About twenty cars of ment, stock and general freight work consumed an agather with Bastwood Sta which was wracked by the coldision and afterwards destroyed by the burning of the wreckage. One new locomotive of the "900" class is a complete loss. Three hundred yards of track were torn up and rendered useless. Auxiliaries with a force of 200 men labored since early morning until late last night, and the track Was not clear till 10 o'clock.

Inquest Opens and Adjourns. Dr. McLay, coroner, opened the inquest at 5 o'clock last evening. He Sept. 28th, on the road about two miles empanelled a jury who viewed the wreck and discovered that the switch had been left open. As the conductor and brakeman of the freight on the siding, and as Engineer Heron of the second freight are dead and his fire-West, Toronto, came near losing his man is dying there is little hope of accurately determining who was responsible for the disaster. The inquest now stands adjourned until Monday.

One of the remarkable features of the disaster is the escape of Thomas | er "Three Rivers," a crowd of sevone-norse light delivery waggon Dunn, the station agent, and his family.
