OMEEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The services Easter Sunday at the churches were largely attended, and quite in keeping with the occasions.
Mr. Wm. Walters was in the village to-day.
Farmers are busy ploughing. Large numbers attended Lindsay markets and stores on Easter Saturday.
Visitors from Toronto and other places visited over Sunday and many remained for the grand entertainment, "The Apple Frame," on Monday.
The "Apple Frame" is the most educating and profitable entertainment ever put before an Omeeme audience, in aid of the public library and much credit rests on the ladies who got it up. Dr. Cameron, Mrs. Cochrane, Mrs. J. Stephenson, McCrea and Garrie, were responsible for the selections, characters, rehearsing, costumes etc. and made no mistake, it being faultless throughout.
Mrs. Dr. Cochrane, as mother of the crown desiring, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. R. J. Mulligan, and Miss Laidlaw were the queens, their costumes being elegant and jewels and pearls were elaborate. The prim a donna was Mrs. J. C. Eaton, Mrs. Bryson, Misses Weidon and Ivory, who sustained their reputation and looked charming. The comic and other attractive characters were admirably acted and never was there better selection. The children were well trained in chorus and their parts were very attractive. The costumes and tableaux being complete with every character Miss McPherson fully sustained her reputation as accompanist. There was so much enthusiasm and appreciation as to cause a general request for a repetition of the door receipts was about $125. It was estimated that about $6,000 jewels were shown. The two pages, Master Dick and Bert could not be excelled on the continent.

The Delineator for May.

The May Delineator, with a complete display, pictorial and descriptive of the latest spring fashions, contains a wealth of suggestion for those who wish to be smartly gowned, and many many other features of interest to women. Hester D. Richardson vividly pictures the romantic interest attached to the spot where the body of John Paul Jones is to rest. Florence Rockwell writes her experiences in playing Shakespearean roles and speaks of the need of a national theatre. Avery Abbott and Juliette B. G. Towne contribute short stories for the little ones. There are other features of delight young folks including a chapter in the serial, "Sunlight and Shadow" and pastimes by Lina Beard. In the "Campaign for White Foods" Mary Himmus Abal writes of coloring matters and domestic cheats, and the pages devoted to the household are full of suggestions for the kitchen with many other helpful hints to the housewife.

COMMUNICATIONS.

HOW THEY HELP TEMPERANCE IN MARIPOSA.
(To the Editor of The Post.)
Sir,—In your issue of April 5th, '06, appears a letter signed by a minister directing all the faithful to write their members in the Local Legislature re the new License Bill. The signature is followed by the ecclesiastical titles of the writer, to add strength, we presume, to the letter, thus making it a bull, not a request. This, we are sorry to say, is the usual position taken by our temperance leaders—to command, to force, legislation. As a temperance man, looking at the question impartially, we feel this is a deplorable mistake. In fact so little real, practical and educative temperance work is being done that at the present time temperance reform means merely a theory, not an effort. A good example to prove this was furnished in Manilla recently. A minister engaged in a mercantile pursuit, arrived at our temperance hotel and asked for rates, saying he wished to stay a couple of days. He was told the modest sum of $1.50 per day he exclaimed it was exorbitant. The proprietor replied, "You must remember that this is a temperance house and all cost of accommodation must be paid by the boarder." but he went away and stayed with other local optimists, who also have lately been very active with regard to this new License Bill, and who do not keep lodging houses.

Here we have a man trying to run a good temperance hotel, and travellers tell us it is equal to the best country hotel, but no one, licensed or unlicensed, and an advocate of local option and temperance hotels refusing to pay a fair living price for his lodgings, and aided by other strong local optimists, assisting in a business from its proper character. Upon whom, do we ask, should the blame fall if, thus cut off from his legitimate business, this man, being compelled to augment his income in order to live, should sell his toxicants? We know this will not take place, but why should temperance people place stumbling blocks and temptation in the way of legitimate enterprise?

What we want is not legislation but practical temperance. Let us pay full value for our accommodation and see that others do the same, thus encouraging and helping temperance hotel men to give good accommodation.—Yours, etc.,
Manilla, April 9th, 1906.

Take Pattern from This.
Chatham Planet: A few days ago a man from the little city of Berlin was asked why that town had such a good reputation, and why it is so well known. "Well," said he, "there is a man who goes out of Berlin who does not say something good about his town to everyone, he meets in every place he visits."

Elected a Vice-President.
Some 35 of the ex-House surgeons of Toronto General Hospital were present at a dinner at the King Edward hotel, Toronto, last week when they organized themselves into an association which will meet yearly. Dr. McAlpine, of this town, was elected one of the out-of-town Vice-Presidents.

Calls Halt for Lack of Funds.
Commissioner Combs, of the S. A., says that for lack of funds the Salvation Army has called a halt in its immigration work. He has a large batch of applications of good citizens in the Old Country who desire to come out, but the Army has not the money to help them. He has also called they can handle only 25 families for Forresters' land in the Northwest.

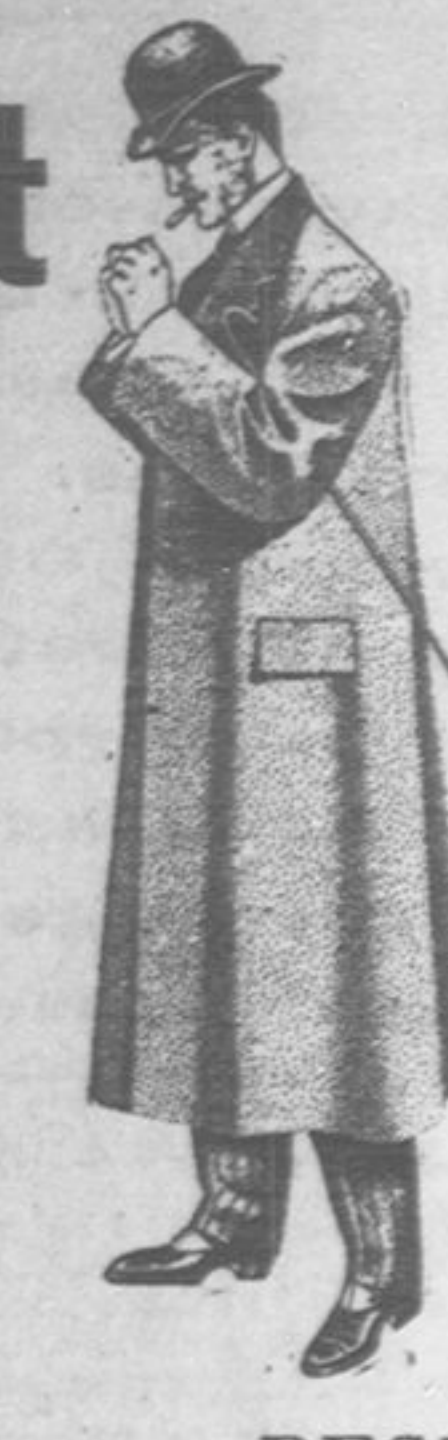

Need for a Hall.
(Toronto Star.)
"Some people say there is no hall, if there isn't there should be one. If I had it in my power I'd make one for such men as this," declared Rev. J. A. Rankin, preaching in Central Methodist church, Bloo-st., Sunday morning. The preacher was referring to a Toronto man whom he did not name, and whose dissent and left sent him to the hospital. Rankin was almost penniless with several children to support.
