Roland Madill Goes Home to Die from the Hospital

A letter from Gooderham announces the death at that place of Roland Madill from injuries received re-

It seems that while chopping down a tree he was struck by a large limb and very badly hurt about the head, besides sustaining other injuries. He was brought down to the Ross Memo ial hospital, where everything that was possible was done to give him relief. Nothing the doctors could do, however, to regain his consciousness availed to restore him to his former healthful condition, and he was finally removed to his home, where he breathed his jast on Monday, still 11:1.

Two Auxiliaries in Joint Meeting

Women's Missionary Organizations of Methodist Churches in Session

Queen-st. Methodist church was the scene of a very pleasant and profitable union meeting of the woman's missionary auxiliaries of the Methodist churches of this town Thursday afternoon. A varied programme was given, members from both auxiliaries taking part.

It has been decided to hold these union meetings quarterly, the next one to be held in the Cambridge-st. church in February.

The attendance was large, and good results are expected from the societies being brought into closer touch one with each other.

Our district leads in the matter of increase during the past year. Mrs. Koyle reported that Cambridge-st. auxiliary has 112 members, and 9 life members, and a double portion of the holy spirit is hoped for in all their meetings. Queen-st. reported 22 yearly members and two life members. Minden society's report is worthy of special attention, The president of that auxiliary lives fourteen miles from the place of meeting, and the members are very scattered. These are working under difficulties, and are called on to make sacrifices to carry on their wor :. Dunsford auxiliary has a cradle roll with six members. circle reported 27 members and 5 life members. Queen-st. mission band has 30 members and 1 life member, and are sending a box to Calgary for Christmas. Mrs. Real gave the closing address of the afternoon session on Christian Stewardship. This is no new subject. It is of very ancient origin. Systematic giving means setting apart regularly a portion of our income for the Lord. Proportionate giving was defined in this way :-From those who have received much, much will be required. Prosperity is promised to those who give liberally to God's cause. It is God's desire that we be happy and prosperous. We should not pray, "Consecrate me now to Thy service, Lord," and then then go and spend the money which rightly belongs to God on ourselves. God loveth a cheerful giver.

At the close of Mrs. Mitchell's excellent report, Mrs. Real rendered an appropriate solo, which was followed by the report of the evening session of the convention by Mrs. Walker. if giving $1,000,000 to missions, but for the affirmative; P. Mrs. Kendry, of Peterboro, spoke many words of encouragement in her address, which was the closing one of the convention. The mission field is almost unbounded. Let us be alive to our opportunities and be a factor in winning the world for Christ. At the close of Mrs. Walker's inspiring report, Mrs. Koyle and Mrs. Irvine sang a duet, "I shall see Him face to face."
