Finding a Pawn Ticket

"While walking through one of the prominent streets the other day," said an innocent looking individual, "I espied an important looking bit of paper on the sidewalk, and picking it up, found it to be a pawn ticket for a diamond scarfpin which some careless person had apparently dropped.

"According to the ticket, the pin had been pledged several weeks before for $15. 'How am I to find the owner?' thought I. 'Shall I take it to the pawnbroker? Perhaps if I do the owner will never see it anyway. The pin must surely be a good one and it is doubtless worth three times the amount for which it was pledged. Why not appropriate it to my own use?'

"The name on the ticket was Brown, and my conscience was relieved when I found several hundred of that name in the directory. I soon made up my mind and started for the broker's office. I asked to see the pin before redeeming it, stating that I had bought the ticket, and upon the payment of 25 cents was allowed to examine it.

"It looked all right to me, although I am not a qualified judge of diamonds, so I paid the principal of $15 and the interest of $1.90 and the pin became mine."

"The next day I showed it to an expert, who desired it to be worth far less than the amount I had paid for it."

"It is trick of some people," he said, "to defraud unwary persons like yourself. The scheme consists of issuing tickets for spurious pieces of jewelry for amounts many times in excess of their value and dropping them on the sidewalk in different parts of the town where unsuspecting persons might find them and redeem them, as you did, thus yielding a handsome profit to the perpetrators."

New G. T. R. Cars

There has been a great increase in the number of G.T.R. cars lately to come up to the demand for the western grain. There are to be completed 7,000 new box cars, which are being made in Montreal, and the first lot of them went through the town Thursday evening to Midland to meet the grain boats there.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

TAR AND FEATHERS FOR WOMAN

Times: For some time past the police have received complaints from residents on Sherbrooke street, near the boundary, about the alleged ill treatment by Mrs. Billington, who had custody of the Ruby Billington, who figured before the police prominently in the Samuel Steele case, of another young child, by name Payne, aged about 10 years, whom she also had under her care. It appears this treatment has been going on for some considerable time, and the anger of the neighbors knew no bounds.

Last night, about 7.30, it was noticed by neighbors, this cruel treatment was again going on, and upon investigation it was ascertained, that the named Mrs. Billington had had the child tied to a bed by its wrists and had been beating it with the buckle end of a heavy leather strap. This incited the neighbors and the authorities were telephoned for, and Detective Newhall, accompanied by Mr. Geo. Cochrane, and Mr. Henry from the Children's Shelter went to investigate. A Times reporter heard of the trouble, and also wandered in that vicinity. Upon arrival, a scene which almost gave one the impression of civil war, met his gaze. A crowd of 150 people had gathered round the house, and were calling for vengeance, resenting the treatment they knew was going on. For some minutes the reporter stood there, and noticed the rage in the crowd growing every second. At last it broke, and the cry went up, "Tar and feather her." This act would a minute later have been perpetrated, but the timely arrival of the aforementioned officers prevented the ultimate. This crowd consisted not of a gang of "buffs" who wanted to make mischief, but some of our well known citizens were noticed voicing their contentions in the highest possible degree. Mr. Henry took charge of the child, and conveyed it to the Children's Shelter, where proper treatment in every respect is assured.

When it comes to the ears of citizens of such fearful perpetrations as this, action needs to be taken, and The Times is doubtless voicing the sentiments of many in saying that no punishment is too great. Mrs. Billington may think herself lucky she did not get the tar and feathers.

Spread Rails Caused Accident

Spread rails caused the G. T. R. flyer due here at 7.55 this morning, to be two hours late. Sunday afternoon on returning to Peterboro after having his engine boiler washed out at the Lindsay shops the engineer discovered a spread rail and this morning a gang of section men were brought out to repair the damage, which turned out to be more extensive than first thought. The first place was about a mile this side of Peterboro and was fixed in a few minutes but about seven miles further along the track was found to have spread for a distance of seven telegraph poles and had to be taken up and relaid. The work took about two hours.

HERBERT PATON LEAVING LINDSAY

Lindsay is about to lose one of its best known and most popular young men, in the person of Mr. Herb Paton, who for the past four or five years has been a valued member of the local post office staff. He has resigned his position, and leaves on Saturday to accept a most important post in the State Bank at Woodriver, Illinois, of which a relative is president.

In the departure of Mr. Paton the town loses a young citizen of probity, sterling worth and unblemished character. He was a general favorite in business and social circles, and in the field of sport—especially hockey, none was known better. He was a fast, clean, consistent, heady player, and it was due in a large measure to his brilliant playing that the Olympia seven achieved such an enviable record in the season of 1911.

Mr. Paton's departure from town will be regretted, but his friends will join with the Post in extending best wishes for his future success. He possesses splendid ability, and is bound to bring honor and credit to himself and the old town that claims him as its son.

Most people think it more foolish to give than to receive.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cape Wolfe, Canada.—"Last March I was a complete wreck. I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all know what a wreck I was.

"Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better health."—Mrs. J. T. Cook, Lot No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P.E.I., Canada.

Because your case is a difficult one, and doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of women—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

LITTLE BRITAIN FOWL SUPPER

The first fowl supper of the season took place last night at the Methodist Church, Little Britain, and was an unqualified success.

There was a large crowd present from all the surrounding district, but despite the numbers everybody had plenty to eat without too long a wait. The Ladies' Aid served the supper and certainly excelled them selves in the appetizing food put before the hungry visitors. All kinds of roast fowl were served with all the most tantalizing dishes and dainties to accompany it. One could not eat and even dyspeptics come away from the table with a satisfied smile upon their faces.

After the supper was over Rev. H. B. Kenny, of Bowmanville, gave a very interesting lecture entitled "The Old and the New Woman." He made many good points and kept his audience's rapt attention throughout.

The solos of Mrs. H. Thompson, A. T. C. M., of Mitchell, were greatly appreciated and called for many encores as did also the special music rendered by the church choir.

The evening was one of the most successful ever held in Little Britain and it is understood the Ladies' Aid realized a handsome sum of money which will be put to some of the good projects for which the organization is so justly noted.

Among the many Lindsay people present were Mrs. Frank J. Maunder, Mrs. W. H. Thompson, Miss Aldab Switzer, Miss Corrish, Messrs S. McLean, S. Beal, J. Doran, M. Moynes, H. Woods, W. Fanning, F. Scott, I. Connell and A. Pym.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are not a new and untried remedy—our grandfathers used them. Half a century ago, before Confederation, they were on sale in nearly every drug or general store in the Canada of that day, and were the recognized cure in thousands of homes for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness, Rheumatism and Kidney and Liver Troubles. To-day they are just as effective, just as reliable as ever, and nothing better has yet been devised to

Police Recruits In England

The emissaries of the Chief Commissioner of the London Metropolitan Police have begun a vigorous recruiting campaign, which is to last a fortnight. Cornwall is the scene of operations, and the plans have been prepared with great care. Through-out the "delictable Duchy" the advertising boardings carry the notice headed "Metropolitan Police: Recruits Wanted." The local papers, big and little, contain advertisements of the attractions of the London policeman's life, invariably accompanied by the "editorial" paragraph amplifying the official announcements. Widespread the net is cast—over the fishermen of Looe, Polruan, Mevagissey, Poltleven, Newleven, and St. Ives; the miners of Redruth, Camborne, and Carn Brea; the clayworkers of Mid-Cornwall, who have recently been agitating for a minimum wage of 25s. a week, and the agricultural laborers around Bodmin and Launceston. Every police station and labor exchange in Cornwall is, for the time being, a bureau of information for those too timid to address their queries to the Recruiting Branch, New Scotland Yard!

Incidentally the young manhood of Cornwall is being let into more of the secrets of the Metropolitan Police than the average London citizen himself is likely to know. Several hundred recruits, so we are told are required. The age limits are 20-27 years; height, 5 ft. 9 in., and naturally, good health, character and education are indispensable. To test the last particularly, the representatives of the Chief Commissioner will conduct examinations in Penzance for the first three days of next week, proceeding thence for a couple of days to Truro. During the second week Bodmin and Launceston will each be visited for two or three days.

The ultimate education of the London policeman is apparently a matter for New Scotland Yard itself, the Commissioner contending himself with a good standard in reading, writing from dictation, and the first four rules of arithmetic. "The quite unmusical Cornish dialect (may Mr. Stephen Reynolds forgive us?) is evidently no disqualification.

among the other attractions dangled before the young Cornishmen are uniform, "allowance," free medical attendance and pay during sickness. To tickle young ambition's palate, it is stated that there are 3,000 posts in the London police force with salaries ranging from 38s. a week to $450 a year. The policeman's pension—always an alluring bait to the young workman—is due after twenty-five years' service, and may be received in full—two-thirds of salary, £60 to £300 a year—after twenty-six years' service. It will be interesting to learn what success attends the efforts of Sir Edward Henry's recruiting campaign in the Cornish Riviera. No recruit will be required to start till free from his present employment, and arrangements may be made to meet the cost of conveyance to London.

NOSE MADE OF TWO FINGERS

Washington, Oct. 8.—Miss Nellie Radigan, a patient at the Washington Asylum Hospital, will have a new nose made from two of her fingers. This unusual surgical operation has just been performed by Washington surgeons, and they say it will be a complete success.

Miss Radigan was afflicted with a cancerous growth which had eaten her nose away. It was decided that the only way to restore it was through a very delicate operation, involving the loss of some of her fingers.

Two of Miss Radigan's fingers were almost entirely removed by the surgeons, and then, after cutting out the cancerous tissue, the fingers were fastened to her face.

The two fingers were pressed down tightly on the cavity, and over all a plaster cast was spread. The cast was fastened to her bosom in order that the hand should be in position until the flesh of the two fingers had been completely engrafted.

According to the surgeons who performed the operation, it will be successful in a few weeks. This much time will be required for the flesh of the two fingers to join to make the ridge of the nose and the under part join to the face.

This procedure is regarded as a new one in surgical history, although strips of a man's back have been used in making a new hand in a similar fashion.
