Tokio, Aug. 3.-It is reported here that after three days of desperate fighting the Japanese have captured Shantaikow, one of the important defences of Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.-General Kuropatkin reports that the Japanese have occupied Ikhavuen (east of Liaoyang) and the Yangse Pass (30 miles cast of Liaoyang).

Liaoyang, Aug. 3.-After a fierce battle the eastern Russian force has evacuated Ygantseuling (six miles west of Motien Pass).

OUTFLANKED BY NODZU.

Newchwang, Aug. 2.-Gen. Fukushima arrived here this morning, having marched up from Port Dalny. The Japanese here are confident that the reported capture of Haicheng by their troops is true. They say the Russians there probably were outflanked by Gen.

OKU CAPTURES HAICHENG.

Newchwang, Aug. 2.-Rumors are current in Chinese quarters that General Oku captured Haicheng yesterday afternoon. They cannot, however, be verified.

NEARING HAICHENG.

Haicheng, Aug. 2.-The battle raged the whole day July 31 along the southern and eastern fronts. The Japanese advanced with overwhelming forces. flanking the Russians on their right. The losses of the Russians, however, were slight. The Seventeenth Siberian Regiment drove the Japanese out of

RURORI HAMMERS THE ENEMY.

Tokio, Aug. 2.-Gen. Kuroki has administered a severe defeat to the Russian forces which defended the Russian east flank at Liaoyang, winning separate actions at Yuskulikzu and Yangse Pass. These two places are 26 miles apart, but the two actions were fought at the same time. The Russians held strong positions. The thermometer registered over 110 degrees Fahrenheit and the soldiers suffered cruelly from heat exhaustion. At Yuskulikzu the Russians had two divisions of infantry and some artillery, and they resisted the Japanese assaults vigorously. Both attacks were about four miles from Lindsay. Plough Yuskulikzu the Japanese carried the Russian right and left wings, but on account of the strength of the main Russian position they were unable to press the attack. The two armies rested Sunday night, facing each other. At dawn on Monday the Japanese resumed the attack, and by noon they had dislodged the enemy and had driven him four miles to Lao-holing. At Yangse Pass also the Japanese were successful. The artillery opened on the enemy and the infantry moved forward from Makumez. The attack on this place was made at 1 o'clock on Sunday, and by nightfall the Japanese were in possession of a majority of the Russian positions, altho the enemy had resisted with determination. The Japanese force passed the night in battle formation and another assault was made on Monday at dawn. By 8 o'clock Monday morning Yangse Pass and the surrounding heights had been captured.

Gen. Kuroki explains the slowness of these actions by saying that the difficult topography of the battlefield made it impossible to secure good artillery positions, and the great heat fatigued

The Russian force at Yangse Pass was estimated at two and one-half divisions and four batteries of artillery. The enemy retreated toward Tanghoyen. Gen. Kuroki reports the capture of some field guns, but the number is not given. The Japanese casualties are being investigated.

SAKHAROFF'S REPORT.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 2.-Gen. Sakharoff, under date of Aug. 1, reports obstinate fighting in the direction of the Saimatsza-Liaoyang road, July 30 and July 31, the Russian vanguard retaining its position until Aug. 1, when it retired to Yangse Pass.

During a reconnaissance in the direction of Fengwangcheng, July 30, cers and 34 men were wounded, and on July 31, during a reconnaissance in the direction of Laokhautsia, two officers were killed and one officer and twenty men were wounded. The same day, when the Japanese occupied the pass between Yanshukan and Houtsiatsee (25 miles from Liaoyang), five officers and 40 men were wounded. Gen. Sakharoff also says: "The enemy is acting undecidedly on our south

St. Petersburg, Aug. 2.-The feeling at the war office here was distinctly gloomy this morning. No official telethe front it already was apparent that Simoucheng (fifteen miles south south-east of Haichens, at the junction of the Fengwangcheng Siuyan roads), had been lost, Gen. Stakelberg's out-posts having fallen back to Haigheng.

WHAT HAPPENED AUGUST 2.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.-The Japanese and Russian reports seem to agree on the main points of the military developments up to Aug. 1, but both stop short at the interesting point, namely, regarding what happened on Aug. 2, when it is possible that a decisive struggle was going on east and south of Liaoyang. It is evident that the rtussians abandened Yangse Pass, falling back on Liandiansian, a strong defensive position in the hills 24 miles southeast of Liaoyang. Gen. Kuropatkin admits that there were heavy losses along the Saimatsza-Liaoyang road, July 31. The official account indicates that altho the Russians withdrew their advanced posts, Kuropatkin hoped to be able to hold his main positions even in the face of the superior Japanese force, and that he evidently expected heavy fighting along this line, probably about Anping. This battle possibly was proceeding Aug. 2. Meanwhile a serious enveloping movement of three Japanese divisions

WHY THEY WERE SUNK. St. Petersburg, Aug. 2.-In a lengthy telegram to the emperor Vice-Admiral Skrydloff relates the doings of the Vladivostock squadron under Rear-Admiral Jessen. With the cruisers Rossia, Grombof and Rurik, Admiral Jessen left Vladivostock July 20. After sinking a small Japanese vessel the cruisers held up the British steamer Camara, but let her go.

A Japanase coasting steamer was next met, but "as most of her 50 passengers, were women, we determined to release her."

Two Japanese schooners were sunk. Then Admiral Jessen fell in in quick succession with the British steamers Arabia and Knight Commander. "The Knight Commander only stopped after the fourth shot,' the admiral reports. Her cargo being railroad material, "undoubtedly contraband for the belligerent party, and not being able to bring her to the nearest Russian port, owing to her not having enough coal, without manifest danger to the squadron, we sank the Knight Commander, after taking off all her crew and removing her papers." Two more Japanese schooners laden with salt were then sunk.

Interview With the Chief Justice, Who Returned on the Ionian-At First Sentiment Was Against Canada, But Changed on Hearing the Facts-Appreciates Couriesy of Law

Lords.

Quebec, Aug. 3 .- Aboard the steamer Ionian, which arrived here yesterday morning at 11.45, almost four days overdue, was Sir Henri Taschereau, Chief Justice. When interviewed, Sir Henri said he was delighted with his trip to England, for he had been cordially received everywhere. The people were much interested in Canada and the progress of the Canadian people. The Lords of the Judical Committee had been most obliging and cordial in their treatment of the members of the Canadian Bar, and had extended to them every possible courtesy.

Never Talked Publicly.

Sir Henri was asked what effect the Dundonald episode had in England, and if it was true that he had expressed himself publicly on the matter. He said that he had never attended any public or political dinners or given expression to any public utterances whatsoever respecting the Dundonald mafter, "The first intimation," said Sir Henri, "I had that I was accused of expressing myself in public in regard to Lord Dundonald was when the newspapers reached the ship at Rimouski, and I read them on board this morning. When the Dundonald matter first became public in England the public were not given the details, and it caused a feeling against Canada, and led them to believe that our people were disloyal, but as scon as the particulars respecting the affair were made public, the people of England turned right around and blamed Lord Dundonald, and later, when he he made his speech in Toronto, the feeling was altogether against him, and even his own friends called him a fool, and blamed him for acting Deplores Dundonald's Break. "In every direction I turned heard the same comments. No one more deeply deplores his break with the Dominion Government than I do. The authorities in England are very much put out over the affair, and it will be difficult for Lord Dundonald to get back on full pay when he reaches England. His place has been filled by others, who are not likely to relinquish their advantage, and no doubt he will have to remain on half pay, unless England becomes involved in war and requires his service. One General, who distinguished himself in South Africa, jocularly remarked in company where I was: 'Well, our next war, I suppose, will be with Canada!' This was only the expression of the thought of a great many others, who were not at the time in possession of the facts, but when all the circumstances in case were made known in England the sentiment of the public under-## their Parliamentary duties.

Election Act Passed. Yesterday Government business was materially advanced. The clection act was passed, and Algoma was eliminated from the list of constituencies in which the date of election is fixed by the returning officer. The discussion of militia matters again occupied the greater part of the day. Lieut.-Col. Tisdale moved an amendment to the bill which had for its object the continuation #### of the present system. Sir Frederick's Reply.

Sir Frederick Borden opposed the amendment in an effective speech, showing that it was distinctly to the advantage of the Canadian militia to adopt the system which had been adopted after much inquiry and careful consideration in the Mother Country, and that the adoption of the Government measure was a compliment to the Imperial authorities, and would tend to bring the Canadian militla into closer touch with, rather than having a tendency to separate it from, the Imperial forces.

To Stand For Opinion. An amendment offered by Mr. Logan, requiring the consent of the head of a municipality to the requisition for troops in case of riot or disturbance, and providing for an appeal to the judiciary in the event of refusal, was allowed to stand over for the consideration of the Minister | the belonging to her neighbors, Mrs.

A Shocking Accident at the Shakespeare Mine,

SIX MINERS GO DOWN TO DIE

After An Explosion, Before the Gas Mad Time to Disperse, They Descended the Ladder, and Dropped Successively to Their Death-Manager MacMillan and Engineer Reid Were

Victimes. Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 3 .- So far as loss of life is concerned the most disastrous mine accident New Ontario has ever had occurred yesterday forenoon at the Shakespears Mine, near Webbwood, east of here. Six men are dead as a result of it, including the manager and chief mine engineer. Their names are: N. MacMillan, Soo, mine manager; Peter Reid, Little Current, mine engineer; John Walters, John Disby, Webbwood, miners; Peter Grant, Marstay, miner; Edward Latour,

Death in the Gas Fumes. The heavy casualty list was caused by fumes gathering at the bottom of the mine shaft, following upon a blast. The shaft is 10 feet deep and perpendicular. Ladders are used for ascending and descending. The men who went down to their death in the morning either did not know of the condition of the shaft or thought there had been sufficient time following the explosion for the fumes to pass out. Evidently these were so heavy that they would not mingle with the air. and the moment the men descending the ladders entered the portion occupied by the fumes they were overcome without even an opportunity to give a word of warning to their fellow workmen following. It was fust a succession of men dropping dead of the ladders to the bottom of the shaft all unknown to those on the surface. When the fate of the miners was learned shortly after there was the greatest consternation among those about the mouth of the shaft, the terribleness of the situation being intensified by their inability to attempt a rescue. No Chance of Rescue. If there had been any opportunity whatever of getting the unfortunate men out it would have been grasped eagerly, but there was none, and the only thing to do was to wait until the gases in the bottom of the shaft had dispersed. The bodies were taken out yesterday. Coroner Dr. Flaherty will hold an inquest into the cause of death. He inquired yesterday of the advisability of that course and was instructed to proceed. The inquest will likely be held to-day, and

Mr. Kehoe will go down to represent Crown Attorney J. J. Kehoe for the Crown. Immediately after the receipt of word of the accident, J. B. Miller, a. prominent member of the company owning the property, former Manage er Captain McKenzie and Joseph Webb went from here to Webbwood. The people of the Soo are taking a deep interest in the particulars, as Mine Manager MacMillan was up to a few days ago a resident of the town. It was only a week ago that he was appointed to the position. He formerly managed the Mikado mine in the Lake of the Woods district, and had previous experience in South Africa. He leaves a wife and two children, who went from here to Webbwood last Wednesday to make
