LOCAL NEWS-LETTERS.

VICTORIA ROAD.

(Special to The Post.) The yearly June meeting of the Victoria Agricultural Society was held at Kirkfield on the 6th of June. From the volume of business transacted by the well attended board of directors, the cheerful way they did it, their buoyant discussions, a prosperous fair in the outlook for 1902. The prize list was to the fair to meet as citizens, competing as Britons always did, with a smile and a shake.

MILLERSMITH-EMILY

(From Our Own Correspondent.) The annual pienic of S.S. No. 3, Emily, was held on Saturday, June 14th, and proved to be the most sucessful ever held in this vicinity. The arrangements were complete, no disappointments, and the day was the finest of the season. There were at least five hundred present, many having come as far as thirty miles, and in the assembly were some of the most prominent men in the County-Senator McHugh, J. H. Carnegie, M. P.P., County Commissioner Adams, Rev. M. Leigh, and many of the best teachers within a large radius. Shortly after 2-p.m. the program commenced by the pupils marching on to the grounds and to the platform The teacher spoke to the audience for a few moments, expressing his sincere gratitude to all for the duly revised, and many other im- liberal aid given to make the picnic provements calculated to boom the successful, and then called for a society for next fair day were pleas- chairman to be appointed. Beatic again visited our little hamlet and claimed for its victim one of our oldest and most respected citizens in the person of Mrs. James Mc-Kenzie. Deceased had been a very patient sufferer for a long time, and although she knew well enough that she could never again hope to be anything but an invalid she always had a pleasant word and a cheering smile for her many friends. She rested in the faith that her troubles would soon be ended and that sne would soon be enjoying that happy existence where there is neither pain nor sorrow. The end came on Sunlav evening, when surrounded by her mary literals she passed peacefully away. The funeral took place on the ioliowing Wednesday, when the remains were laid at rest in the Norland Pine Grove cemetery. The casket was strewn with beautiful white roses, a tiffing emblem of the pure and noble life of a sincere devoted christian woman. The funeral service was conducted by Mr. McKay, Presbyterian student at Coboconk, whose words, though brief, were full of meaning and very properly suited paign a manifest injustice was done this set ou of the riding. This w.ong is committed by comparing the last vote with the vote of 1868. They say in Lindsay that Mr. Fox's majorits of 288 was reduced to 118. In One it was out down from 130 to to but unlooked for losses in the terthern part of the riding robbed Mr. Smale and his friends of their expected reward. The village of Wood. ville in 1808 gave Dr. McKay 73 majointy and only gave 0 majority for Mr. Smale this time, Eldon, which gave Dr. McKay 118 of a majority, gave Mr. Fox 103 majority this time, No doubt they did well in Lindsay, comparing results with 1898, when the Liberals of the south allowed the election to go by default. Objection is made to the expression, "unlooked for leases in the north," insinuating that Mr. Smale lost his election here. Mr. Smale turned out to be a strong candidate here, and polled every Liberal vote, besides a number of indeville and Eldon. It is quite true his vote was short of Dr. Mckay's but every person knows the doctor afways secured a large Conservative vote in this section, and consequently his majorities both in Eldon and Woodville were large There were no unlooked for losses here, nor was the election lost here.
