THE HOME BOY FOREIGN MISSIONARY

When the Rev. A. H. Fisner was a boy he lived for five years with Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, of Enfield, Durham Co., Ont., and while there he was converted in the Methodist church at Enfield. Soon after his conversion he decided to enter the ministry and prepared bimself for service by a course of study in Toronto, Albert College, Belleville, and at Nyack N. Y. From Nyack in the year 1910 he went as a missionary to Penang Straits settlements, and from there he frequently writes to his friends in Durham county. The following are extracts from a letter dated July 30.

If I were sick I do not know of any one who would be a kinder nurse and whom I would rather have than dear Mrs. Hall. I remember this minute, just as if it were yesterday, her kind face and greeting when I first saw her in August just fifteen years ago.

He fill the pastorate of the English leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife church, that is our Methodist church

Besides my school work and church am assisting one of our native teachers to develop an Asiatic branch of the Young Men's Christian Association. That takes a lot of my time as I am principal speaker at the meetings. This week I will give lecture on a hero of the United States. Then I have a singing class which meets every Saturday.

How I wish that I could be in dear old Canada again. I often long with all my heart for the rivers and the woods. My happy days were spent in Canada. However, I am always looking forward to a happy time in heaven, when the awful heat, the worrying troubles, and the discouraging disappointments of life in the fiesh are past forever.

Missionary life is a hard life. One needs to be almost continually on his knees seeking a fresh supply of grace, or he cannot carry the bur-
