St. Petersburg, April 25.—After much hesitation, Emperor Nicholas has finally decided to come to St. Petersburg and personally open the first Russian Parliament, May 16. His Majesty's decision comes as a surprise, as it was supposed that after his long absence from the capital, he would not dare to leave the shelter of the Palace of Tsarsko-Selo. ### ELECTRIC POWER IN EAST ONTARIO

Plenty of It to Supply Needs of That Part of Province.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC REPORT

Deals With Possibilities on the Trent and Moira Rivers—Kingston and Oshawa Selected as Typical Points—Sewing to Towns in the East—Probable Power Market—Cost of Development—Made Public.

Toronto, April 25.—The second report of the hydro-electric power commission of Ontario covering the Trent district has been made public. It shows that there are five water powers on the Lower Trent River that are worth developing for transmitting power to the towns along Lake Ontario, but on the Upper Trent and on the Moira River and its tributaries, there are numerous water-powers which are now developed and which are capable of supplying the immediate local demand.

To develop the five large water powers on the Lower Trent would cost an expenditure, according to the estimate of Chief Engineer Cecil B. Smith, of $2,250,000, and the amount of power available to these five points would be 15,000 horse-power, which would be the market for this power, the engineer says 10,000 horse-power could be disposed of at once, with an increase to 15,000 horse-power in five years.

Typical Points Illustration.
Two typical points, Kingston and Oshawa, are given to show the cost of municipal transformer stations and the cost of power to the customer. The cost of a plant at Oshawa is put down at $48,900, and the total savings, not counting cheap power for street lighting and pumping, would be $11,519 a year. The Kingston plant would cost $49,150, and the savings would amount to $23,108. The cost of power at the generating plant at, say, Healey's Falls, would be $12 a horse-power, and adding transmission the cost at the municipal transformer station would be, at Kingston $21.43, and at Oshawa, $23.52.

The report deals with the Trent district, including that portion of Ontario lying north of Lake Ontario, but not including Toronto. The district is divided into three divisions.

The Upper Trent Valley affords opportunities for local development and these have been taken advantage of so that Peterborough, Lakeside, Lindsay and Fenelon Falls are well supplied with hydraulic and electric power. The total amount of power is not very large and in the near future will all be utilized for local consumption, at which time a combination of private interests would tend to raise the rate.

Three Divisions.
In the Lower Trent Valley far more valuable water powers exist, which have only been developed to a very slight extent.

In the Moira River Valley a large number of comparatively small water powers exist and few are developed. The commissioners believe that an immediate market for 10,000 horse-power can be obtained within a reasonable distance of Healey's, Middle or Ranney's Falls of the Trent River, which would be increased to 15,000 horse-power in five years.

The total power in sight is estimated at 65,675 horse-power of which 17,000 horse-power is now under development. The various water powers named and the totals for the various divisions are as follows:

Water Power	Horse-power
Moira River and tributaries	4,900
Upper Trent River	17,285
Lower Trent River	42,610
Five For Long Distance

Of the various water powers investigated the chief engineer shows that only five are worthy of being fully developed for long distance transmission, viz., Healey's Falls, Middle Falls, Ranney's Falls, rapids one and a half miles above Glen Miller, and rapids three-quarters of a mile above Trenton. The dry weather capacity of these developments would be 25,000 horse-power, more than sufficient to supply, for the present at least, all industrial demands of the Lake Ontario towns. At present it would not be necessary to develop all these water powers, but as the demand increases they could be developed one by one, all being worked in unison and under one management; which would be far more economical than if several companies were to take them up and transmit independently.

Insurance Inquiry at Toronto.

Romance of a Sweet Pea.

The parent of nearly all the most beautiful varieties of the American sweet pea is the Blanche Ferry, that has a pretty romance connected with its discovery. Some fifty years ago the comely daughter of a well-to-do farmer ran away from home to marry a young quarryman, and her home thereafter was always in a cottage, often but a mere hut on the very thin soil overlying the limestone ledges where her husband worked. When her baby died she went back to her father's farm to bury it, and took with her on returning to the cottage some seed of a white sweet pea and seed of the old Painted Lady Pink. Thereafter, however great her poverty, she never failed to grow near her cottage home some of these sweet peas, as a reminder of the happy girl who was their dear baby. They were always grown on thin, poor soil, often so thin that they could only be kept alive by constant attention and watering. As a result of such environment for many plant generations the flowers acquired a dwarf growth and a great abundance of bright colors. Some twenty-five years after the baby died a seedling, passing the little home of the mother, noticed the beauty of the sweet peas and obtained a teaspoonful of the seed. This he multiplied into thousands of pounds, and sold as seed of the Blanche Ferry variety, which is now famous throughout the world.

Productivity of Flies.

If all of the larvae of the common fly came to maturity and nothing happened to cut down the maximum natural rate of increase, one pair of the insects might multiply to 100,000,000, according to eminent scientific authorities, in a single half year of warm weather.

She Had Outside Duties.

The public-spirited lady meets the little boy on the street. Something about his appearance halts her. She stares at him in a near-sighted way. The Lady—Little boy, haven't you any home? The Little Boy—Oh, yes'm I've got a home. The Lady—And loving parents. The Little Boy—Yes'm. The Lady—In afraid you do not know what love really is. Do your parents look after your moral welfare? The Little Boy—Yes'm. The Lady—Are they bringing you up to be a good and helpful citizen? The Little Boy—Yes'm. The Lady—Will you ask your mother to come and hear me talk on "What does a mother's duty to her child begin?" next Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at Lyceum Hall. The Little Boy (excitedly)—Why don't you know me? I'm your little boy!

If the Poacher Doesn't Poach.

Twenty-four maskalongs, ranging in weight from 5 to 18 pounds, were transferred from the lower to the upper waters at the dam near Flavie's mills during the past two days by Inspector Bradshaw and his assistant. The inspector estimates that these fish will produce not less than a million and a half of fry, and should a quarter of a million of the fry mature there will be sufficient fish in a few years to feed the whole County.

"Sleeping-porches" Becomes Popular.

Physical culturists in the United States are ensuring an abundant supply of fresh air at night by the adoption of so-called "sleeping-porches." In the case of houses already provided with an upstairs porch, the adaptation of the same for sleeping purposes is comparatively easy. The porch is provided with a small bed or cot, and with screens which can be arranged so as to allow the freest circulation of air, and at the same time ensure the necessary privacy. There is usually a canvas roof which can be drawn close to the side of the house or a near night, or pulled down overhead when it rains. The idea is not a bad one by any means, but for most people opening the windows of the bed room as wide as possible would probably serve the purpose as well.
