HOU LIHAN—MORRISSEY

On Tuesday last a very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Luke's church, Downeyville, when Miss Mae Morrissey, a very popular young lady of that place, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Edward Houlihan of Emily. The bride was very becomingly gowned in white silk with silver trimmings and wore a black picture hat. The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Meehan, Caroline-st., Lindsay, was dressed in a very pretty dress of corn colored silk with over-lace and wore a large white hat. Mr. Joseph Piggot, of Downeyville, acted the part of groomsmen in a very able manner. After the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Father McGuire, the bridal party motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served to a large concourse of friends of both the bride and groom. The bride received many pretty and useful presents, showing the high esteem in which she was held by her many friends. The bride's travelling suit was of light grey tweed with black trimming. Mr. and Mrs. Houlihan will reside in North Porcupine, Ont. Hearty congratulations are extended to the young couple.

SHE FAINTED WITH THE AGONY

"Fruit-a-lives" Cured Her Kidneys

MOUNTAIN, ONT., DEC. 14TH, 1910

"I desire to let the world know the great debt I owe 'Fruit-a-lives' which saved my life when I had given up hope of ever being well again.

For six years, I suffered from dreadful kidney disease. My legs and lower part of my body were fearfully swollen. The pain in my side and legs would be so bad that I would faint with the agony.

Five different doctors attended me and all said it was kidney disease and gave me no hope of getting well.

A kind neighbor visited me and mentioned the case of Mrs. Fenwick who had been cured of a sickness like mine. I took 'Fruit-a-lives' and in a short time, I began to feel better—the swelling went down—the pains were easier—and soon I was well.

I have gained over 30 pounds since taking 'Fruit-a-lives'—and my friends look upon my recovery as a miracle."

(MISS) MAGGIE JANNACK.

"Fruit-a-lives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c— or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

SHOULD GROUND ALL STEEL ROOFS

Steel roofs on barns, so The Chatham Planet, was told by an authority, are the very best protection to buildings and crops, if the proper methods are taken to convey the lightning direct from the roof to the ground.

In the case of a recent fire in Chatham township, the lightning, a very heavy bolt, hit the peak of the roof and scattered in every direction, seeking the best conductor as a "ground" to the earth beneath. No wire or cable had been attached to the roof of the barn and the lightning jumped from the gable and the eaves to the interior, where it followed the plane of the least resistance through the moist grain in the mows. Had there been a wire or copper cable attached to the eaves of the roof, there is no doubt that the fluid would have followed this to the ground.

Authorities on the subject advise farmers who have steel roofs on their barns to attach copper cables to the eaves of the roof and run them to a block or iron under ground. Lightning will not penetrate a steel roof, and as there is less resistance and a better conductor in a copper wire than in any other material, it is sure to follow such a wire to the earth in preference to short-circuiting through the moist grain.

WOODVILLE FAIR WAS WELL ATTENDED IDEAL WEATHER FOR THE EVENT

Directors of the fall exhibition of the Woodville Agricultural Society, at Woodville yesterday, certainly had a fine day for their fair. In a sense acted a good deal against them, however, in that a good many people found it necessary to stay away from the harvests, as the weather was good and consequently the attendance was not as large as it might have been. Last year the directors were unfortunate as the weather was so disagreeable and rainy that people would travel any distance on the day of the fair.

The gate receipts, however, were a fairly respectable amount, and there will be a little more added to the nest egg the directors laid away against a bad year or to make some improvements to the grounds.

A report got circulated a few days ago that there would be no exhibition of farm produce this of course kept a few away with and a baseball team substituted, and proved of great interest to the crowd, which gathered at the edge of the field. The teams were the teams scheduled for the day.

In the main building the paintings, fancy goods, and so forth were of a little higher quality, but not as numerous as in other years. A couple of skeins of extra fine home spun yarn attracted a great deal of attention. The vegetables, which included carrots, cauliflowers, pumpkins, celery, citrons, squash, potatoes, etc., were there in the usual quantity.

In the live stock section an immense two year old Yorkshire white sow weighing over one thousand pounds attracted a great deal of attention. Two of these swine exhibited by Wm. Manning, of Hartley, weighed together would force the scales close to a ton. In sheep some of the exhibitors were J. A. Cullis, Jas. Murray, Manilla, John Trebilcock, Wm. Manning, Andrew McKay, and Geo. McKague. Cattle exhibitors were Wm. Manning, D. C. Ross, and Jno. Campbell, of Fairview.

Among the horses there were a couple of extra good fillies from registered mares which it would be very hard to judge between. Mr. John Campbell of Fairview exhibited a mare and colt and a heavy draught stallion of extra good quality, but unfortunately had no competitors. Altogether it may be said that the directors did unusually well in getting up such a good exhibition against the odds of harvesting weather after prolonged dampness.

BINGEMAN—REESOR

A very pretty wedding was solemnized this afternoon at two o'clock in the Cambridge-st. Methodist church, when the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Reesor, (Fanny Alberta) was united in marriage to Mr. Milton Hallman Bingeman, of Toronto, formerly of Winnipeg, son of the late Mr. Jos. Bingeman, of Berlin, Ont. Rev. Dr. S. J. Shorey officiated, with Mr. Cecil Cari Forsyth at the organ.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin chapeau, trimmed with huckleberry, and Chantilly lace. She wore a veil of Brussels net with Juliet cap and orange blossoms, and carried a shower of bridal roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Lillian Jeffers, wore a gown of shell pink meteor satin, with shadow lace and touches of pale blue and cap of pearls. She carried a sheaf of pink roses and maiden hair fern.

The groom was supported by Mr. Geo. E. Clarke, of Forest. The ushers were Mr. Walter E. Reesor, brother of the bride, and Mr. J. Ernest Graham, of Toronto.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Walter E. Reesor sang, "Because."

Immediately after the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Frances-st., the guests numbering about sixty. Mrs. B. F. Reesor wore a beautiful gown of old rose satin brocade with Spanish lace and beaver hat to match. The spacious rooms were tastefully decorated with banks of ferns and palms and presented a very soothing, cooling effect to the eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Bingeman left afterwards by motor for Mr. and Mrs. Reesor's summer home at Miner's Bay, Gull Lake.

NO DANCE HALL AT THE FAIR

Peterboro Times: "Lindsay exhibition is to have a dance hall in connection with their fair, where all who feel like indulging in the hazy whirl of the terpsichorean art may jig away till they grow tired, at the low rate of five cents per jig. The first thing the directors will know they will be at cross purposes with those who believe it sinful to dance."

This is incorrect. There is no such attraction in connection with the fair.

Reforestry in Haliburton

The English Land Co. of Haliburton has started on reforestation this year. Last spring they set out 8,000 pines about six inches high, ten feet apart, on about twelve acres of commons at the old Marsallas farm, Eagle Lake settlement, and fenced them in with a wire fence. It has been a great season for them and they are all doing well.

PURE WATER AND THE DEATH RATE

It is often assumed that the value of an improved water supply is measured by the decrease in the health rate from typhoid fever. As a matter of fact these figures tell but a part of the story. The so-called Mills-Reinke phenomenon (decrease in the general death rate of cities following the purification of a polluted water supply) indicates that the lives saved from typhoid are but a third, perhaps not more than a quarter of the total saving. Dr. A. J. McLaughlin, of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, believes that a pure water supply greatly diminishes the fatalities among young children from intestinal diseases. When, as occasion happens, the introduction of a pure public water supply seems at first to have no effect in reducing the general death rate, or even that from typhoid itself, it should be remembered, says Dr. McLaughlin, that water is but one of many sources of infection. The contagious diseases furnish an uncertain element in the mortality statistics which may in any year, or even during a period of years, render conclusions regarding the value of any single improvement in public sanitation of little value.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT. Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become unbearable and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope, but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Dr. Kennedy & they were square and ethical. I wrote them and got THE NEW HARMONIC TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

RELIGIOUS STATISTICS OF THE DOMINION

Of the twenty-seven tabulated religions in the census returns just issued, the Roman Catholics stand first as to numbers, with 2,220,600 adherents. The Methodist church comes next with 916,886; the Presbyterians, 842,442; the Anglicans, 680,620; the Baptists, 316,477; the Congregationalists, 28,292. The total of the five prominent Protestant denominations is, therefore, 2,784,718. A number of other Protestant sects add up the total of 230,000.

Among other interesting items in this statement of religious beliefs it may be mentioned that the Greek church has 15,330 members, that the Buddhists number 10,407, the Confucians 5,115, and the Mormons 6,891. In 1871 there were 1,115 Jews in Canada; now there are 17,401. The pagans recorded themselves, or are recorded, as 15,107, and the agnostics 3,613.

Among the denominations that have made no numerical progress since 1871 are the Unitarians, the Society of Friends and the Universalists. The first mentioned body numbered 2,275 in 1871 and it is recorded as 1,934 today. The Society of Friends had 7,345 adherents in 1871, and it has 4,109 now. The Roman Catholic churches exhibit a steady and regular increase.

HOW TO FIGHT THE GAMBLING GERM

The case of the two young bank clerks who stole the money entrusted to their keeping in order that they might play the races, has attracted considerable attention during the past few days. Everywhere the strongest of condemnation is meted out these two young men, and it is quite right that such actions should be met by strong public disapproval. No matter how great the temptation there is no excuse for the deliberate theft of money to satisfy luxurious desires. If these two young men had been in need of food or necessary clothing, and had taken the money to satisfy the necessities of living, their crime would still be as great, but they would find large numbers of people who would sympathize with them, and probably make some effort to lighten their sentences, but the stealing of money to play the races has absolutely no defence. They stand in order that they might make dishonest and unearned gain, and their actions are therefore deserving of unequalled condemnation.

The Ottawa Citizen commenting upon the case makes a few observations that are exceedingly appropriate, and that point to an evil of the present day that probably has a great deal to do with the fall of these two young men. The Citizen calls this evil the "gambling germ." After commenting upon the condemnation which is due the action of these two latest victims, the Citizen goes on to say:

"But the part of greater wisdom is discovered to be the condemnation of the whole practice of which the two bank clerks' downfall was but a typical result. They are but glaring illustrations of a disease which is all too prevalent, and which is both virulent and contagious. The basis of the evil is the gambling germ.

"In gambling there is no variation of vice. Whether raffling for a watch, staking money on a wheel in a dive, betting on an election, or "playing the ponies," the germ is exactly the same. Once the germ gets into the system it is only a matter of development. One may be able to resist its encroachment upon the moral health, while another, lacking the strength, becomes its helpless victim.

"Two methods of dealing with the disease are apparent. One is to pass and enforce more stringent laws for the suppression of gambling. It must be said with shame that gambling practices that have been rigorously abolished in New York state are still allowed to exist in Ontario. And so long as temptation is deliberately left in the way of young men the province must hold itself as responsible in part for their downfall.

"The other method is by the individual discouragement of the practice. Every better makes some one worse. The strong man who places a dollar bet on a game or a race is setting an example to some other man who cannot withstand the temptations involved. Individual action will perhaps do more than anything else to eradicate this germ and the disease which it creates.

"Granting that every man has an inherent right to stake his money on any chance, he has no right to spread the gambling disease to others less able to withstand its attack. So long as respectable will gamble in any way it may be expected that the downfall of bank clerks will be part of the price paid by society."

CONSTABLE SHORT SOME FISHERMAN

Constable John Short, who has been enjoying a vacation, can not only catch evil doers, but members of the fuzzy tribe as well. He has just returned from a fishing trip on Sturgeon and Pigeon Lakes with a nice catch of hnge. Henry Kelly, of Bobcaygeon, who accompanied him to Ball Lake, landed a small mouthed black bass weighing four and a half pounds.

MINDEN MAN WAS BADLY INJURED

Minden Echo: While using a horse rake on his brother's farm on Wednesday, Mr. James Ranson was quite seriously hurt when the horses ran away, dragging him a considerable distance in the rake. Medical aid was promptly rushed to the field and the injured man was brought to the Ranson House, where every attention has been given. No bones were broken, and on going to press we learn that his recovery is quite certain.
