TORONTO SOLDIERS KILLED IN WRECK
WHILE MANY RECEIVE SERIOUS INJURIES

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Two highland comrades were rapidly pressed into the service, and the wrecked coach was soon pulled to pieces by eager and willing hands.

The impact had but little effect upon the heavy coaches composing the Detroit train. Two passengers were more or less slightly injured. The only car on the train damaged at all was the diner, this car having its furniture strewn over the floor and its rear platform broken off. The passengers state that they felt but very little shock from the collision, appearing to them as if there had been a sudden application of the emergency brake.

In fact, most of them did not realize that there had been a wreck at all, until they saw the procession of stretchers containing the dead and wounded to the temporary hospital.

Up to a late hour last night the exact cause of the wreck was unknown, although several theories were advanced by experienced railroad men.

The shorter button through model is neat and stylish and makes a smart street coat, but for most people is not as serviceable as the ulster.
