

That... Tired Feeling

is often joked about, but the condition itself is no joke. People can't help feeling lazy and worn out if impure blood flowing through all the organs is poisoning them and paralyzing their activity. Nine people out of ten would feel better through use of Dandelion Blood Bitters. This is a blood purifier that really purifies. Be your best this year by giving nature a little help.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, MAY 18, 1906.

ADVERTISING LINDSAY.

We beg to call the attention of everybody to the little brown circular issued by our Board of Trade, and descriptive of Lindsay's advantages as a manufacturing and residential centre. We understand that the Secretary is placing some with every business man and manufacturing concern in town. The idea is to slip one of these in your envelope when you are writing away from home, especially to the United States and Great Britain. If any of your correspondents ask for information about Lindsay, drop them one of these. Please note that these will do no good in a pigeon hole or on your counter—if you mail them away they will do the only good they possibly can. If any one should be overlooked in the distribution, please us or Mr. Donald, the Secretary, and a supply will be sent as soon as possible. If any individual wants to send any way, he will be gladly accommodated. If he can't get the number he wants where he works he can get same at this office or from the Secretary. This is a way in which every citizen may help on this town at small expense in both time and labor to himself, and we hope all will do what they can.

THE NEW INDUSTRY SECURED.

It affords us great pleasure to report that while the whole of the $30,000 stock required to secure the Madison Williams iron foundry has not been subscribed, that sufficient has been taken to warrant those in charge of the scheme to guarantee the completion of the amount, and the Dovey property has been purchased and incorporation papers for the new company applied for.

We doubt if there ever was an enterprise launched in our town that has met with such universal acceptance from all classes of the community, many of the subscribers being amongst our working men. This is especially gratifying and encouraging to the gentlemen who have given their time to the accomplishment of the object; though they feel that some of our merchants have not responded in a degree equivalent to the prosperity which they have attained in our town. It shows, however, that Lindsay is not so dead as some people would like to make out, and we feel assured that the committee will be able to complete the amount guaranteed, even if they have to call on some of our citizens to increase their subscriptions, and that those who have not been called on, will be as liberal as possible. It has been equally pleasing to find quite a few citizens, whose interest in the town is limited to their residing here, taking a few shares with the sole object of helping the town. This is the spirit we admire and want to encourage. (If the spirit of loyalty to Lindsay were truly aroused we could accomplish a great deal, and we feel sure that when our citizens see the result of their enterprise in this industry in a fine large factory, with its fifty to a hundred employees spending from $500 to $1,000 a week in our midst, that any well recommended scheme will meet with a still happier response.

One thing is sure, and that is that our Board of Trade has nobly justified its existence and proved itself to be an invaluable helper and assistant to our town, and we hope to add to its laurels at an early day by the pleasing news of Lindsay being selected for one of the sites of the new Normal schools to be established this year.

TRENT CANAL LIFT LOCKS

SAM HUGHES ASKS QUESTIONS AND MAKES INSINUATIONS.

Hon. Mr. Emerson Sat on the Col. Hard—Costly Blunder of His Friend Ex-Supt. Rogers—Altered Lift Locks.

In the Ottawa house the other day Colonel Sam Hughes, in moving for copies of all correspondence, inquiries, reports or other data bearing upon the Trent Canal in connection with the lift lock at Peterboro' and the works at Kirkfield, asserted that the report of the inquiry into the lift lock did an injustice to Messrs. Rogers and Spence of the engineering staff. He added that by adopting the plan of parallel dams in construction works at Kirkfield some $85,000 was added to the burden of the taxpayers. There had been a persistent effort on the part of certain local politicians at various points along the Trent Canal since the Liberal Government came into power to have Mr. Rogers' service dispensed with. Mr. Rogers was not required to be at this particular part of the work all the time. He had to cover the whole canal, but Mr. Bethune, who was inspector, and was supposed to be on the ground all the time, was intoxicated from day to day and negligent.

Col. Hughes also asserted that work by Mr. Holgate, one of the experts who was called in to report upon the lift lock, had also given weight when water was let in. The Government had paid several thousand dollars for an enquiry which disclosed that the break in the lock at Peterboro' could have been repaired for $300, and at Kirkfield for $100. This, he asserted, showed that there was some party behind the scenes, and he also complained that the first intimation the engineers interested had of the nature of the report was obtained from a summary published in The Globe. Ministers should have been aware that the engineers had a better chance to defend themselves.

MR. EMERSON'S REPLY.

Mr. Emerson thought when the papers were brought down a very different story would be told from that of Colonel Hughes'. Investigation had been made at the direct request of Mr. Rogers. He had never heard that Mr. Holgate had any political bias. Mr. Rogers had been charged with superintending the construction of the lock, but the location had been made 174 feet farther south, which Mr. Rogers could not explain, and that involved an additional cost to the country of tens of thousands of dollars. The investigation had been fair and Mr. Rogers had the right to name any witnesses he wanted called. Nowhere could it be said there was any malice in connection with the matter. If the report bore harshly upon those gentlemen they had no one to blame but themselves.

Mr. R. E. Hall gave most emphatic denial to the statement that politics had actuated the proceedings against Mr. Rogers. As a matter of fact Mr. Rogers' salary had been raised within the last year. On account of the defective work there had been $5,000 or $6,000 expended every year for leaks.

While away he met two or three old Orangeville schoolmates.

—Mr. T. Preston, of Bobcaygeon, paid our town a visit Wednesday.

They were banqueted Monday night, Lord Avebury (formerly Sir John Lubbock) presiding, Richard Burdon Haldane, Secretary of War, speaking in German, toasted Emperor William and the Empress of Germany.

He said the outlook commercially between Great Britain and Germany was better than ever before. Germany was fortunate in having an emperor who is possessed of the real spirit of modern times, he behoved Englishmen, Mr. Haldane said, to do the Emperor full justice. He was a great man and had done much for commerce. Mr. Haldane hoped the friendship between England and Germany would be lasting.

One of the visitors from Berlin, responding, said Mr. Haldane's remarks would be greatly appreciated in Germany.

Ottawa, May 15.—Mrs. O'Leary, aged about 50, a widow, from Toronto, had been fined $20 and costs yesterday for entering the room of James Grant, boarding on Slater street, and mutilating his clothing.

The allegation is that Grant was an amorous boarder with Mrs. O'Leary in Toronto, but that he promised to take her to San Francisco to start a restaurant together, and that on the strength of this she sold her furniture and gave up her Toronto home.

Letters from Grant, delaying matters, brought her to Ottawa. She paid the fine, but in view of the treatment accorded her the magistrate did not assess her for damages to the clothes, saying Grant could collect in some other court if he wanted to.
