WILSON & WILSON,

RESULTS OF CARELESSNESS

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, DEC. 9, 1910.

The Canadian dead letter office last year handled 2,168,900 letters. of wnich. number 24,575 contained money or valuables.

are careless about their letters. The carelessness does not attach to the matter of direction only; sometimes people will place several silver coins in a letter, and then put a one or a two cent stamp and trust to luck. Often people will fold a cheque or a bank bill into small dimensions and jam it down into the corner of the envelope, and then insert a letter filling the remainder of the space. Careless persons ppening letters do not always see all the enclosures.

The dead letter office statistics that thousands of the people who write do not give much attention to the work or use much common sense in connection with it even though loss and confusion are direct ly invited by their way of doing deer." This statement is made by of the world." Mr. Andrew S. White, formerly pres ident of Cornell University, and afterwards American ambassador a Berlin and St. Petersburg. His aston ishing assertion is fortified by statis tics calculated to stagger thoughtful American citizens.

Twenty years ago, he says, there were about 1500 murders a year in the United States; there are now 8,000 a year, an increase of five hun dred per .cent as compared with an ! increase of twenty-five per cent. in population during the same period. Belgium has the worst record in Eur I came across some time afterwards Ireland, and others interested in the ope for homicide, but the United States makes a very much worse showing than Belgium.

fin Chicago during the last four years there have been 680 homicides within the city limits, yet in that time there have been but two executions. In other words while a man s killed about every forty-eight hours, there is an execution about every 2 years. Mr. White says that while the machinery of the law is very hard upon small offenders, the proportion of escapes in cases of manslaughter, or murder are so great as to make the law appear ridiculous and to encourage grave crimes of all sorts and kinds.

President Taft, some time ago, spoke very strongly about the failure of the American system of criminal law, dealing particularly with the long delays in the courts and the tendency of such delays to discourage prosecution and encourage disrespect of all laws . Mr. White has made a careful study of the administration of the law in many countries, and his observation has led him to institute comparisons which must be very shocking to his fellow-citizens in the United States.

IT ALL DEPENDS

During the past few days despatches from across the sea give the in formation that there is talk of civil was in Ulster, (encouraged and nour ished by the Unionists) if Ireland is granted a measure of self govern-

In referring to this phase of the political situation, the Montreal Witness remarks:-

"It seems that rebellion is all wrong when plotted and indulged in by Roman Catholics, but a high virtue should it take the form of resistance to laws made by a Catholic majority in one's own country. So It is astonishing how many people think some people in Ulster, we do not know how many, who are binding themselves by a solemn oath that they will never obey laws made at Dublin. They will die first. They seem to be true Irishmen, after all. Yet, to this position they have been incited by countless speeches from English Conservative platforms. It was Lord Randolph Churchill who gave forth the slogan, 'Ulster will fight and Ulster will be right.'- Ulster approved of government by the people so long as the rule of the Sassenach was absolute. But the very idea of the Roman Catholics coming into majority reverses all these notions of popular government. In that case they will never obey. We trust that, in spite of the encouragement they got to rebellion from the press of the aristocracy, there are only a few who will, when the time comes be found wrong-minded in this way and these with the smallest admixture of the Puritan stock which has "It is today safer to kill a man in | made Ulstermen the promoters of the United. TOO WONDERFUL WHISKEY

Remarkable Description of the Welsh Brand

Mr. Lloyd-George informed the House of Commons that the only distillery set up in Wales has been closed. which from the poetical point of view only is a matter of regret "Some years ago," writes a correspondent, "I visited this establishment and found there quite a big brewing of the 'cratur,' or the Welsh equivalent for the same: But what amused me was a document in which Welsh whiskey was lauded to the skies in the following terms:-"Welsh whiskey is the most wonderful whiskey that ever drove the skeleton from the feast or painted landscapes in the brain of man. It is the mingled souls of peat and barley washed white with the waters of the Theweryn. In it you will find the sunshine and shadow that chased each other over the billowy fields, the breath of June, the carol of the lark, for to-day. It was declared that plans the dew of night, the wealth of Summer and Autumn, a rich content, all golden with imprisoned light."

PROFITED BY KING'S FUNERAL

During a county court case at Maryebone recently respecting stands near Edgware-road not being completed by a certain date, Mr. R. B. V. Currie, of the Victoria Seating Company, said he made about £1,000 profit in the series of transactions providing seats from which to view the late King's funeral procession.

WRITES WITHOUT GLASSES

The Windsor Record received a let ter from Joseph N. Jordon, who, a few days ago, celebrated the anniversary, of his $0th birthday. The letter was written without the aid of glasses, and with a quill pen. The letter would have done credit to and outclassed many of our business men's handwriting of half the age. Mr. Jordan has been a resident of Windsor for 25 years now and next month will cebebrate the anniversary of 60 years of married life.

MRS. EDDY'S WORK WILL CONTINUE

The Founder of the Christian Science Church Left Written Instruc-

Boston, Dec. 6 .- Even in death Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy will shape the destinies of the Christian Science ! Church, and after her body laid to rest on Thursday, the affairs of the greatest of new schools of thought and religion will go on as though governed by the living hand of the founder. Through the written commandments of Mrs. Eddy the board of directors of the mother church will continue the work. A meeting of the directors with Archibald McClellan, chairman, presiding, was called for to-day, when, it was said, it would be definitely decided where Mrs. Eddy's body will be buried. It was also to be decided whether or not a sculptor would be allowed to take a death mask of the dead leader. The funeral on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock will be held with the utmost simplicity, and the attendance will be small, numbering the membership of the mother church; General Henry M. Baker, Mrs. Eddy's second cousin; George W. Glover, of Lead, S.D., her son; Miss Mary Glover; Alfred Farlow, chairman of the Christian Science publication committee; Frederick Dixon, chairman of the publication committee of Great Britain and church or intimately connected with Mrs. Eddy.

Two reports are current as to the place of burial. One is that the remains will be interred in a costly mausoleum in a cemetery near Chestnut Hill, the other is that the remains will be placed in a crypt beneath the altar of the mother church. A conference of members of the Eddy household and her near relatives was called for the mausoleum would be discussed then. According to this report the structure will be a masterpiece of architecture-costly yet small.

BLIZZARD BRINGS WOE

New York's Poor Suffering Intensely From the Cold and Snow

New York, Dec. 6 .- The first real blizzard of the winter struck New York to-day. A heavy fall of snow accompanied by cutting winds, caused injuries to more than three score persons and drove hundreds of poor to seek shelter in charitable institutions and lodging houses. Traffic was crippled to a great extent. At the municipal lodging house 600 persons were cared for, a record this year. Of these, 30 were women and 10 children of tender ages, who were found wandering in the snow storm.

A DIAMOND ROMANCE

When "She" Saw "Him" in Uniform It was Love at First Sight

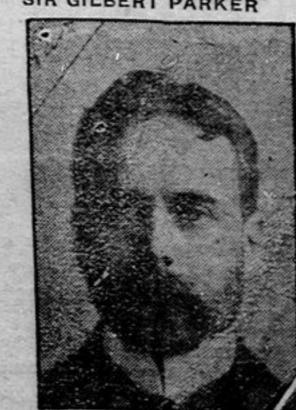

A pretty romance of the baseball diamond has been made known at Sacramento by the announcement of the engagement of Miss Edith Wolfe, a niece of the late Senator Thomas G. Platt, of New York, and Benjamin Hunt, southpaw pitcher of the Boston American League team, who was formerly a member of the pitching staff of the Sacramento Coast team. Miss Wolfe, who is a former Vassar girl, and was for a time on the stage, first met Hunt while he was attending college in Oklahoma, but it was not until he was playing in a Sacramento uniform that the mutual admiration began. Miss Wolfe is an ardent admirer of the game, and reading an article by Hugh Fullerton on pitching, caused her to send a number of the magazines to pitchers whose work she esteemed on the diamond. Hunt was not satisfied until he learned the identity of the fanette and finally arranged to tell her inside facts about pitching which Fullerton had failed to mention. The lesson in pitching was coached by Dan Cupid.
