BEERS' MEMORIAL

Monument to be Brected to the Father of Lacrosse.

The lacrosse clubs of the Dominion are invited to help this fund, and it has been suggested that all clubs throughout the country arrange to play a match for the benefit of the fund either on Wednesday, the 25th September, or Wednesday, the 2nd October, or between these dates if possible. If the clubs of Canada will take this matter up the committee in charge of the fund feel positive that their hopes will be realized, and an amount raised sufficient to meet alt requirements.

It is a well-known fact to lovers of the game of lacrosse, that Dr. Ecers was the father of the game. His active mind saw the glorious possibilities which the game possessed-in observing the crude efforts of the Red Man-to shape its destiny, to mould and fit it for the White Man's pastime. His master judgment was set to work to evolve from its chaotic state, our modern game of lacrosse, and in course of time, through dint of hard work and unwavering faith in final success, he was enabled to produce the first laws governing the game. He created an interest in lacrosse all over Canada by his personal influence, on various travels to different parts of the country, and the committee appointed to look after this fund, feel that the attention of the clubs only have to be brought clubs everywhere will accept this notice and immediately make arrangements with each other to play matches as suggested above.

President McKinley's Condition There is now good cause to hope that President McKinley will recover. The only danger to be feared is that arising from risk of peritomitis or blood poisoning, and this risk is I seened by the improvement brought by every hour. Dr. McBurney, a physician of grent eminence, assures the world, however, that the President cannot be pronounced out of danger and convalescent until another week has passed, and this week will be one of anxiety to many millions. Because of his conduct at the time of the attempted assassination and afterwards, William McKinley's figure has assumed heroic proportions in the eyes of the world, and all his good qualities are now seen been focussed upon them but for the tragic happenings of the past few days. In the words of Nicholas of Russia, the universal world joins in to the matter when a general response will follow. THE PEOPLE HONOR REV. FATHER PHELAN. LINDSAY'S TRIBUTE OF LOVE

Addresses and Presents from the People of St. Mary's-Rev. Father Phelan's Feeling Reply - Sentimental and Substantial Evidences of Esteem

AND RESPECT.

Rev. Father Phelan has reason feel proud of the honors he has received since his elevation to the priesthood about six years ago. These honors do not consist in preferment in office, but in the love and esteem which his faithful and carnest discharge of his priestly duties have engendered, both in his brethren of the clergy, in the hearts of the people among whom he has labored as a pastor, and in the estimation of our citizens as a body.

For the past three years and seven months he has been assistant to Rt. Rev. Mgr. Laurent. A practical evidence was last week afforded of how Rev. Father Phelan has endeared himself to the people of Lindsay during his brief stay amongst them. His Lordship the Bishop having transferred Rev. Fr. Phelan to Peterboro, he promptly responded to the call of duty. The position of a often be directed towards St. Mary's Altar Priest resembles closely that of the soldier mentioned in the gospel: "Go and he goeth, come and he cometh do this and he doeth it."

The people could not permit Fr. Fhelau to leave without expressing their affection for him as a priest, and their appreciation of his services Friday night over 100 members of the congregation, including a number of ladies, assembled in the spacious C.M.B.A. parlor in the Parish Hall to bid him an fectionate farewell on the eve of his departure for Peterboro, and to give expression to the feelings aroused by a sense of the loss which parish was about to sustain. Mgr. Laurent was present, also Rev. Fr. Sullivan of Peterboro, who succeeds Fr. Phelan as curate of St. Mary's.

ADDRESSES AND GIFTS.

Mr. A. P. Devlin, chairman, opened the proceedings with a few appropriate remarks relative to the object of the gathering and then called upon Mr. W. F. O'Boyle, who stepped forward and read the following address on behalf of the congregation of St. Mary's. The address was a work of art, being engrossed in old scriptural text, with illuminated hand-painted capitals and ornaments, and had been executed by Mrs. A. O'Loughlin. The address read as follows:

Rev. C. J. Phelan . Bev, and dear Father,-The first intimation of your intended departure from our midst came to us when our beloved Monsignor announced tast Sunday that, like the soldier in battle, the priest must ever stand ready to march. for nearly four years you have zealously labored amongst us, unceasingly caring for our spiritual and temporal welfare. You have tenderly watched over us in our trials and diffi ulties upon the Altar steps, and all your instructions, imprinting upon the soul God-like characteristics, have been marked by the finest, the worthicst, and the rarest part of the holy gift of fortitude

Your unostentatious efforts and endless months of teil for God and Church have endeared you to us all. Some of us, who first knelt by your side at the Altar of God on your advent to the parish, have grown into manhood and entered the body of the church, carrying with us cherished recollec-tions of the pleasing smile and fatherly affection of our curate.

Your kind words, your sympathetic looks, your consoling monner and cheering ways, are now, to us, golden memories of the "irrevocable post," but they speak more eloquently to the hearts of the Altar Boys, than can any written record of your noble life.

We congratulate you on your most deserved promotion, and trust that it is but a forecast of further ecclesiastical honors. We are loath to say "Farewell," but we do so, resting in the awest and consoling assurance that your thoughts will Boys, and your prayers will rise for us as the incense upon the Altar of God.

We ask you to accept this slight token, and hope that to look upon it will be to remind you of the Lindsay Altar Beys, and their admiration of your zeal for them. -Signed in behalf of St. Mary's Altar Boys, J. D. O'CONNELL,

FATHER PHELAN'S REPLY fr. Phelan was visibly affected when he rose to reply, and some moments passed before he regained his self-command. Nor was he alone in his manifestation of deep feeling many of his hearers were likewise stirred. The incident afforded a powerful and affecting proof of the nature of the bond which has existed between the congregation of St. Mary's and their beloved curate.

The following is a synopsis of Fr.

Fhelan's reply;

My Dear Friends,-I hardly know how to begin to answer your very beautiful and very flattering address. Your own goodness depicted me what I ought to be, rather than what I am. Almost four years ago I came amongst you a stranger, but before long I recognized that I was amongst friends. I needed not this testimony of your appreciation of my services, small though they were, for on more than one occasion you had given expression to that kindly feeling and high regard which should always exist between the Priest and his people. For when the people work with the Priests and the Priests with the Bishop, then a chain is formed sufficiently strong to remove all obstacles. I have endeavored as far as lay in my power, through the exercise of my sacerdotal functions, to administer to your spiritual wants, and no greater consolation could come to a Priest than to know that, while laboring for the glory of God and the salvation of souls, he still retained the warm affection and co-operation of his people. In the words of the address you were pleased to ascribe to me many telents and virtues which I feel 1 do not possess, but whatever may have been my defects or shortcomings, my heart was always in my source of strength and comfort to me in my future labors in the vineyard of the Lord. The longer I lived among you, the better I knew,

> In conclusion, I thank you again hard to say good-bye, yet it should not be a sad word, for it is only an other way of saying in English, "God be with you." I now bid you an affectionate farewell. May God bless you all and may His choicest blessings and gifts be yours.

SHORT ADDRESSES

Mgr. Laurent paid an earnest and feeling tribute to Fr. Phelan's worth, saying he had been a true helper and a manly man. The four years of his stay had not been devoid of fruits, and for what had been accomplished he was ready to give Fr. Phelan full credit. Lindsay would always be a home for him, and he should visit the town whenever he
