HOW DISEASE AFFECTS VALUE OF LIVE STOCK

ever and constantly increasing, coupled with the extraordinary Canadian and European demand for wool, is making sheep the most stable of all live stock, a condition which now promises to continue for many years to come. The world at large has a shortage of sheep, and demand for wool is rapidly increasing, both full of promise to flock owners.
 For thirty or more years the writer has been advocating sheep husbandry. Faith in the business is more firmly fixed at present than at any past period of time. For a little, let us cast our thoughts back three years, to the time of the Reciprocity struggle, and endeavor to gather valuable lessons from what has been taking place since then. Just as soon as anything interfered with open and free markets for any commodity down go the prices, because the demand is thereby restricted. How easy that is to be seen at present, with so many shut down industries, some of which are not far to seek. On the other hand, increased demand, caused by war needs, coupled with open markets, is causing more mills to hum with double shifts of workers. Applying present conditions to live stock trading, it figures out thus. Orders placed months ago by Americans for sheep cannot be filled because of the embargo. A shipment by express last week was returned because the American doors were closed.
 With a complete deadlock in live stock trading between Canada and the States, can any person be found by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

 We will give One Hundred Dollars (or any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

simple or foolish enough to believe that such a condition is a benefit to the people of either country? With a continuance of no trading for months to come, possibly for a year or more, and what shall be the outcome? It is reported that already a leading shipper in an adjoining county lost several thousands when he purchased largely, in the past, the existing open market conditions were secure for a time at least. Everything in connection with the whole situation, proves very clearly that restrictions to trading lead to individual and a general loss, while open markets—and the more of them the better—is for the common good of all concerned.
 Common sense, and a clearer understanding, are sometimes restored by a few days of bitter experience.
