Training School for Telegraphers

Lindsay's Model Institution Has a Bright Future--- Many Applications. : 11--

Mr. W. W. Ashold, supt. of Telegraph for the Grand Trunk system, arrived in town last evening to confer with Mr. Paton, Principal of the National School of Telegraphy, in matters pertaining to students and school. Mr. Ashold is so well pleased with the School and the work it is doing that he will at once have Mr. Paton supplied with all the various forms used by the Railway Company, including train order blanks, efc.

It is said that the Canadian roads alone will require 5000 railway operators the coming summer. This looks like an opportunity for the young men of this or any other district. The School now has a complete freight department, a passenger department, and all forms used in the movement of trains, full knowledge of which, including telegraphy, each pupil is given for the one tuition fee.
