WHILLER HIS REGAR

on Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mir. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body-bowels, idneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, blood quickly becomes impure and repently sores break out over the body. he way to heal them, as Mr. Richard The way who lives near London, Ont., and, is to purify the blood. He

For some time I had been in a low, foressed condition. My appetite left ne and I soon began to suffer from indigrion Quite a number of small sores ad blotches formed all over my skin. 1 ned medicine for the blood and used may kinds of ointments, but without ultilactory results. What was wanted thorough cleansing of the blood, adl looked about in vain for some medione that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills ree brought to my notice, and they are me of the most wonderful medicines I here ever known. My blood was puriedis a very short time, sores healed up, indigestion vanished. They always brea place in my home and are looked Dr. Morse's Indian Roo' Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all ast evening a meeting of gentleexho have been actively identified estior the purpose of discussing the ware of the organization. After some conssion it was decided by those pre and to use every possible means to two the local society in existence and e is expected that at the annual meding on Monday evening, Nov. 6th maggressive set of officers will winted to control the destinies of his estimable organization.

(From Tueshav's Post)

his to be hoped that our citizens ellevince a greater interest in this Society, which is doing so much to ister floriculture in this town.

NO DIVERSION AT POTTERY CORNERS

The Board of Railway Commissionas has decided against diverting the madway at Pottery Corners. Word to is effect has been received by Mr. imew, Township Clerk.

it will be remembered that a week # so ago Mr. Darcy Scott, a member d the Commission, together with Mr. 7. L. Simmons, assistant engineer. nated Pottery Corner and inspected tie roadway. It was suggested that a cause be made in the roadway by toming 100 ft. in on Mr. J. Robertsm's farm, as it was felt this would issen the danger which is said to ist at this point.

Mr. Scott and the engineer made a my careful inspection of the locality st the time, and the railway board hat no time in sending in its decision

OBITUARY

(From Monday'S Post.) MICHAEL BIC.

Testerday morning the death occurted at the Ross Memorial Hospital of Michael Bic. The deceased is an Ausnan, and has been employed on the milroad construction work near Beth-My. He is apparently about thirty Pars of age. The cause of his death respleurisy and pneumonia.

The funeral will take place this aftanoon to St. Mary's Church, where mile will be held at 2.30 and promed to the Roman Catholic cen etery for interment.

Mr. F. D. Moore left on the north train to-day manksgiving Day SINGLE Between all stations in Canada, also to Nagara Falls and Buffalo, N.Y., Port duron and Detroit, Mich. Good Going October 27, 28, 29, 30

Return Limit November 1st, 1911 FARE. Daily until Nov. 11

a points in Tennagami, points Mattauning and Kipawa, Que.,

OCT. 13th to NOV. 11th a Muskoka Lakes. Penetang, Lake of Mays, Midland, Maganetawan River, akefield, Madawaska to Parry Sound Argyle to Coboconk, Lindsay to Hali-Points from Severn to North desers calle for return until harday, Dec 14th, except to points backed by steamer lines, Tuesday November 14th.

Full particulars from

W. R. WIDDESS, City Agent, A. MacNABB, Depot Agent or address A. E. DUFF, D. P. A. Toronto

THE GUEST OF QUESNAY

By Booth Tarkington.

"The Guest of Quesnay" tells the story of a pure woman's love and sacrifice for a debased, misled, pleasure loving man; it tells in captivating vein of picturesque Paris, too - of the cosmopolitan life of the famous capital. Its character sketches of continental society as well as peasantry are unmistakable in their picturing, and its romance, its mystery and its refreshing comedy give the same qualities to the novel that placed the author's "Monsieur Beaucaire" among the masterpieces of contemporaneous fiction.

CHAPTER L.

HERE are old Parisians who will tell you pompously that the boulevards, like the political cates, have ceased to exist, but this means only that the boulevards ro longer gossip of Louis Napoleon, the return of the Bourbons or of General Boulanger, for these highways are always too busily stirring with present movements not to be forgetful of their yesterdays. In the shade of whithe local Horticultural Society, the buildings and awnings the loungers, the lookers-on in Paris, the audience of the boulevard, sit at little tables, sipping coffee from long glasses, drinking absinth or bright colored sirups and gazing over the heads of throngs afoot at others borne along through the sunshine of the street in carriages, in cabs, in glittering automobiles or high on the tops of omni-

From all the continents the multitudes come to join in that procession-Americans tagged with rare cards and intending bilarious disturbances, puzzled Americans worn with guidebook plodding. Chinese princes in silk, queer Aptillean dandies of swarthy origin and fortune, ruddy English thinking of nothing, pallid English with upper teeth bared and eyes bungrily searching for signboards of tea rooms, over-Europeanized Japanese pupleasantly immaculate, burnoosed sheiks from the desert and red fezzed Semitic peddlers, Italian nobles in English tweeds, Sudanese negroes swaggering in frock coats, slim Spaniards, squat Turks, travelers, idiers, exiles, fugitives, sportsmen. All the tribes and kinds of men are tributary here to the Parisian stream, which on a fair day in spring already everflows the banks with its own much mingled waters-soberly ciad burgesses, bearded, amiable and in no fatal nurry; well kept men of the world swirling by in miraculous limousines, legless cripples flopping on hands and leather pads, thin whiskered students in velveteen, walrus mustached veterans in broadcloths, keen faced old prelates, shabby young priests, cavairymen in casque and cuirass, workingmen turned horse and harnessed to carts, sidewalk jesters, itinerant venders of questionable wares, shady loafers dressed to resemble gold showering America, motor cyclists in leather, bairy musicians, blue gendarmes, baggy red zouaves, purple faced, glazed hatted, scarlet waistcoated, cigarette smoking cabmen, calling one another "onions," "camels" and names even more terrible. Women are prevalent over all the concourse-tair women. dark women, pretty women, gilded women, haughty women, indifferent women, friendly women, merry women, tine women in fine clothes, rich women in fine clothes, poor women in the clothes. worldly old women reclining beturred in electric landaulets, wordy old wom-

So if you sit at the little tables often enough-that is, it you become an amateur boulevardier-you begin to recognize the transient stars of the pageant, those to whom the boulevard alsignt nutter, the turning of heads, a murmur of comment and the incredulous boulevard smile, which seems to say: "You see-madame and monsieur passing there. Evidently they think en boidenishly trundling carts full of flowers, wonderful automobile women, quick glimpsed, in multiple veils of white and brown and sea green; women in rags and tags and women draped, coifed and befrilled to the delirium of maddened poet-milliners and the basheesh dreams of ladies' tai-we still believe in them." This flutter bernided and followed the passing of a white touring car with the procession one afternoon just before the Grand Prix, though it need-Return Tickets at SINGLE ed no boulevard celebrity to make the man who folled in the tonneau conspicgons. Simply for that, notoriety was superfluous; so were the remarkable also to certain points in Que- size and power or his car; so was the New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and plaborate touring costume of flannels and pangee he were; so was even the manneled presence of the dancer who sat beside him. His tace would have done it without accessories. My old friend George Ward and I bad met for our aperior at the Terrace where amountaine came snaking its way craftily through the traffic. Turning in to pass a victoria on the wrong side, it was forced down to a snail's pace near the curb and not far from our table, where it paused, checked by a blockade at the next corner. I heard Ward utter a balf suppressed guttural of what I took to be amezement, and I and not woulder.

The face of the man in the tonneau detuched him to the spectator's gaze and singled him out of the concourse with an effect almost judicrous in its incongruity. The pair was dark, lustrons and thick, the forehead broad and finery modeled and certain other ruinous vestiges of youth and good looks remained, but whatever the features might once have shown of nonor, worth or kindly semblance bad disappeared beyond all tracing in a blurred distortion. The lids of one eye were discolored and swollen almost together. Other traces of a recent battering were not tacking, nor was cosmetic evidence of a peroic struggle on the part of some valet of infinite pains to efface them. The nose lost outline in the discolorations of the puffed cheeks. The chin, tufted with a small imperial, trembled beneath a sagging gray lip.

The figure was fat, but loose and sprawling, seemingly without the will to hold itself together. In truth, the man appeared to be almost in a semistupor, and, contrasted with this powdered Silenus, even the woman beside him gained something of human dignity. At least, she was thoroughly alive, bold, predatory and, in spite of the gross embonpoint that threatened her, still savagely graceful. A purple veil dotted with gold floated about her hat, from which green dyed ostrich nlumes cascaded down across a cheek plastered in bine-black waves, parted low on the forenead. Her lips were splashed a startling carmine, the eyeiids painted blue, and from between lashes gummed into little spikes of blacking she favored her companion with a glauce of carelessiy simulated tenderness-a look all too vividiy suggesting the ghastiy calculations of a cook wheeding a chicken nearer the kitchen door.

"Who is it?" I asked, staring at the man in the automobile and not turning toward Ward.

"That is Mariana-'la bella Mariana la Mursiana." George answered-"one of those women who come to Paris from the tropics to form themselves on the legend of the one great famous and infamous Spanish dancer who died a long while ago. Mariana did very well for a time. I've heard that the revolutionary societies intend striking medals in her honor. She's done worse things to royalty toan all the anarchists in Europe: She danced at the Folie Rouge last week."

"That is Mariana - 'ia vella Mariana ia Mursiana."

"Thank you, George." I said gratefully. "I hope you'll point out the Louvre and the Eiffel tower to me some day. I didn't mean Mariana." "What did you mean?"

What I had meant was so obvious that I turned to my triend in surprise. "I meant the man with ber," I said. "Oh!" He laughed sourly. "That "You seem to be an aequaintance." "Everybody on the boulevard knows who be is," said ward curtly, paused and laughed again with very little mirth. "So do you." he continued. "and as for my acquaintance with him -yes, I had once the distinction of being his rival in a small way, a way so small, in fact, that it ended in his becoming a connection of mine by merriage. He's Larrabee Harman."

That was a name somewhat familiar to readers of American newspapers even before its bearer was fairly out of college. But frolic degenerated into

Baby's Own Tablets Used From Birth

Mrs. H. V. Ossinger, Tiverton, N. S., says: "We have used Baby's Own Tablets since our little boy was three years old, and know of nothing to equal them. He is now twelve, months old, and has always enloyed perfect health. Baby takes the Tablet easily and we always keem them in the hodse." Mr. Ossinger's experience is that of thousands of other mothers. occasional dose of Tablets will sep the well child in excellent hearth or if the baby is ill with any of the many ailments that afflict little ones, they will speedily restore him to health again and make him thrive an grow fat, rosy and strong. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from the Dr Wil- is cleaner." liem . Medicine Ca., Brockville, Ort

Why You Should Purchase Your Furs Here Because We Buy Direct From The Makers

and Secure the Best Qualities at the Lowest Prices. We Invite Your Inspection Before Purchasing

Broadcloth Coat

Isabella Sable Collar

An elegant quality of fur, satin lined' good large size. Extra special price, $10.95 Muff to Match

Sable Stole

Very fine quality fur, 2 heads at the back two separate skins, long front. Our special Muff to Match

$12.00 Special Stole

Heavy satin lining, two heads and 4 tails This stole reaches to the waist line. Muff to Match

Alaska Sable Stole

This is positively natural sable, fur lined regular size. Beautiful quality fur, $15.00 Also muff to match.

Marmot Collar

Fur lined splendid quality of fur, good big size, 2 heads, 4 paws, $11.50. Muff to match, $5.00

Black Persian Lamb Muffs and Neck Pieces

We are exceptionally strong in this line Pillow shape Muffs, barrel stape Muffs Empire shape, etc. Best qualities.

Muffs

$12.00, 13.50, 15.00, 16.00, 19.00, 20.00 22.50 and 35.00.

Neck Pieces

$15.00, 16.50, 18.00, 22.50, 35.00

Fur Collar Coats

Ladies' English Broadcloth, shell coats quilted lining, western sable collar, 50 inches long, green, black and navy. Spec-1al value.....$24.00

Heavy Kersey Cloth

These coats come with western sable collar, quilted lining, well made, 52 inches long.....$26.00

Beaver Cloth Coat

Western sable collar. This is an extra good coat, quilted lining, well made, 52 inches long, for$22.00

Ladies' Fur Lined Coats

Heavy English Broadcloth She'l, Persian Lamb collar,

These come in brown, navy and black; rat lining, quilted lining, fancy braid trimming. Regular $26,00 for natural mink collar, 50 inch coat, $60.00. Also western$20.00 sable collar at$60.00

WAKELYS

praws and debauch. What had beer scrapes for the boy became scandals for the man, and he gathered a more and more unsavory reputation until its like was not to be found outside a penitentiary. The crux of his career in his own country was reached during a midnight quarrel in Chicago, when he shot a negro gambler. Harman's wife left him, and the papers recorded her application for a divorce. She was George Ward's second cousin, the daughter of a Baltimore clergyman; a belle in a season and town of belles and a delightful headstrong creature from all accounts. She had made & runaway match of it with Harmar three years before, their affair having been earnestly opposed by all her rela tives, especially by poor George, who came over to Paris just after the wedding in a miserable frame of mind. Harman next began a trip round the world with an orgy which continued from San Francisco to Bangkok, where, in the company of some congenial fellow travelers, be interfered in a native ceremonial with the result that one of his companions was drowned. In Rome he was rescued with difficulty from a street mob that unreasonably refused to accept intoxication as an excuse for his riding down a child on his way to the bunt. Later we had been hearing from Monte Carlo of his disastrous plunges at roulette. I still take three home newspapers, trying to follow the people I knew and the things that bappen, and the ubiquity of so worthless a creature as Larrabee Harman in the columns I dredged for real news had long been a point of irritation to this present exile. Not only that. He and usurped space in the continental papers, and of late my favorite Parisian journal had served him to me with my morning coffee, only hinting his name, but offering him with that gracious satire characteristic of the Galile journalist writing of anything American. And so this grotesque wreck of a man was well known to the boulevard-one of its sights. That was to be perceived by the flutter be caused, by the turning of heads in his direction and the low laughter of the people at the little tables. Three or four in the rear ranks had risen to their feet. Some one behind us chuckled aloud, "They say Mariana beats nim." "Evidently!"

The dancer was aware of the flutter and called Harman's attention to it with a touch upon his arm and a laugh and a nod of her violent plumage. At that he seemed to rouse nimself some viat. His need rolled neavily over upon his shoulder, the lids lifted a little from the red shot eyes, showing a strange pride when his gaze fell upon the many staring faces. Ward pulled my sleeve.

the Luxembourg gardens where the air Ward is a portrait painter, and in "Come," he said. "let us go over to the matter of vogue there seem to be no pinnacies left for nim to surmount. He has painted most of the very rich women ob fashion who have come to Paris of late years, and he has become so prosperous, has such a polite elebrity and his opinions upon art are so conclusively quoted that the triendship of some of us who started with him has been dangerously strain-His sister, Miss Elizabeth, looks after him now. She came with him when he returned to Paris after his disapnointment in the unfortunate Harman affair, and she took charge of all his business as well as his social arrangements (she has been accused of a theory that the two things may be happily combined), making him lease a house in an expensively modish quarter near the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne. Miss Elizabeth is an anstinctively fashionable woman, practical withal, and to her mind success should be not only respectable, but "smart."

It was George's babit to come often to see me. He always really liked the sort of society his sister had brought about him, but now and then there were intervals when it wore on him a little. I think. Sometimes ne came for me in his automobile, and we would make a mild excursion to preakfast in the country, and that is wear happened one morning about three weeks after the day when we had sought pure air in the Luxembourg gardens.

We drove out through the Bois and by Surespes, striking into a roundabout road to versailles beyond St. Cloud. It was June, a dustiess and baimy poop, the an thinly gilded by a pleasabler than they could be a fair day of the early summer and no sweeter way to course it than in an

"After all," said George, with a placid wave of the hand, "I sometimes wish that the landscape had called me. You outdoor men have all the health and pleasure of living in the open, and as for the work-ob, you fellows think you work, but you don't know what

He indicated the white road running before as between open fields to a curve, where it descended to pass beneath an old stone culvert. Beyond stood a thick grove with a clear sky flickering among the branches. An old peasant woman was pushing a heavy cart round the curve, a scarlet handkerchief knotted about her head.

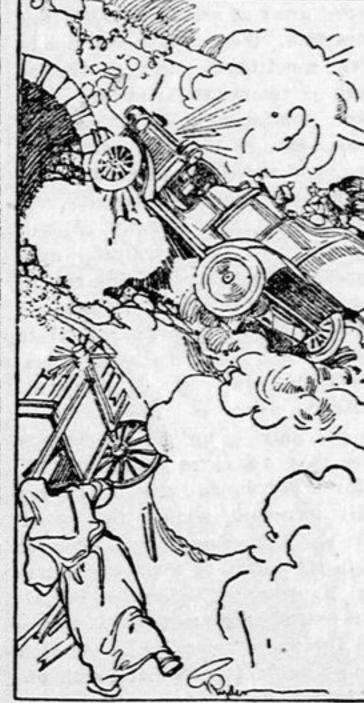

"You think it's easy?" I asked. is well as it could be done-at least.

Electric Restorer for Men Phosphonol restores every nerve in the body vim and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonol will 15. Mailed to any sidness. The Scokell Drur sold at Hickingbotham's drug store.

the way you fellows do it!" He was interrupted by an outrageous uproar, the grisly scream of a siren and the cannonade of a powerful exhaust, as a great white touring car swung round us from behind at a speed that sickened me to see and, snorting thunder, passed us.

"Seventy miles an bour." gasped George. "Those are the- Oh, Lord! There they go!"

The great machine reared, crashed over on its side and lay hidden. CHAPTER II.

WINGING out to pass us and then sweeping in upon the reverse curve to clear the narrow arch of the culvert were much for the white car. In the middle of the road, ten feet from the culvert, the old woman struggled frantically to get her cart out of the was. The howl of the siren frightened her perhaps, for she went to the wrong side. Then the shriek of the machine drowned the human scream as the automobile struck. The great machine left the road for the fields on the right, reared, fell, leaped against the stone side of the culvert, apparently trying to climb it, stood straight on end, whirled backward in a half somersault, crashed over on its side, dashed with flame and "Easy! Two hours ought to do it explosion and lay hidden under a !! cloud of dust and

The peasant's care, tossed into a clump of weeds, rested on its.side. A pair of smashed goggles crunched beneath my foot as I sprang out of Ward's car, and a big brass lamp had fallen in the middle of the road, crumpled like waste paper. Beside it lay a gold rouge box.

(To be continued.)

W.C.T.U. MAKING RAPID STRIDES

Winchester, Ont., Oct. 18 -One hundred and seventy-five delegates representing over seven thousand members throughout the province are in attendance at the 24th, annual convention of the Ontario W.C.T.U, which cpened in the Methodist Church here yesterday for four days session.

Mrs. E. A. Stephens, vice-president, is the officer in the chair in the much regrettable absence of the President Mrs. May R. Thorney, of London, whose statements of last winter, regarding purity conditions in the schools, aroused not only the women of Ontario but citizens and educationalists in general.

Regret is also expressed at the absence of a Tcronto lady, Mrs. H.T. Irwin, from the sessions owing to a slight accident.

In every department W.C.T,U. work throughout the province, according to the reports, has met with greatest success. There is now a membership of 7,105, an increase of 1,033 in one

Deceased Known Here

Jas. Watson, a well-known horse dealer throughout the Midland district, died at his late home in Cobourg on Tuesday morning, aged seventy-seven years, death being due to dropsy. He leaves a grown-up family. The remains were taken to Bowmanville for interment.

SINGLE

Coing Fri., Saturday, Sunday, Monday OCT. 27, 28, 29, 30

Return Limit Wednesday, Nov. 1st

C. C. MATCHETT, City Agent on II. W ANDERGOV. Deport Ament