marked, too, apart from the decorations of public bodies, the private citizens of Montreal have most elaborately and lavishly decorated their residences to show their appreciation of the honor paid the City of Montreal by the visit of the future King and Queen of Great Britain. That the civic reception, which was to have been held last night, was cancelled was no doubt a disappointment to a great many people, but the citizens of Montreal are in accord with the feeling which prompted the cancellation out of respect to the memory of the late President

The Duke there spoke as follows "My Lord Bishop and the members of the Provincial Synod of Canada, the Duchess and I greatly appreciate the kind words of your address, and we heartily thank you for the loyal welcome to which they give expression. It will, I know, be gratifying to the King to receive from you, as representing in this part of the Dominion the national Church of England, a renewal of your assurance of devotion to the Throne, and to know that by your zealous, patient, self-sacrificing labors is maintained in Canada that great tradition which is the noble tradition of the Anglican Church." In the afternoon they visited Ville Marie Convent, at the historic Monklands, where the ladies of the congregation and 200 pupils welcomed royalty to those halls which had already been visited by the Princess Louise and Prince Arthur years ago. The royal party will leave for Ottawa this morning.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.-When the Duke of Cornwall and York was consulted as to what entertainment Le would prefer during his Canadian tour, he replied: "I want a day's duck shooting, and I want also to see lacrosse match." For the rest i was understood His Royal Highness would conform to the conventional program provided by the officials in charge.

The lacrosse match His Royal Highness saw yesterday afternoon guest of Senator Kirckhoffer he visits Brandon, Manitoba. It was a clean, fast game, the Duke and his royal consort witnessed between the Capitals of Ottawa and the Cornwalls, and there was no attended two matches in Montreal some years ago, and apparently he has not forgotten the fine points of the game.

When the match was over he was presented, formally, with a lacrosse stick and ball.

An amusing incident marked the Broderick of the Cornwalls handed His Royal Highness the stick, J. P. Dunne of the Capitals, executive, presented a nice new lacrosse ball. "Is this the ball that was used during the match?" asked the Duke, examining the brand new sphere critically.

"Well, no, Your Royal Highness," Dunne was obliged to reply, "but we will get it." With that there was a skirmish, and a shame-faced player in garnet and grey, Ralph by name, stepped forward and handed the Duke the real ball.

The incident showed how closely His Royal Highness had watched the game, for just as the whistle blew and the teams were leaving the field. a tustle between a Capital and a Cornwall man took place at centre. It was Ralph scrapping with his opponent for the possession of the ball as a souvenir. Ralph secured it. and the Duke saw the whole per-

The match, which was for the Minto cup, resulted in a victory for the Capitals by 3 goals to 2.

The formal reception of the royal pair in the capital of the Dominion differed little from the functions in Montreal and Quebec, except, perhaps, in the precision with which the arrangements were carried out and the entire absence of confusion or crushing on Parliament Hill. Indeed, so ample was the space for sightseers on the grounds about the royal pavilion that those who had expected to reap a harvest by erecting stands on Wellington street facing the Parliament Hill and along the route of the procession were sadly disappointed.

There was no demand for the seats at all. Even at the reduced prices of 10 to 25 cents the $2 reserve benches and the best points of view were conspicuously ignored. Montreal and the clergy of all de-life of the people concerned. As in ancient times by the union of Norman and Saxon the English nation was produced, so by eration of Canada the two great nations which form its populations have been welded into a harmonious people and afforded free play and opportunity to contribute each its best service to the public well-being. Creditable as this achievement is to the practical wisdom and patriotism of the statesmen who foundthe union and who have since guided its destinies, it is no less honorable to the people upon whose support they had to rely, and who have in a spirit of mutual toleration and sympathy maintained them in the great work of union.

"This spirit is no less necessary than it was in the past, and I am confident that the two races will continue, each according to its special genius and opportunity, to aid and co-operate in building up the great edifice, of which the foundations have been so well and truly laid. at Christ Church Cathedral.

Ottawa, Sept. 23.-Yesterday was a day of welcome rest for the royal visitors. Their Royal Highnesses attended divine service in the morning at Christ Church Cathedral. They were escorted to and from the sacred edifice by a detachment of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, and were chcerplainly attired. There were no special decorations in the church, Their Royal Highnesses having expressed a desire that everything should be stances of the University, and will of the plainest character, as they be all the more appreciated by and Princess, but as members of the of the distinguished course from Church of England.

As the royal pair, accompanied by Lord and Lady Minto and Prince Alexander of Teck, and attended by their entourage, entered the church they were met by Church Wardens Orr and Moore and escorted to a front pew, the congregation standing till Their Royal Highnesses were seated. Both entered most heartily into the service, their voices being heard throughout the singing. Prince Alexander of Teck also possesses a good voice and sang in all the musical parts of the service.

The surpliced choir led in the procession from the vestry, the Bishop of Ottawa, resplendent in gorgeous vestments, followed, wearing the mitre and carrying the crozier in his hand. The sermon was preached by the cathedral rector, Rev. H. Kittson, from the first verse af St. Paul's. Epistle to the Galatians,

Christian Science So Characterized by Torouto's Police Magistrate. Toronto, Sept. 21.-Magistrate

Denison and Crown Attorney Curry used strong language yesterday and attacked Christian Science during the progress of the preliminary investigation into the charge against James H. Lewis, a Christian Science street railway conductor, that he had contributed to the death of his 6-yearold son by omitting to send for a regularly qualified medical practitioner when the child was suffering from diphtheria. It was the liveliest case that police court habitues have heard in years, and Richard Perry, the demonstrator, who has already figured so conspicuously at the inquest, spent an uncomfortable hour in the witness box.

W. W. Vickers, who defended the accused, made a strong effort to limit the scope of the inquiry, but Col Denison would not have it so. "I think fakes of this sort ought to be exposed," said His Worship. "I have no objection to any grown
