CASTRO ABDICATES.

President of Venezuela Hands in H Resignation-Believed He Will Be Induced to Withdraw It.

Caracas, March 23 .- The Congressional Hall was crowded Friday afternoon, and all the members of the diplomatic corps were present, when President Castro read his message to Congress. He passed in review the terrible conditions hich prevailed in the country and denounced the errors of his countrymen.

He proceeded to say that now that the sovereignty of the nation had been safeguarded, "I deliver my abdication in order that you may proceed legally to call on him who should take my place, so that there may remain to no Venezuelan the slightest pretext for hostility to his country, or for connivance with foreigners who, without any ground save force, fell upon unfatunate Venezuela, trapling under foot reason and justice to the detriment of civilization, and the beautiful conquests of right."

Confirmed at Washington. Washington, D. C., March 23 .-Secretary Hay received a despatch from Mr. Russell, the United States Charges at Caracas, confirming the report of President Castro's resignation, but stating that he doubted if the Venezuelan Congress would accept it.

Bishop Rogers Is Dead. Chatham, N.B., March 23. -Right Rev. James Rogers, D. D., Roman Catholic Bishop of Chatham, died here yesterday morning at 5 o'clock, after an illness of several weeks. Bishop Rogers was born on July 11, 1826, in Donegal County, Ireland. In 1831 his family emigrated to Hal-Max, where he received his general and classical education. He was consecrated Bishop on August 15, 8860, at Charlottetown, and was placed in charge of Chatham, where he has been ever since. During his administration the diocese has greatly prospered, and from seven priests under his direction, at the start, the number has grown to 50. He was beloved and gained the respect of people of all creeds.

Toronto, March 23. - This afternoon the debate on the Gamey charges will be resumed in the Legislature. When the House adjourned on Friday. George P. Graham Brockville had the floor, and he will continue to-day in defence of the Government proposition to refer the charges to a commission of judges. He will probably be followed by Mr. Crawford of West Toronto, Mr. Duff of West Simcoe, and Dr. Willoughby of East Northumberland, for the Opposition. No developments are experted to-day, but on Tuesday an amendment will be moved by Mr. Foy, which is expected to give new vigor to the debate.

Legislature Listened Lazily to the Gamey Debate.

MR. GROSS' BRIGHT SPEECH.

Mr. Hanna Concludes His Speech Began the Day Before-Member For North Toronto Makes His Maiden Speech -Conservative Speakers Brought Out Nothing New-Some Questions and Their Answers.

Toronto, March 21.-The members of the Legislature yesterday wore an attitude of resignation, which is usually assumed by them when the estimates or other unavoidable matters are before them, and have to be discussed a certain length of time. There was a scanty attendance both sides, and few members remained in their own seats for any length of time, but wandered about, engaging in social intercourse. Mr. Hanna consumed more than an hour in finishing his speech, which, delivered in an earnest manner, roused to some extent the flagging interest of the Opposition members. Mr. Gross, who followed for the Ministerialists, spoke briefly, but in that interesting style which always secures him a good hearing. Dr. Beattie Nisbett came next, in his maiden speech. His earlier remarks lacked a good deal of the fire which characterizes his utterremedied in his peroration. Calling For Denials. Mr. Hanna resumed the debate on the Gamey charges. After reviewing his points of Thursday, he said there were matters which demanded an explanation from the Ministers, and instanced the letters of D. A. Jones. of Beeton, in which that gentleman declared that he had interviewed a Minister, and had arranged that Mr. Gamey should have the patronage. In the absence of any denial for this or other charges was not the public and the press justified in reaching ances on the stump, but this was conclusions? Continuing, Mr. Hanna strongly censured the Government for leaving the names of the Sullivans out of the charge to the commission and permitting them to go at large. would be an outrage on justice if at the time of the investigation they failed to show up. Had the Government consented, as the Premier promised, to submit the investigation to a committee, there would not have been a dissenting voice from the ranks of the Opposition. Taking up the legal aspect of the subject, he said there was no parallel between the Brockville and West Huron commissions and the present case. These commissions simply had to enquire into the conduct of an election, and not the impeachment of a member of the

Referring to the nature and scope of the commission he said that the Attorney-General and others had strenuously declared that the commission would investigate everything and everybody. Instead, however, they had made Stratton the scape-goat and made it impossible to investigate Jones, Sullivan, Vance or others implicated. He asked the Attorney-General the draft was in the hands of E. F. B. Johnston and A. B. Aylesworth before it was submitted to this House.

Hon. J. M. Gibson-I do not think the hon, gentleman is entitled to any such information.

The country, Mr. Hanna declared, did not care a fig what report was submitted so long as all the evidence was brought out. The public conscience was the tribunal.

Wants Even-Handed Jus Ice. Mr. Gross (Welland) said that the member for Manitoulin had been longer in the House, he would have found that it was not the custom of the Opposition to make charges of a specific character. The members on that side dealt in generalities and innuendoes. He gave him credit for his courage in taking a new course. The speaker asked for neither more nor less than even-handed justice. "We are not living in the United States," said the member for Welland. All Canada was shocked because a young lady of London had been taken to police headquarters in Buffalo and there interrogated in the Star Chamber fashion. That could not be done in this country. The Provincial Secretary was no particular friend of his, but he would stand by him until he was proven guilty by an impartial jury.

In a criminal case the information must be specific, in writing, and must be sworn to. The prisoner selected his tribunal and could tell the police magistrate that he wanted to go to a higher court. There he could elect to be tried by judge or jury, and he had the right to object to any member of the jury. The speaker would object to the Opposition as a jury in this case. The Opposition wanted a committee on the "Heads I win, tails you lose" plan. If the charges were held not proven they could say that the Grits had a majority on the committee and would win anyway.

Judgment Not Final. Why should all the rules of evidence be set aside for the trial of a member of this House? The rules of evidence before the House were the same as in a court of law. Witnesses would have the same right to object to giving evidence in the House as in a court & law, the only difference being that a committee would be less strict. The judgment of a committee was not final. The member for West Lambton had taken the Opposition case apart and had shown how little there was in it. What the Opposition desired was the resignation of the ministry rather than investigation. It had been said that the judges received their emoluments from the province. That was not so. They receive only a paltry $1,000 for living expenses, the remainder of the salary being paid by the Dominion. Opposition members had quoted prominent Liberals as against submitting affairs of this sort to commissioners. In such cases squality prominent Conservatives would be found supporting them. In 1873, when Edward Blake had protested against the appointment of a commission, there had been no statute to provide for it. If in the investigation of the matter before a commission witnesses refused to answer questions, what more did the Opposition want for political purposes?

The speaker thought it wise of the Provincial Secretary to keep his mouth shut. The trial would be the time to make his defence. If the Opposition wanted the ministry in irons, they could lay an information before the police magistrate and the ministry would have to eat their supper in jail. The speaker said he would like to be a member of the Opposition because it was so easy to find fault and so hard to take up active work. The seats of many of the gentlemen on the other side had been protest-How would they have liked their cases to have been tried in a committee, with, say seven Liberals and four Conservatives on it? It might take a long time to convince them that a commission was the proper tribunal, but he would debate till the first of July, if necessary, to do so.

Dr. Nesbitt's Maiden Speech. Dr. Beattie Nesbitt (North Toron to) said he wanted to know what would happen to the report when it was brought in by the commission. Reports of previous commissions had gone to the Attorney-General, and no one had any evidence that they had gone any further. Yet the statutes of Ontario gave the Attorney-

General power to take further pro-

Mr. Gibson-The report goes first to the Lieutenant-Governor and afterwards may be brought down by resolution of the House. Dr. Nesbitt-Is there anything that will prevent its discussion? Mr. Gibson-Of course there is nothing to prevent its discussion. Dr. Nesbitt-But will anything?

Mr. Gibson-No. Dr. Nesbitt-The member for North Oxford had carried party feeling so far as to insinuate that the leader of the Opposition might falsify the incriminating documents before they came before the tribunal.

British justice had been mentioned, one great principle of was that a man should be tried by his peers. The House was the proper and competent tribunal The investigation should be conducted in such a way that all the evidence could be brought before the House and people, so that it would not be hidden by legal verbiage or legal technicalities. Plain questions would be put and plain answers given, and the truth would be open to the people.

He asked the Premier whether he had consulted the two judges named when he asked them to act on the commission. Mr. Ross-They were out of town and were telegraphed to. Dr. Nesbitt-Did they consent? Mr. Ross-They did. Dr. Nesbitt-And no others were asked? Mr Ross-No others were asked, Dr. Nesbitt-How unfortunate for the others. Dr. Nesbitt repeated some of the arguments that his friends had offered before him, and said that the whole matter should not be placed upon the Provincial Secretary. He was but the rim of the funnel o which the Premier was the spout. In connection with a reference to Cap. Sullivan, Dr. Nesbitt spoke of Duncan Bole as an agent of an insurance company of which Mr. Ross was the President.

Mr. Ross replied that Mr. Bole had been appointed when Sir John Macdonald was President of the com-

The name of the company, Dr. Nesbitt continued, was the Temperance & General

Mr. Ross-Mr. Bole was never employed in the Temperance & General. Dr. Nesbitt was at a loss to follow up the point, but concluded with a general campaign indictment of the Government and a prophecy of the indignant wrath of the public which was hanging even now like a threatening cloud over the heads of the Ministers. Mr. Graham moved the adjournment of the debate. The House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

Packing Companies Heavily Fined. Jefferson City, Mo., March 21 .-The Armour, Cudahy, Swift, Hammond and Schwartzschild & Sulzberger Packing Companies, the five defendants in the ouster proceedings brought by the Attorney-General of Missouri against the alleged beef combine last summer, were fined $5,-000 each in the Missouri Supreme Court yesterday, and ordered to pay the cost of the case, which amount to $5,000. Unless the fines and costs are paid within 30 days, the defendants will be ordered ousted from the State.

Death of Well-Known Engineer. Montreal, March 21 .- One of Canada's best known and most capable engineers died yesterday morning at Coteau Landing in the person of Mr. Thomas Monro. Deceased, who was chief engineer of the Soulanges Canal, had also charge of that important waterway during its construction, which cost $10,000,000. about 3,500 words.

London, March 21 .- Colonial Secretary Chamberlain yesterday received the City of London's congratulations on his mission to South Africa, in the Guild Hall, where Lord Mayor Samuel and the corporation presented him with an address of welcome in the presence of a large gathering of distinguished persons. Among those present were Premier Balfour, most of the Cabinet Ministers, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Lord Roberts, the Duke of Fife, the Duke of Argyle, Lord Strathcona, Lord Lister, Vice-Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, Signor Marconi Sir Thomas Lipton, and Sir Henry Irving. Many ladies were also present, to extend greetings to Mrs. Chamberlain. The greetings of the populace were also remarkably enthusiastic. Mr. Chamberlain's speech was largely a reiteration of his recent speech at Southampton, and was summed up as follows by the Colonial Secretary:

"In the words of my friend, General Delarey, the Boer leaders will be as loyal to their new Government as they were to the old." Later at the Lord Mayor's banquet Mr. Chamberlain made a speech of the same tenor. The Premier, in toasting the Lord Mayor, paid a few words of tribute to Mr. Chamberlain, saying that, never in the history of mankind, had so great a result been achieved in so brief a period of time. Mr. Chamberlain has deserved the blessing he
