Wilson, of The Port Hope Guide, returned on Tuesday morning line launch "Roy" through the beautiful waters along the course of the Trent Valley Canal. The "Roy" enjoys the distinction of being the first "right" for someone to power boat that has traversed the Canal through its numerous locks to its extreme eastern end - Healey's Fails-some thirty miles east of Rice Lake, on the Trent river. The party cunce and a complete camping outover night overtook them.

which are carefully looked after by one of the busiest on the Canal. The cuit to hardle of the fourteen we rassed through. The trip down Pigeer. Lake was sufficient to sharpen our eppetites for more adventure. Passing through Gannon's Narrows the scenery was such as to almost invite us to make camp and enjoy a day's fishing. Here the floating bridge had to be opened to allow us to pass into Buckhorn Lake, east of Ook Orchard, through a passage in the weeds and stumps that would puzzle a New York pilot.

At Buckhorn, after passing through the locks, we met the Str. Ogema, in charge of Capt. Maurice Lane, who enjoys the popularity that unfailing care and attention exercised for years ery patron of the boat. This route Americans and Torontonians spend their holidays in this locality. The trip through Deer Bay, Lovesick and the connecting waters, was very much enjoyed. After passing the lock at Lovesick several picturesque cottages may be seen nestling among the double lock at Burleigh Falls where a good hour's work resulted in Port Hope secured their first win of day. The cutting through the rocks at Lakefield is very deep, but the result has been one of the most substantial portions of the Canal. The lock chambers and approaches are all made up of cement, which ans, wers the purpose better then either stone or wood, and presents a better appearance; in fact it is more satisfactory in every respect.

To reach Peterboro we had to pass as we must have more floor space to through nine lock gates all within a reach of nine miles, and as the locks had been very little used they were consequently rather stiff. The lockmasters are green hands at their jobs, so the labor was rather heavy on the working members of our party, and the long reach leading to the lift lock gave a welcome cessar tion of labor. As we neared the lift lock, crowds of sightseers lined its approaches, to whom the advent of the three launches was a welsome

> The men in charge of the lock gave the party the same attention as would be given to the largest boat on the inland waters, and the Roy and its escorts sailed into the big steel box with as much dignity and fuse as would any of its larger sisters. As a full description of this - the largest lift-lock in the world-was published in The Post in a previous issue, wa will not repeat it. The sensation of being in the large tank, with many thousands of gallons of water, and of being lowered 65 feet in about a minute ws unique. After the end has been dropped down like the tail-board of a waggon, we were ter a run of a few hundred feet we encountered another gate lock, which was speedily put behind us, We then entered Little Lake, and were soon sailely mixored at Peterboro's town whart.

CASE OF KNIGHT COMMANDER

Will Support Neutral Rights.

British Government Will Insist on Reparation-Position Regarding Neutrality of China Arising Out of Ryeshitelni Insident-Macedonia and the Transvani-Hope Centering Around Lhassa Conference,

London, Aug. 16 .- After an admittedly barren session, marked by no less than seven fruitless attempts on the part of the Opposition to turn out the Government on votes of censure, Parliament was prorogued yesterday afternoon, no more than twenty-five members being present, including one member of the Capinet. The King's speech, proroguing Parl'ament, was brief. After mentioning his visits to the King of Denmark and the German Emperor, at which, His Majesty said, his reception in each case was most cordial, and the agreement b tween France and Great Britain, which, he pointed out, will be advantageous to all concerned and materially strengthen the friendship uniting Great Britain and France, His Majesty said:

"Hostilities, I regret to say, are still in progress between Russia and Japan. Upon the outbreak of the war, I issued a proclamation declaring my neutrality and enjoining all my people to a strict observance thereof. Important questions involving the treatment of neutral commerce in the hands of belligerents have arisen in connection with these operations. The issues involved, which are of the gravest moment to the trade of the Empire, will, I trust, be amicably settled without prejudice to the vast commercial interests of this country. My Government will energetically support my subjects in the exercise of rights recognized by international law as belonging to neutrals." Foreign Affairs.

The King said the scheme for the re-organization of the Macedonian gendarmerie under foreign officers promised satisfactory results, and expressed the hope that the introduction of the elective element into the Legislative Council of the Transvaal. which was a "step in the direction of ultimate self-government," would meet the united support of all his subjects in that colony.

In regard to Thibet, the King said that the arrival of the "political mission" at Lhassa afforded him the greatest satisfaction, and reflected credit on the officers and men of the small force. He hoped the conference at Lhassa would result in an arrangement of terms which would end the difficulties and friction on the northern frontier of the Indian Em-

Parliament was formally prorogued KNIGHT COMMANDER CASE

British Government Considering Effect of Neutrality of China.

London, Aug. 16 .- The final Cabinet Council of the Parliamentary session was held yesterday. After the Council closed the emphatic statement was made that Great Britain feels it absolutely essential to her own interests and those of the entire world that the neutrality of China shall be observed by the two belligerents. Great Britain will make earnest efforts to secure this result. In the Knight Commander case the British Government will instruct Ambassador Hardine that it will insist that there was no justification in international law for sinking the couched in the mest conciliatory tone, and it is fully expected in Cabinet circles that the question will be adjusted by Russia paying an adequate indemnity. The neutrality of China presents a more knotty problem to the London authorities, for the reason that they have to consider the effect upon their ally. The disposition of the Government is to go slow. In other words, while insisting that China shall continue neutral, the Government will give Japan every opportunity to show, if possible, a justification for the action of the torpede boat destroyer in capturing the Ryeshitelni.
