are anxiously on the lookout for the

prospects that there is to be a new skating rink erected in town ere the puck-chasing season opens. The events of last winter, if productive of nothing else, furnished convincing proof that if the game was to thrive here, and if Peterboro was to hold her own as one of the leading hockey towns of Ontario, a larger rink, one the dimensions of which would be consistent with the repuirements laid down by the O.H.A. must needs be provided. In fact, at the end of last season, it was the understanding that this desirability would be brought about. Now a new season is rapidly advancing, and if anything is to be done it will have to be hustied. The hockey team would, in having a rink of sufficient size be placed at no disadvantage when pitted against opponents apon rinks probably twice the size of that which they have been wont to play upon, while from teams which visit here there would be no kick coming in regard to its size, no undestrable Sampiller, brandished his cane when coithets thrown at it such as "henhe was asked if he were drunk at | coop," "sweat-box," "not room the time he lost the money. > It has been repeatedly said that when the ladies of Queen-st. Methodist church are called upon to provide a harvest home supper our citizens can rely on an elaborate spread, and the very best that the culinary art is capable of. This was verified Monday evening by hundreds who availed themselves of the privilege of enjoying a social time together in the basement of the church. Five tables were heavily laden with meats, salads and all the delicacies of the season, while merryhearted matrons and maidens flitted around, anxious to make all feel at home and at the same time supply their every need. From six to 3.30 c'clock busy hands tolled on unceas-

At the latter hour the entertainment was commenced in the body of the church. The meeting was due in a very large me opened by singing and prayer. S. J. "Nearer my God to Thee."

Rev. Gco. Brown, of Omemee, was the first speaker of the evening, and gave a helpful address on "Home." Home, he said, is not four square walls only; home is where affection calls; where love and affection are not, there is not the true home. Make home beautiful by flowers and pictures, cheer it with music, enrich it with books. Don't have your home too good to use, however, the parlor only being opened for special company. Don't be slaves to housekeeping. He reviewed woman's place in the home, her advantages and disadvantages, what man should be to her. She should be the life of a home, its sunshine, ever cheerful and natural. Man should be appreciative, king in his home, and ever keep love alive. In conclusion he said, if you would have a happy home, let religion be enthroned therein. Rev. D. O. Crossley, of Peterboro, gave a pleasing and appropriate solo, "The Dear Old Home," and followed with an inspiring address. In opening he said great men were made by obedience to their best thoughts their highest impulses. Men were low down because they had obeyed their lowest thoughts. Obedience to that which is highest and noblest will enable you to reach up to everything possible in human life. Hang on the walls of your memory those pictures which will be an inspiration to you when you gaze upon them in future years.

Mr. J. W. Grey, bandmaster, proved himself a master of the violing and his classical violin obligato was well worth hearing. Rev. D. O. Crossley sang a beautiful solo, "The Heavenly Pilot," after which the meeting came to a close by singing the national anthem and the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. Mr. Brown. Rev. A. J. H. Strike and congregat on are to be congratulated on the success which crowned their effort.
