A BOER "WATCHMAN."

The Watchman-Warder finds fault with The Post for publishing the comments of various tory newspapers on the Hutton-Hughes correspondence and on the Hughes letters from South Africa. That is, perhaps, only natural, though we did not expect to see the editor of the Watchman playtacking and ridiculing the tory M.P. for North Victoria the Watchman-Warder ought to explain. But when it comes to defending the tory M.P. from the wicked and cruel attacks of such papers as the tory Toronto World, the tory Toronto News, the tory Kincardine Review, the tory Hamilton Spectator, and a dozen others, our hyphenated contemporary up street is silent. In the words of the poet: The "Watchman's" clarion voice is

The "Warder" silent on the hill. These tory papers are denouncing Col. Hughes as an "ags" and a "fool;" they tell him to put a "double sentry on his mouth;" they sneer at his military capacity, and question his bravery and his party fidelity, and the poor Watchman-Warder does not take even a snipe shot at them from its kopje. The Globe, on the other hand, is working its long range guns in defence of the tory M.P., and is giving and in 1883 was elected deputy-reeve him a good deal of prominence that of the township of Eldon, which posiexcites much curiosity.

Perhaps the Orillia Packet furnishes an explanation of "the strange that municipality, which position he silence" of our town contemporary, held until the year '89, when he re-The Packet, by the way, is a good tory paper, and it intimates that the Watchman-Warder is a pro-Boer or- ed Commissioner for the Sixth Divigan. It says:

not think the Watchman-Warder is entered upon every political contest in a straight-forward and manly minblood in its veins; and if it has it ought to be proud of it. We go so faithfully, he was most unselfish, and far as to express our belief that if the when it was for the best interests of Boers were to invade Canada the edi- his party and country he was ready to tor of the Watchman-Warder would step aside and give preference to be one of the first to take up arms in the defence of our country, and we Woodville Presbyterian church, for are satisfied he would handle a pick many years he was an active Sabbath and shovel in lively style trenchdigging. We are even confident that schoolhouse, and many young men and the Rev. "Knoxonian" Grant, whom women, who are now in middle-life, the Watchman-Warder attacked for will remember with pleasure the deep his anti-Boer address, would "confirm" th's opinion.

P. for North Victoria, it should train ance and profit to those under his its pom-pom or quick-firing gun on teaching, and for several years he was George Eulas Foster, who has, in the an honored and respected elder in the commons, moved to have the Hughes-Hutton correspondence printed; and strong man. His calm, sound judgthe government reluctantly consent- ment and common sense in critical ed. That was the act of no political friend on the part of George Eulas. Then the tory World declares that other letters of Mr. Hughes to Mr. N. Clarke Wallace and other tory leaders, at the time of the political crisis in the history of the Bowell ministry, should and would be printed. They would make strong reading. They would be spicier than the Hutton letters. So the World intimates. And Judge Dean, of Lindsay; Judge Baryet the Watchman's voice is still; and the Warder is silent on the hill. No wonder the ordinary conservative R. McNeillie, members of the county and does not know what to make out

The Annual Meeting Last Saturday

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Victoria, Creamery Co., was held at the Creamery, Lindsay, last Saturday afternoon, with the president, Mr. R.
