds, but there were some very choice drivers shown.

The cattle were also good, several large herds and there were some choice individual animals, both in thoroughbred Durhams and Jerseys.

Sheep were also good and the competition was strong.

The ladies' work shown in the hall eclipsed anything in that line shown at Woodville. The work was in most cases quite up-to-date style, of good workmanship, and some of it particularly clever.

There were also some excellent samples of grains and roots shown, which surpassed those shown last year.

Taking the show altogether, it reflects great credit on the president and his able staff of directors for the splendid success of the fair. The absence of horse racing was more than made up for by the baseball tournament. It was a good lively one, the crowds of spectators surrounding the diamond, and the interest was intense during the entire afternoon.

JOHN HENDRY, President Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Kinmount Fair Great Success

Splendid Weather Graced the Annual Event in Northern Village

The Galway Agricultural fall show held at Kinmount each year is one of the important events in the history of the north country.

This year's show, held yesterday, was of the best small shows taking place this year. The number of entries, were much larger than last year, and the attendance quite up to the usual and would have been larger had the Canadian Northern brought down the usual special train on the I. B. & O., which was a great disappointment to the directors.

The merry go round was on hand with all noise and attractiveness and was largely patronized by the young people. The usual number of came and ring men were in evidence and did a rushing business.

There were a number of horse races which drew the usual crowds of spectators.

A baseball game between Galway and Fenelon Falls attracted a large crowd of interested spectators. This style of amusement is becoming a great feature at fall shows, and is proving quite a drawing card.

The horses were well represented in each class and there were some good animals shown. In cattle the showing was not as good, and could be materially improved.

In sheep there never is a large showing at Galway show, but those shown are good and compare very well with those shown at other small shows in this district.

In poultry the showing was small, but the quality was good.

The roots, grains, and inside exhibits were good but not numerous. The butter, bread, etc., was excellent and it is not to be wondered at that such stalwart sons come from North Victoria, when their mothers make such excellent bread and butter.

In ladies' work there was a splendid showing, some choice pieces of handsome design and cleverly executed.

Taking the show altogether, the president, secretary and directors are to be congratulated on its success. The delightful weather brought many out, and it afforded a grand opportunity for neighborly visit and reunion, as well as the education such an event affords.

What About Lindsay?

Another boom-the West book has come to hand, this time from Saskatchewan's capital, Regina, with its record for growth from 2,000 souls ten years ago to 17,000 to-day, is one of the splendid prospects of newer Canada, and the Greater Regina Club has issued a commercial souvenir that is worth while.

What about that Greater Lindsay Club?

DELINE CHARGED WITH MURDER CERTAIN SPOTS ON HIS CLOTHING

Havelock, Ont. Sept. 20.—Developments are expected in the Belmont murder case before long, but in exactly what direction is not known just now. The police are making vigorous attempts to work upon before the inquest is resumed on Friday. The difference in time is at yet unaccounted for. It will be remembered that Deline stated himself that he arrived home about 8.30 o'clock in the evening. He left the home of Mr. Wm. McMillan, about fifteen minutes walk, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Newell says he did not arrive at her home until about ten o'clock. Here is an hour and a half of time to be accounted for. It is believed that Deline is epileptic. He has shown symptoms of it, and he has always been regarded a little queer by his neighbors. He has some nervous trouble that affects his speech and when he is aroused his lips will emit frothy saliva. Many queer actions on Deline's part have been noticed by the neighbors. Sometimes he would halt in his work in the field and shout, apparently for no reason. He would then continue his work.

Provincial Detective Reburn and County Constable Williams, of town, are working on the case to-day, although there is very little evidence on which to work. The one thing that is clear is, that some time between 8 and 10 o'clock p.m., Thursday Mrs. Deline was attacked in the back shed of her home by an unknown assailant, and in the desperate struggle which seems to have ensued she received a shock which caused her death.

Although several theories have been set forth there is very little evidence to justify an arrest as far as the public know.

Havelock, Sept. 20. Another interesting situation in Belmont township mystery developed this afternoon, while Provincial Constable Reburn, and County Constable Williams were at the home of Deline. Reburn, bent on an interview, Deline appeared in town unattended, and apparently unaware of what was pending. He was at once shown by Village Constable Bennett, who is helping Williams on the case, though he was not molested or interfered with in any way. Bennett kept an eye on Deline, waiting the appearance of the other officials who obviously hunt in vain for the man.

DELINE ARRESTED.

Havelock, Sept. 22.—The Dummer Township mystery took a startling turn yesterday afternoon when Hugh Deline was arrested at 3.30, charged with the murder of his wife, Christie May Parks.

Deline came to Havelock at two o'clock to buy some coal oil and other household necessities, and from the time he placed foot in the municipality he was shadowed persistently by local Constable Bennett.

Provincial Constable Reburn, who has been detailed to the case by the Attorney-General's Department, was at the time, on his way to the Deline home, accompanied by County Constable Williams, armed with a warrant for Deline's arrest. Learning that their quarry had driven in to Havelock, they turned back and took Deline into custody immediately upon reaching here. The warrant did not minimize in the slightest, but charged straight, unadulterated murder.

Deline did not evince the slightest emotion, other than natural surprise in a mild degree. The childish sympathy of the man makes his predicament almost pitiful. After warning would be used as evidence against him, the police interviewed the prisoner. He persisted in declaring that he was innocent.

He was arraigned before Magistrate Joyce last night, and was remanded to the county jail at Peterboro, where he will remain until Friday afternoon, when he will appear at the inquest here at 1 o'clock. He may not be put on the witness stand at this session of the inquest.

The reason the crown authorities decided to arrest Deline is that, in addition to the suspicious circumstances already cited, which would appear to identify him with the case, spots were found on his trousers corresponding to those on the dead woman's clothes. These spots were emitted from the woman's body during the violent spasm of fright, which the doctors say, was responsible for her death.

It is contended that if analysis identifies the spots on the man's clothes with the spots on the woman's skirt, it will be difficult for Deline to explain their presence there, since he declares he was too frightened or horrified, upon discovering his wife lying in the washbasin, to go near her, and that he did not touch her body at all.

This, then, gives the constabulary three points of incrimination against Deline, viz., his statements to three persons that he expected to go home and find his wife dead; the fact that it took him two and a half hours to go, as he says, almost directly, about two miles, and the spots on his clothing.

How Mr. Brady Found His Bait

Incident of a Fishing Expedition on Sturgeon Lake Tuesday

Mr. Nicholas Brady is the hero of the prize fish story of the season. In company with a local lady and gentleman, Mr. Brady was on Tuesday enjoying a fish on Sturgeon Lake near the Point. He was using two baits which he prized very highly (being a present received from a relative some twenty years ago) when he felt a pull on the line. He drew it up into the boat, and had almost landed a fine lunge when the fish made a dive for liberty, carrying with it the baits. Mr. Brady, while expressing his regret at losing the baits, was suddenly notified by the lady that something was tugging at her line. Willing hands drew it in, and imagine the look of surprise on Mr. Brady's face when it turned out that the fish captured. In making its escape the that had swallowed his bait had been other bait had become entangled in the lady's line.

Thanksgiving Day A Fast Day

Comes on the Eve of All Saints This Year

Monday, October 31st is to be Thanksgiving Day. Sir Wilfrid Laurier picked upon that date in deference to the wishes of the commercial travellers, but in doing so he unintentionally selected a date upon which practically half of the population will have to go without the festive turkey. October 31st is the eve of all Saints, and is observed as a fast day in the Roman Catholic church.

Turkeys, therefore, ought to be much cheaper, and while a great many will abstain from this favorite Thanksgiving dish, it means that other fellow.
