

FEARFUL PAINS

SUGGESTIONS HOW WOMEN MAY FIND RELIEF.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. This is a severe strain on a woman's vitality. When pain exists something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to a serious derangement of the whole female organism.

Thousands of women have testified in grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes women's special pains and irregularities.

It provides a safe and sure way of escape from distressing and dangerous weaknesses and diseases.

The two following letters tell so convincingly what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for women, they cannot fail to bring hope to thousands of sufferers.

Miss Matilda Richardson of 177 Wellington Street, Kingston, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

Some four years ago my usually good health began to fail. I had severe pains in my back, my head ached, I would have dizzy spells, and during my monthly periods I would suffer intense pain. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad that I did, for it brought new life and health to me. My monthly periods were natural and painless, and my general health improved. I have not had an ache or a pain since, and I feel it a duty as well as a pleasure to tell you what your medicine has done for me.

Mrs. Louise McKenzie, of Mount Carmel, Montreal, Canada, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

I had heard so much good about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I asked Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands Woman's Ills.

RAIN OF HOT METAL

Men Meet Fearful Death at Standard Steel Works.

FOUR KILLED—TWENTY HURT

Metal Pot Full of Molten Iron upset—Burning Liquid Poured on Workmen—Explosion Followed Burying Many Under Wreckage—Injuries Were Fearful—Men Were Literally Cooked—Foreigners.

Butler, Pa., Oct. 7.—An explosion in No. 1 cupola of the Standard Steel Co. here late Saturday night caused the death of four men, fatally injured twenty and seriously injured ten others. Nearly all the men were foreigners. The large wheel plant, 150 by 100 feet, was demolished, causing a loss estimated at $100,000.

The condition of the thirty men injured is pitiable. The features of a majority are mutilated beyond recognition. The hot metal was showered over them, causing horrible injuries, and at midnight the physicians attending them said that at least twenty would die.

The explosion was caused by the upsetting of a metal pot in the cupola, which contained 5,000 pounds of molten metal ready for casting.

The pot broke, allowing the liquid iron to spill over the side. An explosion followed so quickly that none of the workmen in the building had a chance to escape. Streams of the burning metal poured out on the workmen, some of whom were engulfed and literally cooked. Twenty men were literally cooked. A well-known man was blown off by the force of the explosion. Many were buried under the wreckage, and were not rescued for an hour after the catastrophe.

150 FALL WITH FLOOR.

Tragic Ending to Republican Rally—Landing to Republican Rally—Fires Debris.

Waterbury, Conn., Oct. 7.—During a Republican rally in the North End Athletic Club rooms Saturday night the floor collapsed, precipitating 150 men into the cellar of the building. By the explosion of a lamp the building was set on fire and the crowd of men struggled in the flames and debris almost helplessly.

The fire was extinguished in about an hour, and when the men were all taken out of the cellar it was found that one, Harry Dean, a well-known Republican worker, was perhaps fatally injured. He was hurried to the hospital.

Among those injured were John O'well, Republican candidate for mayor, who had just spoken at the building, collapsed, and Senator Irving H. Chase, one of the most prominent men in the city.

Responsibility For His Wealth Weighs Heavily—Holds Property For Orphans and Poor—Dare Not Let Go His Interests Because Their Welfare Would Be Imperilled—For Their Sakes He Stays.

New York, Oct. 8.—John D. Rockefeller's private conception of himself, that he is only the steward of the Standard Oil wealth, responsible to God alone for his stewardship, was quoted Sunday by the Rev. Dr. Robert MacArthur, the pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, before his young people's class.

"I am the trustee of the property of others," he said, "through the Providence of God, committed to my care. I am the steward of vast interests belonging in great part to widows and orphans, and other who are actually or relatively poor.

"For this holding I am responsible to God. Were I to give up my interest in the Standard Oil Co., I would imperil the interests of these people, and the interests of the poor, and that I would withdraw would hurt the company's business. Therefore, I feel my duty to God and to the people whose money is invested in my company to continue active in its welfare."

JUMPED FROM WINDOWS.

Dramatic Scenes in Jewish Quarter—Woman and Child Are Victims—Girls Fall Through Roof of Building—Firemen Carry Out Four From Staircase—Origin of Fire is a Mystery.

Toronto, Oct. 7.—One woman and one child are dead, and two men may die owing to burns, suffocation and shock sustained at a fire which broke out in Aaron Ormstein's tailor shop at 156 York street, shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The dead are his wife and 5-year-old girl, the latter dying soon after being removed to the hospital, and the woman about 1 o'clock this morning.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but it originated in the rear of the store, above where the victims were sleeping. The building is a three-story brick in the heart of the Jewish business quarter.

Ormstein, who had been at work cleaning up his shop for the week-end, was awakened by fumes from the first floor of the building. He endeavored to arouse the remaining 11 inmates.

Just what did happen during the next few minutes it is hard to say. One story is that he, with his 3-year-old boy, climbed to the roof, and that he rescued two young women in the third floor back room, and asked them to save the child. They tried to get the mattress and pillows from the bed through the window, but could not, and then, frightened, he leaped 30 feet or more to the metal roof of the child to the girls below to catch them, and then jumped, or whether he got down again to his own room and then out of the window, is not certain, but the four were found in the yard in the rear by firemen, the girls in scant attire, while Ormstein was partly dressed. He was frantic and screamed with terror. The girls had also fallen from the window to the ground, some ten feet.

Work of Rescue.

Fireman Alf. Everest of hose 16 rushed to the second floor and entered the room. He located Ormstein, who had evidently got out from above in an effort to descend. Davidson of Bay street took Mrs. Ormstein, carrying her downstairs and to a neighboring house.

George Henderson of hose 1 distinguished himself. Crawling 30 feet up the second floor, he got into the second floor and over the bed, and then, with the glare of the flames to help, he found the baby. He hurried into the street with the child and an official respirator, where he used the official respirator until his life was assured.

Meanwhile the deputy, with Firemen Gales, Williams, McGregor, Best, Harris, Smith, Oliver, McGregor, Cassin and others struggled up through the suffocating fumes to the third floor. There they found apparently lifeless Ormstein being in his room with his feet through the doorway. They were promptly and tenderly carried down into the open air.

It is remarkable that the occupants of the building did not fare even worse than they did. The whole lay-out seemed favorable to disaster. The store and workshop occupied the ground floor, from which a dark, narrow stairway went up to the second floor. The hall on the second floor was narrow and dark. Even yesterday afternoon the corridor was as black as night, and so was the one above.

Damage to building is estimated at $500, and no insurance is carried.

MANOEUVRES OVER LONDON

Circles Around the Metropolis at Twenty Miles an Hour—Answered Readily to the Helm—Control Was Perfect—Was Built in Secret—Can Deliver Considerable Gun Fire—One Fault.

London, Oct. 7.—That the British army has solved the problem of aerial navigation was proved to the satisfaction of Londoners on Saturday when the dirigible balloon which has been given several trials at Aldershot came southwest of here, to London, and after manoeuvring over the city started back to its headquarters.

The balloon crossed the Thames at Blackfriars Bridge, and making a Blackfriars turn, proceeded over Fleet street and the Strand, making a complete circle over the latter thoroughfare to the great satisfaction of many thousands of watchers.

The balloon then went around Trafalgar square, over the new War Office and past the Westminster Abbey, and the Houses of Parliament, traveling at the rate of about fifteen miles an hour and being under complete control.

After the visit to London the balloon was manoeuvred over the House of Commons to the south, and then proceeded to the Crystal Palace. After circling the towers of that building apparatus was brought to earth on the airship was brought to earth on the bicycle track, the landing being the bicycle track, the landing being the bicycle track, the landing being the bicycle track.

The balloon is named Nulli Secundus, and when she makes her notable trial trip Sept. 10, will be under the command of Col. Capper, Capt. King, and F. S. Cody, an American.

The balloon is sausage-shaped, about 100 feet long by 30 feet in diameter and has a lifting capacity of about one ton, which after deducting the weight of the car, engines and other apparatus, permits carrying a crew of three men of average weight.

The car, which is shaped like a boat, is constructed of aluminum and canvas. The engines are so built that the exhaust vapor is turned into gas and carried up into the balloon and above, by means of a tube. The cubic capacity of the balloon is 75,000 cubic feet. The patrolmen for the motors are carried in two torpedo-like cylinders above the car.

During the recent trials Cody stood at the engine in the forepart of the car and controlled the steering plane. Col. Capper steered.

The Nulli Secundus was built in secret, and is understood to contain developments in aerial navigation which will put Great Britain well ahead of all the other powers in the matter of dirigible balloons. A British invention being able to deliver a considerable gunfire.
