COMPENSATION ACT THAT COMPENSATES

MR. C. E. WEEKS stands for the Twin Guardians—a Workman's Compensation Act that compensates, and a Factory Inspection Act that inspects.

The two together form a complete system of workman's rights. Together they stand and divided they fall.

To amend the Workman's Compensation Act without amending the factory act is to deal with the effect and neglect the cause. If the Factory Inspection Act really does its work there will be less need of calling on the Workman's Compensation Act.

The Workman's Compensation Act merely locks the stable door after the horse has been stolen. The Factory Inspection Act keeps the horse from being stolen.

In plain words, a Factory Inspection Act, properly enforced, would prevent the majority of accidents now taking place. The right kind of Factory Inspection Act will provide for enough Factory Inspectors to make frequent inspections and see that their recommendations are carried out.

It will see to it that safeguards are not employed which may turn out in practise more dangerous to life than the unprotected machinery.

It will see that when proper safeguards are removed for any reason—when machinery is being cleaned or repaired for example—they will be replaced in time to prevent accidents.

What is wanted is a Workman's Compensation Act that involves no law suits and court costs, and a Factory Inspection Act that means what it says.

Vote for C. E. WEEKS and get them.

From Saturday's Post.

Sir James Pliay Whitney spoke to a crowded house at the Conservatory of Music last night, at a meeting held in the interests of Dr. Vrooman, the Liberal-Conservative candidate in the Provincial elections.

Mr. Wm. Channon, of Oakwood, President of the Liberal-Conservative Association occupied the chair, and seated with him on the platform were the prominent Conservatives of the riding.

Sir James Whitney, in his opening remarks, referred to the loss the Conservative party had sustained in the death of the late member for West Victoria, S. J. Fox.

The Conservative candidate, Dr. Vrooman, followed the usual line. He criticized the new Liberal platform, describing it as an imitation of the platform of the Whitney Government had been working out for the people of this country for a number of years. He admitted that Mr. N. W. Rowell was a clean and good citizen, but questioned whether he was a strong man as a leader.

Sir James again expressed his utter hostility to the Liberal plank in favor of putting the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway under the jurisdiction of the Dominion Railway Board and the general railway laws.

"The English language affords no vehicle of proper expression regarding this proposed act," was the way he put it.

Dealing with the bilingual schools, issue, the Prime Minister positively declared that the Government would stand by the present statute, and allow the use of French for instruction in public schools where the children were not able to understand English. He explained that the law provided that English should be the language of instruction, but permitted the use of French, where, in the option of the Minister of Education, it was necessary owing to the pupils not understanding English.

If the record of Dr. Merchant showed that abuses existed, the Government would remedy those abuses, but would condemn nobody unheard. The use of its mother tongue to teach the French child English was, he declared, the only common-sense way. Otherwise, the only thing to do was to shut up the schools and put padlocks on the doors. The teacher must for a time, be allowed to teach the public school subjects by means of the French language. "That," he added, "is what we have been prepared to carry out. That is what we will carry out."

In discussing the boundary question Sir James referred to a charge made by Hon Mr. McKenzie King to the effect that the Whitney Government had allowed Ontario to be deprived of a port on Hudson Bay. He related the story of his unsuccessful attempts to secure a port from the old Government and wound up by placing a portion of the responsibility upon the former Labor Minister's shoulders.

SIR JAMES P. WHITNEY'S DEFENCE

(From Saturday's Post)

No Premier of Ontario has had a better opportunity of making his defence before the people than the Hon. James P. Whitney had last evening.

The Opera House was packed with intelligent Conservatives and Liberals who were waiting expectantly for his reply to the scathing attacks of Mr. Rowell upon the Whitney Administration just one week before.

No doubt the defence offered by the Premier of Ontario was the very best available, but fair, open-minded Conservatives must have listened in dismay to the pitiable attempts to meet Mr. Rowell's charges.

In the first place Sir James took great credit to himself for living up to that plank in his platform which pledged him to give no money grants to railways, ignoring altogether the grave charge of Mr. Rowell that he had granted to a railway a vast block of land out of the heart of Ontario's clay belt, one-sixth the size of old Ontario, and had not, as in the case of the Dominion Government, safeguarded the rights of the future settlers.

Sir James took great credit to his Government for having increased the revenue of Ontario by one hundred per cent. In other words the late Liberal Government was spending about five million dollars a year, while the Whitney Government manages to get along on ten millions. What would the citizens of Lindsay think of the members of their Town Council or Board of Education if they asked for re-election on the ground that they had succeeded in squeezing twice as much from the town in taxes or sales of lands, etc. as any previous body plumes himself on gathering in $10,000,000 a year, the people of Ontario should not forget that it comes from them or from their heritage of land, in their position? When Sir James mine or timber.

The Premier was especially emphatic regarding the righteousness of his party in administering the Liquor License Act, altogether ignoring the fact so clearly brought out by Mr. Rowell at his meeting here a week ago, that so eminent a Conservative as Mr. J. W. Flavell, of Toronto, refused to continue to act as License Commissioner because the spoils' section of the Conservative party insisted upon running it in their own interests, and so ultra-Tory a paper as the News was quoted to show that fair-minded Conservatives regarded the Toronto License case as one of complete surrender to the lowest elements of the party. But one does not need to go as far as Toronto for evidence as to the grossly unsatisfactory character of the so-called enforcement of the liquor license act. Every town, city and county in our Province provides evidence, patent and open to the eyes of all who care to see, that no serious attempt is being made to check the evils of the liquor traffic.

Sir James is neither wax nor putty so he sticks to his un-British and unfair three fifths' clause. In the eyes of the law, all men should be on an equality, and it is an outrage upon the temperance people of the Province that the votes of twenty men in favor of the liquor traffic are as valuable as the votes of thirty men who see in this giant evil the greatest menace to our civilization.

Nor is it any defence to say that, when carried by a three-fifths majority it is more difficult to repeal, for when the day comes in a community, that the majority feel that local option is a failure, it is quite hopeless to attempt any real enforcement of the law, and a majority vote should repeal it.

The school question was also touched upon, but a more absurd and utterly ridiculous suggestion than that made by Premier Whitney has not been heard in Lindsay for many a day. He said that the solution was indicated by something to which his attention was drawn the other day by a friend. He was shown two advertisements for teachers, one from the Canadian West, offering $1200 and one from Ontario offering $450. "That," said the Premier, "is the solution of the question." So gentle readers, in the days to come, our struggling school sections, with an attendance of 8, 10, 12 or 20 pupils, are to pay young people, barely out of their teens, $1200 a year for teaching rural public schools. Candidly, now, what do you think of the proposal?

Sir James tells us that Dr. Merchant, Chief Inspector of Schools for Ontario, has been sent out on the bilingual question to go over the ground "with a fine tooth comb," to use the Premier's phrase. Dr. Merchant is evidently getting enough or his comb to prevent a report until after election day. What the people of Ontario, including thousands of staunch Tories, want to know, is why it took the Conservative Government seven years to learn that we were having a second solid French Quebec formed in Eastern and in Western Ontario.

As Mr. Rowell pointed out so clearly in his remarkable address of a week ago, the gravest fact facing the people of Ontario to-day is that the children in so many hundreds of our schools are growing up without any real teaching. We may soon waken up to find that large sections of our great Province have grown up grossly illiterate.

Last night's speaker practically declared that they did not want settlers in our great north country. They were too expensive. It cost money to give them schools, etc. If Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier had adopted the same attitude towards the North West, we should never have had our C.P.R. or G.T.P. and the West would still be the haunt of the buffalo instead of the granary of Great Britain. If the great clay belt of Northern Ontario were filled by settlers it would mean boundless prosperity to merchants and manufacturers in Old Ontario. Our own Tudhope-Anderson firm would manufacture and sell thousands of seeders, rollers, etc. to a much closer market than they now have in the West.

Last night's speaker made no mention of the Administration of Justice although no other department of his Government except that of education has been so inefficient.

The escape of Beattie Nesbitt and the murders and other shocking offences which have gone unpunished in the past seven years, have left a feeling of gravest insecurity amongst the citizens of Ontario.

It is often said that one story is good until you have heard the next. But Liberals who listened to Mr. Rowell a week ago, and to Premier Whitney last evening, must feel that they are following a high-minded, wise, statesmanlike leader, whose claims and charges remain intact after the utmost efforts of the astute and veteran leader of the Government to destroy them.

CONDEMNED BY HIS FRIENDS

THE Ottawa Journal, the Hamilton Spectator, and many other Conservative papers, condemn Sir James Whitney for his indifference to tax reform.

The Toronto Telegram condemns Sir James Whitney and Hon. Frank Cochrane for Rip-Van-Winking six years among the agricultural possibilities of New Ontario's 15,000,000 acre clay belt.

The Toronto News has at times condemned Sir James Whitney and his Government as unfair, un-British and high-handed.

The Toronto World condemns Sir James Whitney for his senseless opposition to Allan Stucholme, the only labor representative in the Legislature.

Many Conservative newspaper and Conservative members of the Legislature condemn Sir James Whitney for his rash misstatements regarding bilingual schools. The Toronto World makes a cartoon of his blundering equivocations.

Thousands of Conservatives, rank and file, condemn Sir James for his blustering discourtesy to deputations, in fact to everybody who differs from his opinions.

They single out Sir James Whitney, because he is the Government. Like Louis XIV, he says: "I am the state." Sir James Whitney is IT.

Never was a prime minister of Ontario so berated in the house of his friends.

The way to make Sir James Whitney's Government behave is to either turn it out altogether or give it a strong opposition that will teach it good manners and a willingness to listen to the people's demand for reform.

GRAHAM'S HIGH FLYING IN ST. KITTS. CAREER SHOWS HE IS SOME BLUFFER

We have to thank the Editor of the St. Catharines Journal for a copy of that paper containing the following account of Harry Malcolm Graham's escapade in that city:

"The king of bluffers has been found. He is Malcolm Graham, of Frenson, Ont., who was arrested on Wednesday night and is now confined in the County jail on a week's remand.

"Graham surpassed all records as far as what is known as 'four-flushing' on the street is concerned, and his career, though short, contained enough interesting features to fill a book. He came to this city practically unknown, and after a few weeks became cutting a swath that would make Mr. Pierpont Morgan blink or would have done justice to Mr. John D. Rockefeller or some other plutocrat. But it is doubtful if John D. would make such a splash in such a short time, with all his millions. Graham started in in grand style, and so easily won the confidence of those with whom he came in contact, that he had smooth sailing from the start, and for that matter might have been sailing on yet had his conscience not started working and caused him to admit that his pretensions were false.

CAME A MONTH AGO.

"Graham came to the city about a month ago and secured employment at the Simcoe Canning factory on Lake street. He worked for about two weeks, when he secured a job with Mr. Ed Barrett as an electrical worker. For Mr. Barrett he worked for a time, after which he was engaged by the Martin Electric Supply Co.

"It was at this point that Graham started to break into the 'classy style.' For two days he laid off to attend the funeral of an uncle, he said, and upon his return stated that a small fortune of $44,000 had been bequeathed to him by his deceased relative. He also said that his father was the owner of two fine automobiles, and was staying at Niagara Falls for a few days before coming to St. Catharines. To further strengthen his case he appeared with a fine Reo automobile, for which he said he had paid $1457.50. He was not a bit selfish, either, taking Mr. Martin and family out for spins and treating them in fine style. He also made overtures towards buying a hotel.

WOULD PURCHASE STOCK.

"After a few days he expressed a desire to purchase some stock in the Martin Electric Company, and as his representations seemed good Mr. Martin decided to sell him some thirty-five shares at $100 per share. The papers were made out and duly signed but the cheque from Graham was not forthcoming, and the bluff was only called when the "millionaire" admitted to Mr. A. F. Field, the manager of the Reo garage that he had no money, and could not pay for the auto which he purchased. Mr. Martin was notified, and he in turn notified the police, who arrested the man last night.

"While negotiating with Mr. Martin for a share in the business Graham announced that he was engaged and about to be married to a young lady and upon the strength of this obtained a quantity of wire, electrical fixtures and lamps. Mr. Martin believing that he was to marry Miss Disber, Summer street, at whose home he was boarding, gave him the material, which was installed in the house and is still there. It now appears that Graham's affections were directed toward a Miss Harris, who was boarding at the Disber home.

IN POLICE COURT.

"When arraigned in police court this morning the man looked like anything but a millionaire, or the son of one. He is of middle height, fairly stout, and about 25 years of age. He was dressed in a gray suit with a soft shirt and collar. Large circles under his eyes "bore evidence of the great worry which had doubtlessly been on his mind since he 'broke in.'"

NO PASSENGER SERVICE THIS YEAR

The Orillia Packet learns on good authority that the C.P.R. management has given up the idea of running a passenger service through Orillia until the station is ready. This will not be till after the beginning of the New Year. It is intended, however, to make use of the new line for moving grain almost at once. Whether the company will be prepared to handle local freight, our informant did not know.
