

Brakeman's Leg Was Amputated

The Post was informed today that J. White, brakeman on the G.T.R. manifest, who was injured at Belleville on Monday morning, has suffered the loss of his left leg at Belleville hospital. His many friends in town will regret to learn of his misfortune.

Sault Ste Marie is preparing for a local option campaign, and petitions are being circulated.

Burglars broke into the C.P.R. stations at Moffat and Campbellville some time during Sunday night.

CHARGED WITH SERIOUS OFFENCE

High County Constable Thornbury was in Bexley township on Tuesday and brought with him to Lindsay a young man who is charged with a serious offence. The accused furnished security for his appearance at a county court session on Sept. 24th. The complainant in the case resides near Norland. The young man feels his position keenly.

While walking on the track William H. Peward, living near Danee, was struck by a train there on the G.T.R., and had his skull crushed.

GALWAY FAIR GOOD SUCCESS

Large Crowd and Good Exhibits the Feature

The bright, clear weather, of yesterday assisted to make Kimmount Fair the success it was, large numbers of people coming by train and buggy from long distances. Although this season has been exceptionally dry, there being only two rains of any consequence all summer, the exhibit of grains and roots was good, and in some cases exceptional. Shortly after dinner the crowd began to stream to the grounds, to be met there by the lively music of the merry-go-round, the insistent bark of the spellers, with old and new games, and the patent medicine man. Everywhere was excitement, hurry, noise.

But people as a rule head for the exhibits first and leave the money spending until later, so we will take you through exhibition hall, where the surrounding country's produce was piled high. Downstairs is the grain and root exhibit and also the dairy and flowers display, while above the ladies' work pleases the artistic eye.

The grains are fairly heavy, with a sample of probably the finest oats seen in the north country, taking first attention. Black oats, peas, flax seed, timothy and beans are of clean and free from impurities, showing that care had been used in preparing the exhibit. Mr. J. Robinson, and Mr. Turnbull of Minden were among the main exhibitors and took several prizes.

A large display of roots lined one side of the building, large smooth potatoes, fine, clean carrots, good beets and tremendous mangolds were featured. Rev. Alex. Morrison and Mr. Boynton, of Kimmount, J. Robinson and Mr. Turnbull of Minden, were the chief prize winners in this division.

In the room were the flowers of many kinds arranged in neat, attractive manner, that brought out the different lines to perfection. Considerable fruit was shown, and a very noticeable point was that although there was no spraying of apples the fruit was as clean as could be. Insect parasites do not annoy the northern fruit grower. Mrs. F. Hurlbut, of Kimmount, was one of the largest exhibitors of flowers.

But the dairy department. What fine butter, neatly packed and of pure flavor was shown. Then bread, buns and other such triumphs were nearby, tempting jellies, and jams and preserves. No wonder the northerners are hale and hearty, with such wives as prepared the exhibit at Kimmount Fair.

The ladies' section upstairs was

NOTHING AHEAD BUT TROUBLE

Man Blows His Head Off With Gun

(Special to The Post.)

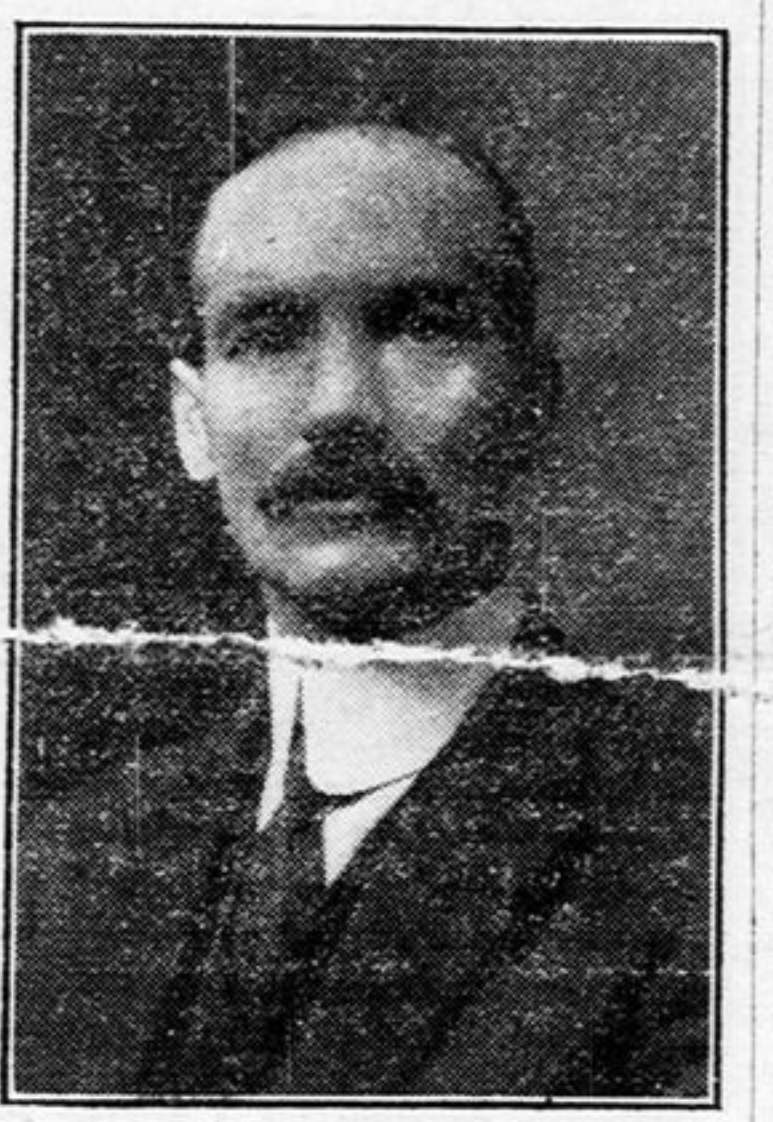

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 17.—Louis Juby, aged about 35 years, residing in Sidney Township, Monday committed suicide by shooting himself. In the afternoon a relative found a note tacked upon the stable door, which read as follows: "Seeing nothing ahead but work and trouble, you will find my body near the well in the lane." An immediate investigation resulted in the finding of Juby's body at the place indicated by the note. The unfortunate man had, in a moment of mental aberration, taken his life.

The victim's wife was buried a year ago or the date he took his life. Two young sons survive. Juby was in comfortable circumstances and apparently in his usual health and mind on the morning of the tragedy.

LINDSAY'S HUSTLING MERCHANT

The latest addition to Lindsay's list of enterprising business men is Mr. Ed. C. Armstrong, late of Dundas & Flavell's, Limited, and proprietor of the New Men's Wear Store, Kent-st.

Mr. Armstrong is well known in town and district as a hustler, and as his business slogan is "Service," it promises to be a magnet that will attract hundreds who look for fair dealing and good value for their money.

Ed. C. Armstrong, of the new Men's wear store, is well known to the folk of town and country, and since establishing in Lindsay one of the best and most up-to-date men's wear stores, he naturally looks for a large patronage. Having been connected for the last eleven years with the clothing and gent's furnishing department of the D. & F. store, he is well versed and experienced in the art of buying and selling right. Honesty in dealing with customers, and good service to all will be the aim of this store.

Mr. Armstrong recognizes the fact that a man has no place in business unless he knows something about it, and in the men's wear he has had considerable valuable experience, which should serve him well while in business for himself. In branching out the first consideration was location, and having secured the lease of the store next to the new Beall building, he secured one of the best in town. After making arrangements for the purchasing of his different lines of goods, Mr. Armstrong then opened up for business in March, although occupying the store a little earlier.

Mr. Armstrong having "Service" as his slogan, and service means thinking first of the customer in every transaction, has already experienced a steady and growing trade, as through this policy may have been brought to trade with him through the word-of-mouth advertising of satisfied customers.

Local Delegates Present An Anglican Sunday School Convention, of the Rural Deanery of Durham and Victoria Counties, was held yesterday in Millbrook, at which Miss M. Hoadley and Mrs. E. J. Kenny, attended, as delegates from St. Paul's Sunday School.

BONDED FREIGHT THIEVES CONFESS

Band of Looters Operated On Big Scale

(Special to The Post.)

BRIDGEBURG, Ont., Sept. 17.—The wholesale theft of merchandise from bonded cars in the Bridgeburg-Fort Erie yard has assumed an international aspect. To-day a score of private detectives, with many warrants, are scouring Buffalo and Bridgeburg in search of the ring-leaders of the gang whose extensive operations have startled the district. Of twenty men, against whom charges are made, five have already pleaded guilty to charges of theft. They will appear for sentence to-day before Magistrate John G. Rathvon. The others, who are alleged to have been implicated in the thefts, will be arraigned at the same time.

Following the appearance of the accused in court, yesterday disclosures of a startling nature are predicted by the detectives working on the case. It was stated last night that about fifty people, a number of whom are railway employees, are under surveillance, but the police will not divulge the names pending further developments. According to the detectives and policemen, the loss sustained jointly by the Grand Trunk, the Wabash and the Michigan Central Railways will be in the neighborhood of $40,000.

The detectives laid a decoy for the culprits and some of the railway employees under suspicion neglected to hedge themselves around with all precautions, and eventually stepped into the trap. Realizing that they were caught red-handed, several abandoned their positions and fled before the detectives obtained warrants for their arrest. While the five men under arrest, two of whom are C.T.R. employees, have admitted their guilt, they stoutly refuse to disclose the full details of their method.

The majority of the cars robbed here were broken into and the contents ransacked at H. office terminal, a mile and a half from the town. No. 91, a fast merchandise freight, which passes through here daily between nine and ten o'clock in the evening, was usually the train from which the thieves made the successful hauls. At H. terminal the conductor has to wait for running orders and occasionally for passenger trains, which often results in the goods being left unattended for some time. The thieves started their operations, the loot would be thrown into empty coal cars and subsequently smuggled across the border. The cars entered were mostly routed for Detroit, St. Louis and other American points via Windsor. According to railway officials, between sixty and seventy-five cars were broken into and valuable merchandise abstracted, some of which they never expect to recover. The loot has been in most instances so widely distributed that the detectives are experiencing much difficulty in recovering it. It was reported at police headquarters last night that several cases of shoes and silks had been found in a field on the outskirts of Bridgeburg. In a number of cases people who had received stolen shoes, etc., voluntarily produced the goods a police headquarters when they learned that the detectives were about to execute search warrants. Special officers were sent to Windsor and Detroit last night by the railway companies to investigate and clear up the operations at these points.

A cold wave is sweeping through Southern Alberta, and at Edmonton the thermometer registered as low as 36 degrees.

FOUNDATION WALL BADLY BUILT

Result of Inquest at Peterboro Tuesday

Peterboro, Sept. 16.—The adjourned inquest into the cause of the death of Hannah Sisson, one of the five victims of the collapse of the Turnbull building on the morning of August 28th, was resumed here tonight. The additional evidence given contradicted that presented at the first sitting, to the effect that the cause of the collapse was the defective foundation, which received the concentrated character of the basement wall thrust of the pillars used to replace the party wall which was removed to throw two shops into one.

JURY DOES NOT FIX BLAME The jury retired at 10 o'clock, and after an absence of an hour and a half, returned a verdict that Hannah Sisson came to her death through the collapse of the Turnbull building, and that the evidence was not sufficient to determine the person or persons responsible for the collapse of the building. The jury recommended that the city council provide a building inspector whose duties would include the inspection of buildings undergoing alterations.

VERY BADLY BUILT. The principal witness was G. W. Gounlock, Provincial Government Architect, sent down by the Attorney-General's Department to inspect the situation. He examined the foundation wall, and found that it had been very badly built.

LARRY FALLON WAS INJURED

Pleasant Point, Sept. 15.—On Tuesday last while driving the head agent of the Case Threshing Machine Co. to see Mr. Wm. McGaffey who was working an outfit at Riverview Farm. Mr. Larry Fallon, of Lindsay, was the victim of a serious accident.

The spirited horse became frightened at the engine and started to run. Mr. Fallon tried to stop the animal, but while doing so one of the lines broke with the result that the horse turned short overturning the buggy and precipitating Mr. Fallon heavily to the ground. The gentleman was stunned for a minute or so, but was able to drive back to town. The buggy was badly shaken up and the harness broken in many places, but the whole affair was better than might have been expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Jackson and Miss Olive Mills, all of South Emily, spent Sunday with friends in this vicinity. Dr. Collison, Miss N. Willken, night supervisor of the Ross Hospital, and Miss M. Brien, nurse-in-training of the hospital, all of Lindsay, motored here on Monday and called for a few hours at the latter's home.

ONION IS THE LATEST

Belleville, O., Sept. 13.—A remarkable achievement in horticulture has been accomplished by the Ontario County Commissioner in his experiments with onions and plants. The work of Mr. Miller has, in the production of the Be Amuda onion, which has a golden yellow color, which is the hardness of the golden onion, and has no unpleasant odor. The pink seedless tomato is much superior to the other varieties.

SUCCESSFUL SCHOOL FAIR

The Rural School Fair work is continuing. On Monday Cambray, Cameron, Bryson's, Eden, Islay and Hartley schools met in competition at Cambray. The large attendance and high standard of the exhibits denoted the great interest which has been taken in the work during the summer. The officials for the day were—E. S. Hopkins, B.S.A., Norwood, judge of vegetables and fruit; J. G. Taggart, B.S.A., Sydenham, judge of vegetables and fruit; A. A. Knight, B.S.A., Lindsay, judge of nature collections; Mrs. McPhayden, Lindsay, judge of sewing, baking, and flowers; Mrs. J. T. Birchard, of Linden Valley, judge of sewing, baking and flowers; Mr. Henry Tompkins, Lindsay, judge of sports; Mr. H. R. Hare, Lindsay, referee of sports; Mr. Ernie Tompkins, Cambray, referee of baseball.

The prize for the best school display was awarded to Miss Langford's school at Cameron, with Mr. Carroll's at Bryson's, which took second prize, following closely.

A junior baseball tournament was played off, the following teams competing: Cameron, Bryson's, Cambray and Hartley. Bryson's school won out in a final game, and each boy on the team was awarded a prize.

A program of races was run off as well. The total result was that all were pleased, and are attempting to make next year's fair even a greater success.
