POWLES' CORNER

(Special to The Post)

On Sunday last Rev. Mr. Tompkin of Cambray, occupied the local pulpit and preached a very good sermon on the text; "The eye of man hath not seen, the ear of man hath not heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man, the good things God hath in store for him." The speaker emphasized the fact that God only gives us things as we need them and not as we desire them. We would think a person surly if he spent an hour and never speak to us, so we should every hour have thoughts tending upwards. A fair congregation was present, and, no doubt some will profit by the re-

GREETINGS CHRISTMAS

The Post takes pleasure in extending to its several thousands of readers its heartiest greetings at this glad Christmastide, and it desires to express the earnest hope that it may continue to meet their requirements as fully and be able to greet them as cordially for many years to come.

For over half a century this paper has been carrying the news of happenings of all kinds and descriptions to its readers, and has ever striven to present a full and complete compendium of the county's news in a crisp, comprehensive and thoroughly accurate

It has ever been our aim to stand for that which is right, to advocate such legislation as will tend to uplift the moral wellbeing of the community and make them a better, soberer and more enlightened people.

During the past eight months we have made a change in our editorial staff, and the improvement resulting therefrom in this paper has been most marked. We are pleased to have received many warm words of commendation on the improvement which has taken place in The Post. Not alone is this the case, but we find our editorial comments are widely quoted every week by many of the leading papers in Canada, showing the position which we have attained among our fellow journalists throughout the country. Our readers may rely upon it that every effort will be put forth by us to maintain the present high standard of The Post.

With our new staff of thoroughly experienced journalists, with our handsome new home-the finest business building in Lindsayand with a plant equal to that of any office in Midland district and superior in many respects to the most of them, we look forward with confidence to the future. The Post will continue to be what it always has been,-the leading paper of the Midland counties, and we shall endeavor still further to merit the appreciation of our readers.

We invite every subscriber to pay a visit to our handsome building and bring their friends with them, and we shall be very much bleased to show them through our establishment. We feel assured they will and something that will be exceedingly interesting to the
