RELATIVE OF FORMER LINDSAY MAN TELLS OF INDIA'S LOYAL RESPONSE

Mr. John Nugent, of Peerboro, formerly of Lindsay, and brother of Mr. Robt. Nugent, has received the following letter from his brother-in-law, Rev. J. Smith, secretary of the Bombay Tract and Book Society, Kelbadevi P.O., Bombay, India:

P.O. Kalbadevi, Bombay, 16th Oct. John Nugent, Esq., 205 Brock street Peterboro, Ont., Canada:

Dear Brother,—We are now in the midst of the bustle of war here as you are in Canada, but we pride ourselves on having landed our contingent in France, 6,000 miles away, quicker than you were able to land yours, although so much nearer, as, according to your War Minister, the redoubtable Sam Hughes, you ought to have delivered your contingent in 24 hours at least. It would do you good to see the activity displayed just now in Bombay in the despatch of troops for the front. A stream of men, horses, mules, guns, carts and other war material has been passing through our port for many weeks past, and by this time everything we can possibly spare must have been despatched to the front.

About a fortnight ago I, myself, saw 33 ships sail in line out of our harbor, from the back verandah of our house, which is near the lighthouse. India has responded wonderfully to the call of the Government at home for recruits. You have no doubt seen it stated in the papers that every Rajah in India has offered not only his personal services but all the resources of his state. While this is true of the tributary and feudatory states, it is also true of the wealthy mill owners, merchants, and other men of means and influence throughout the Empire. If India were offered her independence tomorrow, she would reject it with the alacrity that would do credit to Canada. India's interests are apparently bound up with the Empire forever, and a great question of statesmanship lies before our higher officials of government when the war is over; though India may not demand a larger measure of self-government as a reward for her loyalty in this crisis, it will be recognized, I hope, in Great Britain, that she is deserving of a larger measure of independence, and that nothing but good will result from putting authority and power in the hands of her leaders in the future.

The only danger is from agitators and demagogues, who, in the past, have been able to stir up sedition amongst irresponsible, hot-headed, half-educated college students and school boys. That age has now gone by; sedition is no more, and we have entered upon a new era, and it will be a task worthy of the best statesmanship so to guide the new current of thought that it may flow into the channels for the betterment of India, and for the closer union of India with the colonies of the Mother Country.

A very regrettable incident occurred a few days ago on the arrival of the "Mindus" who went to British Columbia in the "Komagata Maru." The Government of India brought them back from Hong Kong to Calcutta, where special trains were in readiness to take them to their homes in the Northwest. This arrangement, although at the expense of the government, did not suit a few of the leaders, who were very sore over their disappointment, and determined upon marching from the Port, several miles through the streets of Calcutta so as to make a demonstration. The police got wind of their intentions in good time and a large number of the leading police officers, including the chief police official at Calcutta went down to the port accompanied by a large number of native police, and tried to induce these men to go to their homes. Some did, but in a moment, when everything seemed to be settled, the rest began to fire at the police, killing two officers, and wounding a large number of others. There was the danger for a few days that this might upset things in Calcutta and elsewhere, but the loyalty of the Sikhs (these men were Sikhs) has been equal to the occasion, and this morning's papers say that the Sikhs in several places in India have held meetings, and expressed their deep regret and severe condemnation of the action of their countrymen in Calcutta, so this incident may be considered as closed.

We are getting on as usual in the Tract Society; forging steadily forward, business reviving in spite of the war, which has put a damper on many industries and much trade in Bombay. We are publishing a steady stream of new books and tracts and succeed generally in securing advance orders for nearly everything we produce. I am a little tired; have not had a holiday since I arrived here two years ago, not even Sundays, but I am hoping at the end of the cold season next April that I may be allowed to go away for two or three months and have a change in the Himalayas. This reminds me that perhaps some misapprehensions may be had with regard to the powers of endurance of men of our Indian troops. I may tell you that only North India men are being sent. I know them well, and have tramped with these men for ten days in succession over deep snow in the Himalayas when I found the cold as hard to endure as in Canada, and was very glad of warm shelter at night. These men, however, refused to come inside and preferred to sleep on verandahs and under trees, although there was a hard frost. It is amazing to see how hardy they are and how capable of enduring exposure and hardship.

I shall be glad to hear how things are going with you at home. With very best regards to all, Yours very sincerely, J. SMITH.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Assertions that the inadequacy of the number of vessels available for exports had become so apparent that steps were being taken to obtain government aid in the acquisition of vessels, had a bearish influence today on wheat. WHERE THE GOOD CLOTHES COME FROM

PETERBORO GETS ANOTHER INDUSTRY

A lease has been secured by the Canadian General Electric Company at Peterboro of a piece of unused track of the old Chemung Railway line, the property of the Grand Trunk, upon which to test electrical locomotives.

This means that the city will get the benefit of a one hundred and fifty thousand dollar industry at an annual outlay of about one hundred and fifteen dollars a year. This includes a rental of one hundred dollars a year for the three miles of track, also taxes. The city to pay this amount in consideration of the company expending one hundred and fifty thousand dollars for additional plant and equipment. This will mean a larger payroll. The company has secured several large contracts for the manufacture of electric locomotives, including a big order for the London and Port Stanley electric line.

Many a fellow kisses a girl just to prevent himself from getting out of practice.

BRISK BUSINESS DONE AT LLOYDS

(Special to The Post.) LONDON, Nov. 25.—Brisk business was done at Lloyd's yesterday in "and of the war speculation," that the war would be over by March. There is a certain volume of opinion there that thinks the chance good. Enquiries in the city yesterday showed that last week 75 guineas per cent. was quoted for a policy under which the total loss would be paid over by the end of next March. The rate had fallen yesterday to 60 guineas.

On the other hand there has been an increase during last week or ten days of 5s. to 7s. 6d. and even 10s. in the full war risk rates of insurance of private house property on the east coast. For big works such as the Tyne yards the rate has advanced from 10s. to 21.

What is in the minds of a few underwriters who are speculating on the duration of war is a secret, but the question of German's supplies is being much talked about in the city.

PLEASANT POINT

(Special to The Post.) Winter seemingly has reached its corner, although rather early than some of our residents. The streets coated with a fair sheet of ice, ranging from an inch to three inches thickness, which makes it impossible for skating in many places. A number from here attended the oyster supper at the Scotch Club last Friday evening, and enjoyed it out very much. Miss Wilhelmina Wagstaff of Newmarket, Ont., is spending a few days with relatives in this corner. Mrs. E. N. Mitchell and two daughters, Zeta and Norman, of Riverdale, are visiting her sister, Mrs. W. Kennedy, of Jericho. Messrs. Geo. Ferrin and Sam. Gerson, of Cameron, called on Mr. Gerson, of Hillview Farm recently. Skating on ponds has already commenced in Toronto.
